

ONE of the difficulties with legislation by initiative is that its proposals always represent the most extreme views of its most convinced proponents. In a legislative assembly, where debate and amendment are possible, it is rarely introduced and never passed in this extreme form.

The German referendum on the confiscation of royal properties is an example of this weakness. It was proposed by the communists, and requires the literal reduction to pennilessness of all members of former reigning families. Not only property might have been sold off at a profit, but also their unquestionably private property, including, it literally interpreted, the very clothes on their backs, is required to be "confiscated without compensation." Popular indignation against the extreme measure received a huge number of signatures. A milder measure would probably have been justified. But this proposal, by virtue of its extremity, is practically certain of defeat. Then the extremists on the other side will have the advantage and the Kaiser and the rest will get more than they should have. Overreaching underreaches.

THE details of the German referendum, however, are a reminder that other methods of dealing with the constitutionality of laws are possible than the American one of submitting them to the decision of the courts. This German law is plainly unconstitutional. It has been so declared, not by the courts, but by the ministry. But this does not mean that it can not be passed. It merely means that it would have to receive a two-thirds majority of the Reichstag, or an absolute majority, on referendum of all the registered citizens, whether they vote or not.

Our principle is that an unconstitutional law shall not be passed at all, and its unconstitutionality is a legal fact, to be ascertained by the courts. The German principle is that it may be passed, and when passed operates as an amendment of the constitution, but that it requires more than a mere majority to pass it. The determination of its unconstitutionality rests with the political and not with the judicial branch. And this political branch is both executive and legislative combined.

It might be good mental exercise to try to realize a system which thus reverses every American preconception.

CHINESE scholars are struggling with a linguistic handicap. Most scientific instruction has to be carried on in English, because there are no Chinese words for scientific ideas. English words can not be written in Chinese, and if Chinese written characters are invented, there is no way to say them in spoken Chinese. And the written characters only further complicate a written language already so elaborate that it takes practically a lifetime for a native to learn it. The Japanese are more fortunate. Their language lends itself better than any other except Greek to the coinage of scientific terms, and their syllabary makes them easy to write. But even they are deprived of the international vocabulary of science, since European words can not be written in Japanese script.

We shall probably never realize the dream we owe to the phonetic alphabet, under which the same language can be spoken and written, and there is no limit to new words, invented or borrowed. The whole Orient is under a permanent burden of language, which is one of the chief obstacles to the assimilation of Western institutions and learning.

IF the artists who are going to the Arctic to paint the aurora borealis are real modernists—why go north? They would not need actually to see the aurora in order to paint their own boreal emotions, and if they did see it, none of us could learn anything about the auroral colors from the tints of their paintings. For it is of the essence of modernism to paint, not what is there, but what the artist feels, inside his own precious soul. He is the most important person in the universe, and his fleeting flashes of feeling are the most important thing about himself. So he paints what is ostensibly a man, but it really means "I feel blue," or a mountain, but it means "I have a purple indigestion." An auroral painting would represent the aurora, but Mr. honoring Nature with the effluence of my soul as it happens to feel this morning. The real subject would be "The silent music of the Pole, as it sounds to my listening eyes." "Can't you actually hear it?" "You can't!" "What color is the aurora?" "How should I know? I was not looking at it, but musing within myself."

SENATE DEMANDS JARDINE EXPLAIN

WASHINGTON, June 25.—The senate today adopted a resolution of Senator Caraway, Democrat, Arkansas, calling upon Secretary of Agriculture Jardine to explain his reported connection with a school for "gambling on the grain exchanges" in Chicago.

The resolution cited an advertisement in the Chicago Tribune of May 23, stating that Secretary Jardine was a member of the faculty of the "Roundup College of Scientific Forecasting of Grain Prices."

"What I want to know," said Caraway, "is how much Jardine is being paid to teach how to gamble on the grain exchanges, the rules for which he, as a government official, prescribes and also whether his information is given in the public in-

Four Bound Over in Shame Suicide Case

MEXICANS TO FACE JURORS IN TIA JUANA

Quartet Will Go on Trial For Crimes Between July 5 and 10, Judge Orders HEARING TO BE OPEN

Jurist Will Permit Newspaper Men and Public to Hear Court Proceedings

(By United Press)
SAN DIEGO, June 25.—Bound over following a review of more than 100 pages of evidence, four Mexicans, held in connection with the "shame suicides" of Thomas M. Petest, his wife and two daughters, will face trial by jury in Tia Juana, Mex., between July 5 and 10, Judge S. Urias announced today.

Zenaido Llanos, former chief of police in the border resort, and Luis Amador, proprietor of the Oakland bar, where the two Petest girls were drugged and piled with drinks, have been charged jointly with rape and indecent assault. Francisco Gonzales, policeman, and Refugio Alvarez, barkeeper, have been indicted for helping to conceal a crime, it was officially announced today.

Just Preliminary Hearing
Through an interpreter's error, the trial yesterday was declared to be already under way at the border town. Judge Urias declared today, however, that his review of the evidence taken at the time of the arrest of the quartet, corresponded to a preliminary hearing and that the trial, which will determine the guilt or innocence of the men, will open early next month.

The offense of indecent assault, with which the former police chief and saloon proprietor are charged, carries with it a minimum penalty of six years in prison and from $500 to $5000 fine. The penalty for rape under Mexican law, is four years in prison and a maximum fine of $5000. Helping to conceal another's crime, the basis of the charges against Gonzales and Alvarez, is comparatively a light offense, the Mexican jurist explained.

Seven Can Reach Verdict
Conviction or dismissal can be returned by a majority of seven of the nine jurors who will be selected from a venire of 30 qualified voters to be named by Mayor Frederico Palacios.

Despite a provision which will permit the trial to be held behind closed doors, Judge Urias told the United Press today that the trial will be public and an invitation has been extended to American newspapermen to attend the proceedings.

"I shall set aside my privilege," Urias said, "because I want my American friends to see and understand that we mete out justice here in Mexico for the same crimes as you do across the line."

If convicted and sentenced to prison, the men will be confined at Tia Juana or Mexicali or sent to the penal colony maintained by the Mexican government off the Lower California coast. The matter of where a prisoner is confined rests with Gov. Abelardo Rodriguez, Judge Urias explained.

BUTLER DUE BACK AT MARINE BASE
SAN DIEGO, June 25.—Brig. Gen. Smedley D. Butler, commander of the local marine base, was scheduled to return today from San Francisco, where he has been acting commander of the Pacific department, relieving Maj. Gen. Wendell Neville. The latter has been in Washington, D. C., serving on the marine corps selection board.

Proprietor of Oakland bar, in Tia Juana, who, with three other Mexicans, has been held for trial in connection with the Petest shame suicides.

CUSTER'S LAST STAND ENACTED IN PAGEANTRY

(By United Press)
CROW AGENCY, Mont., June 25.—Custer, dead yet deathless, today returned at the head of a ghostly stream of troops to the spot at Little Big Horn, where, 50 years ago, he made his immortal "last stand."

They saw him in spirit, the thousands of men and women from the nearby counties, who came to watch the pageant-like scenes of a three-day "50 years later" commemoration.

Custer rode today; there were none who doubted that. They saw no mimicry in the figure who led the re-enactment of the scenes of Custer's final battle.

Custer Rides To Death
It was Brevet Maj. George A. Custer, "Yellow Hair," the "Wolf of the Washita," charging on his big bay mount with the seventh cavalry at his heels, roaring up the valley of the Little Rosebud and down the ridge to Little Big Horn to meet glorious death before the mad onslaught of 3000 screaming Indians.

Today there were some who saw more vividly than most. One was a white man, Gen. E. S. Godfrey, who saw the hordes of Cheyennes, Ogallalas, Sioux, Minneconjoux, Sans Arc, Brule and Hunkpapas close in to leave a spatter of blood where a moment before Custer and his men had stood and fought.

60 Indians in Battle
There were three score Indians who took part in the battle of 50 years ago, and of them five claimed added honor from having formed part of the advancing circle which choked out the lives of Custer's men.

They were Short Walking, Young Hawk, Little Moon, White Horse and Black Whetstone.

But there was no battle today. The actor-troops of the Old Seventh marched down to Little Big Horn abreast of the Indians, painted to wear colors, but assembled in peace.

White Man Runs Him, who was Custer's scout, shook hands with the chief of the Cheyennes and Sioux.

Deaf and Dumb Couple Wedded
LOS ANGELES, June 25.—One of the most unique marriages on local courthouse records was presided over by Judge Charles E. Haas. The bride and groom, Ruby Winifred Derr and Frederick Johnson, were both deaf and dumb and the courtroom blackboard was necessary to complete the nuptials.

MURDERER OF POLICEMAN DIES ON FOLSOM GALLOWS
(By United Press)
FOLSOM PRISON, June 25.—The gallows and the noose today snuffed out the life of Felix Sloper, murderer of George W. Campbell, San Francisco policeman.

The trap was sprung at 10:05 a. m. Physicians pronounced Sloper dead at 10:16 a. m.

The slayer went bravely to his doom. Before he started the procession of death, he said he was feeling fine. His last words, uttered on the scaffold, were "I don't care." He smoked a cigar a few minutes before he faced the noose and ate a hearty breakfast. Forty persons, including six policemen from San Francisco, saw the bandit die.

Sloper, a suspected member of a gang of bank robbers, fatally wounded Campbell during an attempted holdup of the Hyde Street branch of the Mercantile Trust company, in San Francisco, April 5, 1925.

Unaware that a robbery was in progress, Campbell wandered into the bank in uniform. The bandit shot him twice before he could return the fire. Campbell died two days later.

WILSON COST IN PRIMARY ONLY $88.81

Democratic Nominee for U. S. Senator in Pennsylvania Has Light Expense OFFERED FEDERAL JOB

(By United Press)
WASHINGTON, D. C., June 25.—William B. Wilson, secretary of labor in the Wilson cabinet, who won the Pennsylvania Democratic senatorial nomination, spent personally $88.81 in the $3,000,000 primary.

For all Democratic candidates, expenditures amounted to about $10,000, Wilson said. Of that amount, only $4000 has been paid and $6000 remains as a deficit.

Wilson's personal expenditures were largely for Pullman and railroad fares. He furnished an itemized list of them and Chairman Reed commented upon his economy at meals—his dinners costing him from 70 to 90 cents each.

Linked with Porter
Wilson said he was linked in the campaign with William E. Porter, who was running for the gubernatorial nomination, and that his expenses were to further Porter's nomination, he said.

Vance McCormick, Harrisburg publisher, has assumed obligations for four Democrats, he said.

"Did you have any watchers at polls at $10 a day?" asked Senator King, Democrat, Utah.

"Not that I know of," Wilson answered.

Senator La Follette, Republican, Wisconsin, asked if an effort had not been made since Wilson was nominated to have him withdraw.

Wilson replied in the negative, but said an appointment to the new railroad mediation board had been offered to him. It was not brought out who offered the appointment, but President Coolidge has made all other appointments to the board and has sole authority to make such an appointment.

Offer Made in Confidence
The offer was made privately and confidentially, Wilson said.

Reed asked him who had made the offer.

"I had thought that was confidential and I had hoped to keep it so," Wilson replied.

"Well, it's none of our business, so we won't ask you," Reed replied. "It's the most commendable offer I have heard of recently."

"Whoever made it performed a public service," said King.

Wilson said after he left the stand he did not believe the offer was made to influence him to retire from the senatorial race.

KERR READS BIBLE ON WAY TO PRISON

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 25.—Eleven federal prisoners from California, traveling in a private car and accompanied by guards, passed through Kansas City today, en route to the federal penitentiary in Leavenworth.

With the prison party, in the charge of U. S. Marshal William Lesmer of Los Angeles, was S. W. McNabb, U. S. district attorney in Los Angeles, who denied reports that he was going to Leavenworth in connection with a rumored prison investigation.

Among the prisoners was Dr. Franklin E. Kerr, sentenced to five years in the penitentiary for the alleged sending of poisoned candy through the mails to his wife. Kerr, still maintaining his innocence, was reading a Bible when the car arrived.

Mae Murray to Wed on Day Of Proposal

LOS ANGELES, June 25.—Mae Murray, photoplay star, and David Divani, 27, actor, were licensed to be married at the Los Angeles county courthouse today.

Divani, according to Miss Murray, proposed to her this morning after a whirlwind courtship. The couple met three weeks ago at a party at Pola Negri's home in Beverly Hills.

Miss Murray recently divorced Robert Z. Leonard, director, who was married to Gertrude Olmstead, film actress, two weeks ago.

MRS. COOKSON WARNED NOT TO 'SQUAWK' WORD

That the abductors of Aimee Semple McPherson and Mrs. Virginia Lee Cookson may be members of the same gang was the belief in some quarters today, following a mysterious visit, about 3 o'clock this morning, to Mrs. Cookson's ranch in the Forest of Arden, near Los Angeles.

Mrs. Cookson said that the mysterious visitor was one of the men who had kidnapped her from a Los Angeles street, following her first abduction from a spot near Orange County park, in July of last year.

Mrs. Cookson escaped from her captors the second time after she had been taken below the Mexican border and held in a house under somewhat similar circumstances to those related by Mrs. McPherson, she told officers.

Mrs. Cookson said she was aroused from her bed by the noise created by someone throwing stones against the grill at the side of the house. When the sound was repeated, she went to the window, she reported. A large man, weighing about 180 pounds, was standing in the yard and addressed her as "Virginia," according to her statement.

"If you squawk to the bulls anything that would connect us with the McPherson case we will slug you through the window," the mysterious visitor warned her, according to Mrs. Cookson. The Forest of Arden farmerette added that it was her impression that the visit was made for the purpose of "scaring her into silence about the McPherson case," on the theory that information she might divulge might lead to the arrest of the evangelist's abductors.

The visitor, who, she said, had been informed by the woman with her on the first abduction, was a former detective, disappeared in the midnight. Mrs. Cookson said that she could make out the form of a small coupe or roadster, in which she said another person was sitting. She did not know whether this person was a man or woman.

Mrs. Cookson said that her husband, Walter M. Cookson, of Los Angeles, would arrive at the ranch today. She reported the details of the nocturnal visit to the sheriff's office.

FACTORY PROMOTER FOUND GUILTY OF FRAUD COUNTS

According to testimony at the trial, approximately $500,000 was involved in the asserted fraudulent promotion scheme.

AIMEE FAILS TO POINT OUT DESERT HUT

Pastor Can't Identify Any Spot She Said She Passed In Escape from Captors

(By United Press)
DOUGLAS, Arizona, June 25.—Aimee Semple McPherson led a party of Los Angeles investigators 27 miles into the Mexican desert at 4 o'clock this morning to point out the shack in which she claims kidnappers held her.

During the trip, Mrs. McPherson was unable to point out a single spot which she recognized as having been passed in her escape from captivity. The United Press correspondent was a member of the party.

Though having failed in her purpose during the trip, the evangelist still insisted she had been kidnapped, as at first related.

Answers "Desert Rat"
To the statement of Charlie Cross, "desert rat," of more than 40 years' experience in the sage and mesquite brush, that he "knew this country for 40 miles around, and there is no such shack as you describe," Mrs. McPherson said in substance: "Well, that is my story, and I am going to stick to it."

The tour of investigation started as the sun was rising over the desert hills of Arizona. Evading the possibility of being recognized by slipping down the freight elevator at her hotel, the evangelist, accompanied by "Mother" Kennedy, Chief of Detectives Herman Cline, Deputy District Attorney Joe Ryan, and Cross, and the United Press representative, entered an automobile and sped over the Mexican border line.

"Oh, I'll take you to the shack," the evangelist assured the party as they entered the desert country.

Aimee Changes Mind
As the machine wound in and out the cactus and sage, Mrs. McPherson several times said, "It is over there," but each time changed her mind.

"No, I don't think I came over this road," she said at one point in the journey.

The party passed quickly through the Mexican town, Agua Prieta, and its brothels and saloons on the way to find the shack.

"I know I came over here," Mrs. McPherson told the party of investigators at one place, but a moment later added, "No, I don't think I remember it."

Pointing always to Niggerhead mountain, which the evangelist was sure she was near during her captivity, the party stopped several times and got out of the machine, and pictures were drawn in the desert sands to work out directions for her assistance.

The hasty sketches, however, were of no assistance to the confused religious leader.

Can't Remember Single Place
During the journey, not a human being nor a shack of any description was to be seen in any direction. Mrs. McPherson was unable to point out one place she remembered.

Mother Kennedy, tense and silent on the journey, said at its conclusion: "Aimee has told her story. You go ahead and try to disprove it. You have had a month to prove what has been intimated and we have found that sister was kidnapped."

"But you said she was drowned," interposed a newspaperman.

"I don't care what I said," retorted Mrs. Kennedy. "Aimee has told her story."

The morning trek of Los Angeles investigators followed an exhaustive and fruitless search of the Mexican and American border line.

Douglas Pays Tribute To Evangelist

DOUGLAS, Ariz., June 25.—A half-holiday was proclaimed here this afternoon to pay homage to Aimee Semple McPherson, Los Angeles evangelist.

Business was suspended, whistles were blown and the populace turned out en masse to the public square, where the picturesque revivalist late today is to make her first public address since she disappeared five weeks ago.

GALA WELCOME AWAITS PASTOR IN HOME CITY

(By United Press)
LOS ANGELES, June 25.—A gala homecoming has been arranged for Aimee Semple McPherson by her great flock of followers at Angelus Temple.

Since Wednesday morning, when it was first announced that the evangelist had "come to life" at the Mexican village of Agua Prieta, there has been unrestrained joy and enthusiasm among her thousands of worshippers.

Contrasted with the spirit of mourning which has permeated the congregation since Mrs. McPherson was reported drowned on May 13, there were endless scenes of rejoicing at the temple.

Crowd Expected at Station
When the evangelist arrives here tomorrow afternoon, there will be thousands of jubilant disciples at the station to greet her.

The Los Angeles police department made plans today to handle the crowd at the station and the subsequent congestion of traffic when Mrs. McPherson parades triumphantly to her temple with her worshippers trailing after.

The million-dollar tabernacle founded by the magnetic revivalist has been festooned with banners of welcome. Inside the magnificent auditorium is a riot of color, filled with the flowers of members and friends.

Great Banner of Gold
The big floral cross that had occupied the center of the balcony at the rear of the pulpit was removed. Instead appeared a blue-felt semicircular banner, on which was emblazoned in gold the words: "Welcome Home—Our Own Sister McPherson."

Underneath was a huge portrait of Mrs. McPherson.

Throughout the day, members of the temple throng the premises, murmuring and ejaculating words of prayer and praise.

"Oh brother, isn't it wonderful," and "praise the Lord" were among the expressions of the joyous disciples.

Mrs. McPherson is due to arrive at the Southern Pacific station here at 2:40 p. m., tomorrow.

SEARCH FOR KIDNAP GANG IS GIVEN UP

Arizona Officers Unable To Find Single Clue to Abductors in Old Mexico

STICKS TO HER STORY
Mrs. McPherson Declares Intention of Carrying Case 'Direct to People'

(By United Press)
DOUGLAS, Arizona, June 25.—Her veracity questioned by authorities here, where she "came to life" five weeks after her supposed drowning in the Southern California surf, Aimee Semple McPherson prepared today to take "direct to the people" her weird story of kidnapping by bands alleged to have held her captive in Mexico for $500,000 ransom.

The evangelist announced she would address the public at the city park here this evening. At 9:30 p. m. she leaves in a special car for the Southern Pacific for Los Angeles, where a gigantic homecoming to Angelus temple and her 25,000 followers has been arranged. Enroute she will make rear-platform addresses at the various stops.

Sheriff Abandons Search
Sheriff J. P. McDonald, of Cochise county, and his deputies, have given up their search across the international boundary for the alleged kidnapers of Mrs. McPherson.

"We have been unable to find a single clue to support the kidnapping tale related by Sister McPherson," the veteran sheriff told the United Press.

"We feel it would be a waste of time to make any further search for these imaginary kidnapers. Our men are familiar with the desert country in which Mrs. McPherson claims to have made her flight to safety after her escape, and not a trace of the abductors or their activity has been found."

Sheriff McDonald declared also that he found discrepancies in the story told by the evangelist.

Disappears from Hotel
Mrs. McPherson, fired with her old-time evangelistic enthusiasm, disappeared mysteriously from her hotel here early this morning. She was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, business manager of Angelus temple, Los Angeles, and two Los Angeles investigators.

She headed for Old Mexico, it was reported, and before her departure declared she was going on a second exploration trip to find the desert shack in which she was held captive and which desert rangers have failed to locate.

She returned several hours later, claiming she had traveled 27 miles into the interior of Mexico, without any results.

The evangelist went on a similar excursion last night, returning with the announcement she had failed to find the cabin.

"Maybe that house into which my captors took me was a camping outfit of canvas or light wood," she said after failure of her expedition.

Mrs. McPherson has been a guest at the Gadsden hotel here since yesterday afternoon, when she left the local hospital where she had been a patient for 37 hours. Her mother and two children, Rolf and Roberta, occupied an adjoining suite.

Elaborate plans are being made by Mrs. McPherson and her mother for the triumphant homecoming of the revivalist. A "resurrection sermon" has been prepared. It was reported, in which Mrs. McPherson will tell how "the Lord preserved me for my people."

Will Repeat Her Story
In it she will repeat her bizarre story of abduction and thrilling flight across the cactus country in Old Mexico, just across the border, crediting her Savior for her safe deliverance.

A special car has been chartered on the Golden State Limited and at each station where a curious multitude assembles she will make a speech.

FOLK RIDING IN SUBWAY READ AS THEY SPEED

NEW YORK, June 25.—To ride on the subway between two persons, one reading a Yiddish newspaper and the other a Chinese Journal, is nothing unusual to the New Yorker.

Yellow, white and black people, representative of all nations, are the underground commuters. And all of them read. It may be a newspaper or tabloid of any language, or Shakespeare, Shaw or Cobb. But the confirmed subwayite always reads—unless he is too tightly jammed to raise his hands.

One ride would convince any critic that Father Knickerbocker's stenographers and salesgirls are either the best or worst read in the world.

Nature of Reading
Their subway literature ranges from "Sadie's Love Quest" and "Advice to the Lovelorn," to Barrie and Lewis. On one trip two adjoining girls were separately reading Hawthorne's "The Scarlet Letter" and Robert Ingersoll. Any number of modern and popular writers could find encouragement in the numbers reading their works.

First picture of Aimee Sample McPherson, noted Los Angeles evangelist after her arrival in Douglas, Ariz. Mrs. McPherson, who says she escaped after being held captive by kidnapers, was too weak to sit up and pose for the photographer. She is shown here in her bed in the Douglas hospital.

Books mostly are in the hands of feminine readers. Men take the newspapers. Students, of whom there are great numbers, seem to like the trains as study halls. Probably there could be no greater test in concentration.

The "classes" ride in shifts. Laborers predominate around 5, 6 and 7 a. m. Then come clerks, stenographers and businessmen. Brokers and bankers are mostly in evidence between 8:30 and 10. After them come the housewives on shopping and visiting tours.

100 Hang on Straps
During the morning and evening rush hours, the stations and trains are overrun by the thousands. Perhaps 50 get seats in a car and a hundred others try to grab as many straps. Those who fail do not need them—they hold up each other.

When toes are mashed and shins barked, quarrels or lectures on subway etiquette often result to the amusement of others. Sometimes a man's bunion is kicked as he heads for the doorway and he pauses to dare someone to step outside. The someone in question invites him to come back into the car.

But about that time the automatic door slams shut.

between Niggerhead mountain and Agua Prieta, quaint Mexican town, five miles across the Mexican border, where the exhausted evangelist found succor after a 13-mile hike over the burning sands between 1 o'clock Tuesday morning and 3 a. m. Wednesday.

Investigate Clothing Sale
Check was being made by authorities today of a sale at the Levy Brothers' store, 6 avenue, during which dresses identical to that worn by Mrs. McPherson when she made her phenomenal hike through the mesquite growth were sold at $1 apiece. Salesmen in the store have told investigators they saw a woman and man fitting Mrs. McPherson's description of "Rose" and "Steve" in the store making purchases during the sale.

International difficulties arising out of Mrs. McPherson's reported statements that she had appealed to Mexican families across the border for help and had been refused were settled today when the evangelist was formally presented to Mexican officials, thanking them for their co-operation in returning her safely to her own country.

Mrs. McPherson appeared today to have fully recovered from her hectic experiences. She showed no signs of her 37-hour stay in the local hospital, where she collapsed yesterday while posing in a wheelchair for newspaper photographers.

CHICAGO EXITS CROWDED WITH TIRED PILGRIMS

(By United Press)

CHICAGO, June 25.—Chicago's avenues of exit were jammed today as hosts of weary pilgrims to the 28th International Eucharistic congress started their homeward journeys.

Every outgoing railroad train this morning was crowded with tired pilgrims, who for five days have been here paying reverence to the Holy Eucharist. Within the next 48 hours, the railroads expect to move several hundred thousand persons out of Chicago.

The congress was acclaimed a success.

Eleven princes of the church, hordes of clergy and thousands of laymen joined today in praising the arrangements that for five days made Chicago and the peaceful little village of Mundelein, Ill., the shrine of worship. Arrangements for handling the 1,000,000 pilgrims, the magnificence of the programs and the religious purposes carried out were praised by the outgoing churchmen.

The only mar to perfection of the congress came in two episodes of the final day's ceremonies at Mundelein yesterday. The first was when a driving rain beat down on the processional and the thousands of pilgrims who lined the roads leading around the lake of St. Mary's. The second was in the traffic accidents, as the 1,000,000 pilgrims tried to weave out of the village last night. Today it was estimated that more than 100 persons were injured in minor accidents as the great throng attempted to leave.

Most of the 10 princes of the church still here plan to remain in Chicago for several days, visiting over the Chicago diocese. Cardinal Bonzano, papal legate to the congress, next week will go to St. Louis to dedicate a new cathedral.

Snake Skin Hats Make Appearance

RIO DE JANEIRO, June 25.—Ladies' hats and shoes made of snake skins have been placed on the market here in the belief that the modish woman will enjoy ornamenting herself with the skin of the serpent. The tanned skins in natural colors, are used, their shiny scales retaining the seductive shine of the living snakes.

California Farms Not Debt Burdened

SACRAMENTO, June 25.—California farms are comparatively free from debt when compared with the city homes. Out of a total of 136,409 farms, it was pointed out at the state department of agriculture today, only 46,351, or 29 per cent, are mortgaged. Homes not on farms, according to the latest federal statistics available, are 40 per cent mortgaged in California; and that is not a high percentage compared with some other states, where more than 60 per cent of town and city homes are mortgaged, and where some cities of more than 100,000 population report up to 82 per cent of homes mortgaged.

MANY DROWN IN MEXICAN FLOODS

MEXICO CITY, June 25.—Meager dispatches regarding the flood at Leon, in the state of Guanajuato, refer to many deaths, but no estimates as to the number have come through over the crippled lines of communication.

The flood was caused by the over-flow of the river Gomez. The dam of a reservoir near Leon broke Wednesday morning, the waters racing through the streets, washing away houses.

The inhabitants fled to the highest section of the town, but even there the water is reported to have reached a depth of three feet.

The entire countryside for miles around is inundated.

The marooned population is in hunger and distress, and relief trains are enroute from this city and other points.

Movable glass eyes are being

Powder Stolen
In Georgia Used
At Bunker Hill

SAVANNAH, Ga., June 25.—All though the Battle of Bunker Hill was fought in Massachusetts and by New England troops in Georgia, in the far south, played an important part in it by furnishing the major portion of the all too scant supply of gunpowder.

On May 10, 1775, a special courier arrived in this city, bringing the first news of the Battle of Lexington on April 19. Some of the boldest men of the colony of Georgia took immediate steps to "do the job," even if the scene of action was a thousand or so miles away. In the magazine, built of brick and buried twelve feet under ground, was stored a comparatively large amount of ammunition which Governor Wright deemed unnecessary to protect.

The colonists felt there were British to be killed and argued they might as well be killed by their own gunpowder. A party composed of Noble Wymerly Jones, Joseph Habersham, Edward Telfair, William Gibbons, Joseph Clay, John Milledge and others whose names are indelibly written in Georgia's history, was organized. They broke into the magazine and took 600 pounds of gunpowder.

Governor Wright offered a reward of 150 pounds for the arrest of the offenders, but found no takers. The gunpowder was sent to Beaufort, S. C., for safekeeping and was then sent on the next boat to Boston, where, in the Battle of Bunker Hill, it illuminated the opening drama of hostilities.

Injury Added to Mule's Insult As
Man Draws Fine

Injury was added to insult today, when John Anshondo, 2015
East Twenty-fifth street, Los Angeles, appeared before Justice of the Peace Kenneth Morrison and was fined $25 on a charge of reckless driving. The fine was the injury.

When Anshondo was arrested,
he was insulted, according to the arresting officer, who declared that a mule laughed at Anshon-do. When arrested, Anshondo is alleged to have been driving a big car over the highways and around curves at a high rate of speed, his arm encircling the waist of a young and pretty girl. A trailer, containing a mule was attached to the rear of his machine,
he said. The mule, according to the officer, gave Anshondo the
"he-haw" when he was handed a ticket.

Priest Protests
Tribal Dance Ban

SUPERIOR, Wis., June 25.—Official interference with tribal dances "is downright stupidity," asserted the Rev. Fr. Phillip Gordon, a fullblood Chippewa, and one of the few ordained Indian Catholic priests in the United States.

"The last few months have been the saddest in the light of the Indians for elemental human rights,"
said Father Gordon. "It may be true that unsupervised, long-continued, unseasonable dances may lead to ill effects, but to continue these with the ordinary recreative
amusement of the so-called war
dance is nothing short of cruelty
and prejudice. Some of these dances, it is true, are part of pagan worship but most of them are noting more than a form of recreation."

INGENUITY PAYS
BUSINESS MAN
HIGH DIVIDENDS

NEW YORK, June 25.—Enterprise and business ingenuity probably pay higher cash dividends in Gotham than in any other city.
Manhattan is ready to flock, not to the man who makes the best mousetrap, but to the man who ballyhoos
his mousetrap in the most effective manner.

Thus one restaurateur has come to a secure place on "Easy street" through putting his patrons in an honor system. His plan is simple.
The patron eats and then on the way out of the restaurant stops at
the cashier's cage to name the amount of his own check. There is no supervision. Yet the restaurauteur says his percentage of loss is so small that he actually saves money through the elimination of help required for a checking system. Besides, he says, the idea attracts new patrons.

Capitalizes on Drawl
The audacity of his plan is the more apparent when compared with that of a chain soda fountain organization which requires all patrons to pay in advance for their orders before they will be served.

The Manhattanite has a strong leaning for "atmosphere." The soft, southern drawl is very popular on the island, so much so that it is frequently exaggerated by those who would not give it a thought in their home towns. One man made a fortune by capitalizing the idea.
He opened an "old-fashioned,
southern waffle house" and hired young lady waitresses who were fortunate enough to possess a real or pseudo-southern accent.

Idas even extend to popular restaurants, the latest gouge being to add $2 to the covert charges for tables located near electric fans.

Must Obey Law
There is a former bartender who is quietly amassing a fortune down in the "padlock" district by the unique idea of requiring the patrons of his little cafe to obey the probi-tion law. Neither will he serve any food unless a soft drink order
also is given. His rule is arbitrary.
No person will be served who does not order the prescribed beverage, or who comes in under the influence of liquor.

The pitch men are others who do
a land office business on the streets. They capitalize every occasion. If it rains, they sell cheap umbrellas at about four times their value. If it is a parade, they can be depended upon to supply the American flags.

Times square is their popular rendezvous, but Park row also is a favorite haunt. One Park row pitch man has sold leather shoe strings
on the same corner for 15 years. He tells all his customers confidentially that his brand of shoe strings is the secret brand, with which so many fellows have started in business. He supports a family and owns a comfortable little home out
on Staten Island.

DECLARES HUSBAND
HAS EIGHT WIVES

BOSTON, June 25.—Wives are piling up fast for Joseph McCarthy,
ex-mission worker, who is in Charles street jail, under charges of polygamy.

At first, McCarthy was accused of having two wives. Then three more made an appearance.

Now, according to a new tally by
Mrs. Agnes Cunningham McCarthy, of Manchester, N. H., wife No. 4,
the much-married man has no less than eight wives.

"I have on good authority," said wife No. 4, "that Joseph, to whom I was married in 1918, had seven other wives living in different parts of the country. I have names of four of the seven. I expect to get the names of the other three before Joseph goes on trial."

On the other hand, McCarthy, or Edward Franklin, as he styles himself, declared in jail that he has only one legal wife, Mrs. Pearl
(Stella) J. McCulley Franklin,
known as wife No. 5.

He confessed, however, police said, to marriage ceremonies with Isabella (Quinn) McCarthy, of Canton, (wife No. 1) and with
Agnes (Cunningham) McCarthy
(wife No. 4).

He said he was under the influence of liquor both times that he married under the false name of Joseph McCarthy, that his real name is Edward Franklin, that he was divorced from Agnes Cunningham as the ceremonies were not legal marriages. At this time he said, he was searching for the "perfect wife," whom he said, he found in Pearl (Stella) J. McCulley.

As for the other two women,
whom the police accuse him of having wed, Florence (Phillips) Mc-Carthy, of Brattleboro, Vt., (wife
No. 2) and Mary (O'Brien) Mc-Carthy, of Springfield, (wife No. 3)
the prisoner said he never even heard of them.

more apparent when compared with that of a chain soda fountain or-

The Manhattanite has a strong
leaning for "atmosphere." The soft,
southern drawl is very popular on
frequently exaggerated by those who would not give it a thought in their home towns. One man made
a fortune by capitalizing the idea.
He opened an "old-fashioned,
southern waffle house" and hired
young lady waitresses who were fortunate enough to possess a real
or pseudo-southern accent.

Must Obey Law
There is a former bartender who is quietly amassing a fortune down
in the "padlock" district by the unique idea of requiring the patrons
of his little cafe to obey the probi-
tion law. Neither will he serve
any food unless a soft drink order
also is given. His rule is arbitrary.
No person will be served who does
not order the prescribed beverage,
or who comes in under the influence of liquor.

The pitch men are others who do
a land office business on the streets. They capitalize every occasion. If it rains, they sell cheap
umbrellas at about four times their value. If it is a parade, they can be depended upon to supply the American flags.

Times square is their popular
favorite haunt. One Park row pitch
man has sold leather shoe strings
on the same corner for 15 years. He tells all his customers confidentially that his brand of shoe strings is
the secret brand, with which so many fellows have started in business. He supports a family and owns a comfortable little home out
on Staten Island.

DECLARES HUSBAND
HAS EIGHT WIVES

BOSTON, June 25.—Wives are piling up fast for Joseph McCarthy,
ex-mission worker, who is in Charles street jail, under charges of polygamy.

At first, McCarthy was accused of having two wives. Then three more
made an appearance.

Mrs. Agnes Cunningham McCarthy,
of Manchester, N. H., wife No. 4,
the much-married man has no less
than eight wives.

"I have on good authority,"
said wife No. 4, "that Joseph, to whom I was married in 1918, had seven other wives living in different parts of the country. I have names
of four of the seven. I expect to get the names of the other three before Joseph goes on trial."

On the other hand, McCarthy, or Edward Franklin, as he styles
himself, declared in jail that he has
(Stella) J. McCulley Franklin,
known as wife No. 5.

He confessed, however, police said, to marriage ceremonies with Isabella (Quinn) McCarthy, of Canton, (wife No. 1) and with
Agnes (Cunningham) McCarthy
(wife No. 4).

He said he was under the influence of liquor both times that he married under the false name of Joseph McCarthy, that his real name is Edward Franklin, that he was divorced from Agnes Cunningham as the ceremonies were not legal marriages. At this time he said, he was searching for the "per-
in Pearl (Stella) J. McCulley.

As for the other two women,
ing wed, Florence (Phillips) Mc-Carthy, of Brattleboro, Vt., (wife
No. 2) and Mary (O'Brien) Mc-
Carthy, of Springfield, (wife No. 3)
the prisoner said he never even heard of them.

Injury Added to Mule's Insult As
Man Draws Fine

Injury was added to insult today, when John Anshondo, 2015
East Twenty-fifth street, Los Angeles, appeared before Justice of the Peace Kenneth Morrison and
was fined $25 on a charge of reckless driving. The fine was the injury.

When Anshondo was arrested,
he was insulted, according to the
arresting officer, who declared
that a mule laughed at Anshon-
do. When arrested, Anshondo is alleged to have been driving a
big car over the highways and
around curves at a high rate of speed, his arm encircling the waist
of a young and pretty girl. A trailer, containing a mule was attached to the rear of his machine,
he said. The mule, according to the officer, gave Anshondo the
"he-haw" when he was handed a ticket.

Priest Protests

SUPERIOR, Wis., June 25.—Official interference with tribal dances "is downright stupidity," asserted the Rev. Fr. Phillip Gordon, a fullblood Chippewa, and one of the few ordained Indian
States.

"The last few months have been
the saddest in the light of the Indians for elemental human rights,"
said Father Gordon. "It may be true that unsupervised, long-continued, unseasonable dances may lead to ill effects, but to continue
these with the ordinary recreative
amusement of the so-called war
dance is nothing short of cruelty
and prejudice. Some of these dances, it is true, are part of pagan worship but most of them are noting more than a form of recreation."

BUSINESS MAN
HIGH DIVIDENDS

NEW YORK, June 25.—Enterprise and business ingenuity probably pay higher cash dividends in Gotham than in any other city.
Manhattan is ready to flock, not to
the man who makes the best mouse-
trap, but to the man who ballyhoos
his mousetrap in the most effective manner.

Thus one restaurateur has come to a secure place on "Easy street"
through putting his patrons in an honor system. His plan is simple.
The patron eats and then on the
way out of the restaurant stops at
the cashier's cage to name the amount of his own check. There is no supervision. Yet the restau-
rauteur says his percentage of

TERM FOR DOC COOK TO SERVE IN PRISON CUT

NINE SPEEDERS FINED AND TWO SENT TO JAIL

WASHINGTON, June 25.—Don Chaffin, one of the principal characters in the bloody West Virginia miners' war a few years ago, who was sentenced to Atlanta prison for violation of the national prohibition act, will be eligible for parole June 25, the department of justice announced.

Parole dates for two other widely-known federal prisoners, former Gov. Warren McCray, of Indiana, and Dr. Frederick Cook, of north pole fame, were fixed respectively as Aug. 31, 1927, and March 1, 1930.

Cook was sentenced to 14 years on Nov. 22, 1923.

Strong political influence has been exerted to obtain clemency for this trio of prisoners prior to their parole eligibility. Chaffin's release on parole is anticipated within a short time. McCray and Cook also have a chance to obtain a pardon prior to the expiration of their sentences.

Prison Records Excellent

It was learned that the prison records of these prisoners have been excellent and that no objection to their parole will be interposed by Attorney General Sargent or penitentiary wardens.

Constant attempts to obtain a pardon for Governor McCray have been made by leaders in Indiana politics, without success. Officials refused to discuss his case, although it was said that reports from Atlanta indicate McCray's health is failing.

Several protests have been made to the department of justice recently by federal judges, who feel that the effect of court sentences is somewhat mitigated by premature paroles or pardons for offenders.

Conduct Deciding Factor

Officials explained, however, that while the attitude of judges and prosecuting officers is considered by the parole officials, the conduct of prisoners while in federal custody is the deciding factor in acting upon applications for parole.

Chaffin is one of West Virginia's most picturesque characters. Labeled as "the gun sheriff of Logan county," Chaffin was the generalissimo of a civilian army which barricaded itself in the mountainous coal fields of Logan county where a force of several thousand miners swept across West Virginia from the Kanawha district.

Pretty Party Given By Aid Society

One of the happiest and at the same time, prettiest parties ever enjoyed by the Women's Bible class of the First Christian church, was presented Wednesday afternoon at the community house by the members of the north-west section of the Aid society, under the direction of Mrs. W. W. Adamson.

The pleasant room was converted into a rosy bower by the use of pink garlands, daisy baskets of pink and orchid hydrangeas and pink dahlias. The same lovely colors were emphasized at the refreshment hour when napkins and other appointments were all in harmony.

Mrs. William Watkins as program chairman, was welcomed to correspond with the color motif, and presented a most delightful entertainment. A piano solo by Mrs. N. H. Hilton was followed by a reading by Mrs. Watkins. Miss Miriam Adamson sang accompanied by Miss Mildred Stumpf. Miss Veda Mitchell offered a piano solo, followed by a reading by Mrs. F. T. Porter. Miss Lorene Porter contributed a violin solo with Miss Veda Mitchell as accompanist and the program ended with a vocal solo by Miss Lorene Croddy accompanied by Miss Corinne Blackburn. Everyone declared the program was one of the best ever presented before the group, each artist giving of her best.

In the merry interval which followed, pink and white home-made cake was served with pink and white ice cream by Mrs. Gus Stumpf, refreshment chairman, assisted by the Misses Lorene Porter, Veda Mitchell, Mildred Stumpf and Mildred Adamson.

Those who worked so faithfully in making the afternoon a success were the decorating committee, Mrs. Arletta Phillips, Mrs. Ella Strassberger and Mrs. Franzen; the reception committee, Mrs. Charles Waggoner and Mrs. W. W. Adamson; the program committee, Mrs. Watkins and Mrs. Adamson; the refreshment committee, Mrs. Stumpf, Mrs. Rimmel and Mrs. McKee and the general committee, Mrs. William Hagthorn and Mrs. John Hess. There were ninety guests to enjoy the affair.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Santa Ana Country club members are anticipating an unusually happy affair tonight at the clubhouse where a supper dance will be held. Dancing will begin at 8:30 o'clock with supper to be served at 10:45 o'clock. Ice punch will be served the dancers throughout the evening. An excellent orchestra is promised.

Business and Professional Women will be given opportunity to hear a talented piano pupil of Earl Fraser Monday at their mid-day meeting at St. Ann's Inn, when the June program committee will introduce Beatrice Brannon, 9-year-old pianist. The little maid will give several of her own compositions. She recently gave a recital of 17 numbers, some of which were original, and was greeted enthusiastically by her audience.

Of interest to Santa Anans who are members of Parkridge Country club, Corona, is the announcement that as a special feature at tomorrow night's sport dinner dance the Gibson sisters will be present. The sisters, Eva and Audrey, will put on their collegiate act which has recently been so successful at the Orpheum theater, Los Angeles. Members planning to attend the dinner dance are requested to phone in their reservations.

Two persons were sentenced to jail, nine speeders were fined a total of $215, one man was fined $5 for cutting in and one person was fined $25 on a charge of reckless driving in Justice of the Peace Kenneth Morrison's court this morning.

Don W. Wasser, 402 South Symamore street, Santa Ana, was sentenced to spend five days in the Orange county jail. Wasser was arrested recently by State Motorcycle Officer Frank Vaughn and charged with speeding 57 miles an hour.

S. J. Cody, 1741 East Nineteenth street, Long Beach, also will spend five days in the county bastille. Cody was arrested by State Motorcycle Officer George Peterkin.

John Anshondo, of Los Angeles, paid a $25 fine on a reckless driving charge and E. W. Curtis, of Fullerton, paid a $5 fine for cutting in.

Speeders, who paid fines, were: T. L. Fleming, 3814 Pasadena avenue, South Pasadena, $25; H. N. Stoner, Riverside, $30; H. Cox, 601 East Broadway, Glendale, $25; Hugh Haley, 415 Bush street, Santa Ana, $25; H. M. Whaling, Ocean Beach, $25; Fred J. Borchard, Anaheim, $20; Hubert Knolls, Long Beach, $25; John F. Gilmore, Huntington Beach, $25; and E. D. Stultz, Los Angeles, $15.

Continuation of Tale Relating Happenings Of Trip to Egypt

After an unbelievably beautiful drive through softly falling rain, in the magical country of Spain, Miss Ada May Sharpless and her companions reached Granada from Madrid, on their motor trip from Paris to Tangiers, and her letters to her parents contain graphic accounts of the beauties of Spanish mountain heights glimpsed through rain and mist, and flower filled valleys half hidden by the curtain of rain. Writing from Granada she says:

"We spent the entire afternoon at the Alhambra and thought of Washington Irving's fascinating tales. The Moorish palace is a marvel of artistic decoration. Walls are covered with the loveliest all-over patterns cut in tiles or in molding plaster and originally painted in gold, red and blue. Much of the color has disappeared and many spots have been restored without color. I would have given anything to have examples of the wonderful designs, so the next afternoon I returned and started to trace them on tracing paper but a guard told me it wasn't allowed and that I might only make drawings without touching the wall. I made a few but it was quite difficult as the designs were so complicated.

"We visited the summer palace of the same Moorish kings which was higher up on the hill. The building itself was nearly all restored without the decorations and lacked interest in itself, but the gardens were perfectly beautiful. There were innumerable fountains and terraces with running water everywhere and roses on all sides.

The Alhambra itself is on a big hill and the approach to it is through the most luxuriant, thickly growing woods with vines climbing the trees and trailing over the ground. The trees are leafy and delicate and tall. We were quite enchanted. We visited the tower of the three princesses one afternoon and saw where their three Christian lovers awaited them down below. I didn't blame the youngest princess for losing courage and not descending the rope ladder when I surveyed the height."

Algiers.
"After Granada we spent some time at Malaga, the nearest to a tropical city I have seen. It is quite pretty and clean and the port is very nice. A park extends along the port side and is filled with dozens of varieties of tropical plants and trees.

"We had our eyes filled with tropical scenes. There were sugarcane plantations all along the road from Malaga and men and women were cutting the cane and hauling it to the factories. As they worked, they sang in queer high voices, just as hard and fast as they worked. The cane was packed on donkeys and we could hardly travel, they were so thick for miles. There were many bamboo and grass hats and an occasional coconut palm.

"The mountains came right down to the Mediterranean which is of an unbelievable blue and without waves. All the little valleys were so luxuriant and full of fruit trees including orchards of custard apples, orange and lemon orchards were growing down to within 75 yards of the sea. We stopped under a big fig tree for a picnic lunch and then moved on to a spring shaded by an enormous cactus, and lined with maidenhair fern. We made a bouquet of it and wild oleaner. Then we went to the beach and waded awhile. There was every scenic charm: orange groves, cane fields, snow-capped mountains, streams, springs, wild flowers, rocky coasts on the beach and that marvelous blue of the Mediterranean. For hours we could see Gibraltar and the African coast!

"Today we are just across the bay from Gibraltar and at 1 o'clock this afternoon we sail for Africa! We will stay at Algiers several days before starting on our return trip. We are all thrilled to pieces. Seeing Africa is even more wonderful than seeing France for the first time.

Miss Ada Tulene Made Shower Honoree at Pretty Party

RANGE and white were the chosen colors in a delightful party with which Miss A. C. Tulene of Orange last night complimented her niece, Miss Ada Tulene and her approaching marriage to Roydon Ozmun of Anaheim.

The vivid decorations lent a charming air of gaiety to the scene, enhanced by the pretty frocks worn by the guests. An interval was devoted to writing recipes for the use of the future young matron and then followed a series of games in which attractive prizes were awarded Miss Esther Woerz, scoring high, and Miss Dorothy Lee, low.

Following the games, the shower feature of the evening was introduced, and Miss Tulene was escorted to the dining-room where many fascinating packages were cleverly arranged on the dining table beneath a great orange and white umbrella. The gifts were both beautiful and useful and will embellish the new home which the young people will establish in Anaheim after their marriage announced for July 24.

After the gifts were duly inspected by the little bride-to-be, Mrs. Tulene served dainty refreshments emphasizing the chosen color scheme and with individual trays marked by dainty umbrella cards. The hostess was assisted in serving by Mrs. Bert Hodson.

Enjoying the evening in addition to hostess and honoree, were the Misses Mary Jo Anderson, Agnes Shambaugh, Gertrude Probst, Mrs. J. W. Tulene and Mrs. Q. Harley of Santa Ana; the Misses Bradley, Dorothy Lee and Esther Woerz, Mrs. W. C. Pritchard and Mrs. Bert Hodson, Orange.

Legion Auxiliary Asks Fruit for Veterans

With the fruit season offering its largesse to the home canner, American Legion auxiliary members are hoping that generous minded housewives will remember the lads in the hospital at San Fernando, and with each quantity of jam, preserves or jellies, reserve some for the drive which the auxiliary will feature the latter part of August.

To facilitate matters, the auxiliary will furnish jars for those who wish them, and these can be marked "American Legion Auxiliary" and be all in readiness to add to the store which the enterprising young women are preparing and collecting. Those wishing to obtain the jars, may call Mrs. Fannie Reeves, 295R or Mrs. R. H. McCalla, Tustin 8700J2.

So many of the veterans at the hospital require such delicacies to make their trays attractive and, coaxed lapping appetites, and the local unit of the auxiliary is one that has never failed in remembering the deeds of valor and the sacrifices of the veterans. When the hospital was located in San Diego county, Santa Ana was one of the most faithful in dispensing cheer in varied forms and now with its removal to San Fernando, the efforts to bring some brightness into the lives of the boys are just as unceasing. The fruit shower is one of these efforts and there are few housewives who will not be happy to contribute to it.

The boat trip over takes three hours and the round fare is eight dollars. We leave extra baggage here at the hotel and the car in the garage. We are so excited."

In her succeeding letters Miss Sharpless tells of her experiences in Africa and the impressions made by that colorful country on an American girl.

Bank Officials Revel With Employees and Few Guests

CHARACTERIZED by those who attended it, as the most successful and most enjoyable of the institution's annual picnics, the gathering of the officers and employees of the First National bank and the Farmers and Merchants Savings bank and their families at Orange county park last night, was looked back upon today with unanimous approval.

The picnic came as a part of the celebration of the fortieth anniversary of the opening of the First National.

Attractive napkins and place cards bearing pictures of the fine six-story bank building together with beautiful bouquets decorated the tables beneath the oaks. Steaks barbecued to an exact turn were the principal item of a well balanced outdoor menu.

Mounted upon a large easel, captioned "Bankers At Play," appeared cleverly arranged pictures of a number of officers and directors of the two banks. Photographic heads had been placed on figures cut from magazine advertisements. The results, to say the least, were highly entertaining. The "artist" "guilty" in the matter was Frank J. Was, vice-president of the First National. A. J. Crookshank, president of the bank, expects to display the pictures in a window of the bank for the edification of the public.

Following the presentation by W. B. Williams, vice-president and cashier, of a number of humorous gifts to a trio of visitors, adjournment from the picnic table took the merry-makers to the pavilion, where Chapman's orchestra was in charge for dancing. The dancing was joined in by those who had gathered for the picnic of the Native Sons of the Golden West.

County Shriners Hold Picnic and Dance

Approximately 75 Shriners and their wives with a fair representation of youngsters, assembled last night at Huntington Beach to enjoy a picnic supper and evening of dancing as the June social function of the Orange county Shrine club.

Noble Joseph P. Smith, county president, was aided in carrying out plans for the evening by a committee composed of Nobles J. C. Pyle, R. J. Prescott, Louis Lee and Leonard Obarr. Supper of fried chicken and all manner of appetizing dishes, was enjoyed at 8:30 o'clock in the dining pavilions on the beach and after an interval of enjoyment of beach pleasures, the Nobles and their guests assembled in the dance pavilion to enjoy a series of balloon, cymbal, Paul Jones and old-fashioned dances. Excellent music was furnished by the Musgrove orchestra. Feed punch was served throughout the evening.

The Shriners hope to present a similar pleasant evening in late July at Laguna Beach.

Aid Society

Making a perfect ending for a most successful season was the meeting yesterday of the south-west section of the Ladies of the First Presbyterian church at the Balboa Beach home of Mrs. Susan Rutherford. The Rutherford cottage was adorned with quantities of flowers that called forth much admiring comment from the guests.

Little Maiden Shares Birthday Delights With Friends

LITTLE Miss Mary Elizabeth Carey was honored at a pretty party yesterday afternoon, planned by her grandmother, Mrs. M. E. McKee at the McKee home, 502 West Fifth street, to celebrate the little maid's sixth birthday.

The party was held on the pretty lawn of the home where the children enjoyed a variety of merry games and a short program of songs, readings and dances to which each one contributed a number under the direction of Anna Shaffer, herself a talented little singer and dancer.

One of the enjoyable games was a peanut hunt in which each child gained quantities of peanuts to which each one contributed a number under the direction of Anna Shaffer, herself a talented little singer and dancer.

Later the children formed a circle on the lawn, surrounding Mary Elizabeth as she opened the packages to examine the lovely gifts brought by her playmates. These included Edith Carson, Ruth Maxwell, Helen Maxwell, June Courtney, Marian Mousley, Anna Shaffer, Lois Courtney, Velma Ewing and Irene Kirby.

Members of Family in Pleasant Dinner at Popular Cafe

ENTERTAINING the members of his family, Elmer Barr Burns was general host last night at a delightful little dinner party which was staged at the Pennant cafe.

Places were indicated at a flower-decked table for the host, Mr. Burns, his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Arnim and their little son, Master Robert Charles Arnim, Mr. and Mrs. Carl F. Burns, son and daughter-in-law of the host, Mrs. C. E. French, Miss Mary Farek and Miss Florence Erickson.

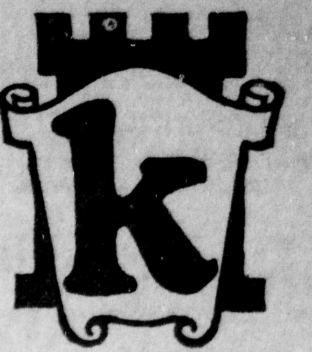

The party discussed the summer plans of Mrs. Elmer Barr Burns who at that time was evidently nearing England after sailing a week ago for a summer in Europe. This morning Mr. Burns received a cablegram dispatched from Southampton at 7 o'clock a. m. and relating her safe voyage across the Atlantic. Mrs. Burns was not to leave the vessel at Southampton however, but was to land tomorrow at Antwerp.

Leisure Hour Club In Pleasant Meeting

Members of the Leisure Hour club spent a pleasant afternoon yesterday at the home of Mrs. Henry Grochow of Eastwood avenue. At the business meeting it was decided not to meet again until August 26 because many members are leaving for vacations. That meeting will be at the home of Mrs. George Hasenyaeger of 518 Eastside avenue. Refreshments were served at the end of the afternoon by the hostess, Mrs. Grochow, and her three charming daughters.

Hubby Beat Her,
Wife Complains

Richard Williams used to get drunk and beat his wife in pre-Volstead days, she claims.

Then along came prohibition and stopped Williams' drinking. But it didn't cure his tendency toward violence, according to Mrs. Mathilda Williams' petition for divorce, on file in superior court today.

When denied his liquor, Williams had a more irascible temper than ever, his wife charges. He was finally committed to the Norwalk state hospital in 1922, she states. They were married in Santa Ana, in 1914, and have three children.

Santa Anans Get Trout Limit On Inyo County Trip

Returning to Santa Ana with 125

trout measuring from 10 to 18 inches in length and weighing from one to two pounds, four Santa Ana men were today telling enthusiastic tales of fishing in the Silver Lake district in Inyo county, north of Bishop.

The four men, E. C. Frambes, L. A. Turner, H. C. Northrop and A. G. Turner, returned yesterday from a two weeks' fishing trip.

According to the men, fishing in the lakes near Silver Lake is excellent this year. Each brought home the limit. Several of the largest of the trout will be displayed in the Hawley sporting goods store window tomorrow.

According to Frambes, the best fishing found on the trip was at Grant Lake. The group also fished in a number of other lakes including Gull Lake, June Lake and others.

A number of various kinds of trout also were landed in the creeks of the Izaak Walton, including Rainbow, Eastern brook, Loch Leven and cut throat trout. Frambes declared that the trout were mostly caught on flies. The four men made their headquarters at Silver Lake and traveled to the other lakes by automobile. No packing or hiking was necessary to get good fishing, he declared.

ONE OF THREE

James Edward Rawlings, 54, 334

Hill street, Huntington Park, received injuries which may prove fatal; Earl Hinkins, 33, of South Gate, was seriously injured, and Louis Edward Rawlings, 24, of Huntington Park, was slightly injured late last night in an automobile wreck at the intersection of Seventeenth street and Huntington Beach boulevard, according to a report at the sheriff's office.

The machine, occupied by the three men and driven by Louis Rawlings, is reported to have crashed into a car driven by Walter H. Hart, 833 South Claudina street, Anaheim, and turned over.

The elder Rawlings suffered a basal fracture of the skull, according to hospital attaches, who this morning pronounced the man in a critical condition. Hinkins is suffering from shock and probable concussion of the brain.

Young Rawlings, the driver, escaped with minor injuries. Hart, driver of the other machine, was uninjured.

The Rawlings car was traveling west on Seventeenth street, according to the report. The three men evidently had been on a fishing trip, as they were reported to have had a large catch of fish in the machine. Hart was traveling north on Huntington Beach boulevard. According to Hart, his machine was struck a glancing blow by the Rawlings machine, which then turned over.

The men were rushed to the Orange County hospital by State Motorcycle Officers Pat Hurd and George Stinson.

According to Hurd, Rawlings was traveling at a high rate of speed. Hurd and Stinson was stationed on the corner. Hurd declared this morning that he was about ready to start after Rawlings when the crash occurred.

THREE MEN HURT WHEN CAR UPSETS

Three men narrowly escaped death this afternoon when the roadster in which they were riding overturned on a curve a few miles north of Laguna Beach.

H. E. Smith, 29, suffered a fractured rib and was taken to the Santa Ana Valley hospital. H. B. Wagner, 33, has a severe cut on his right leg and Robert Cox, 23, is suffering from shock. It is possible that Cox may have a skull fracture. Both Wagner and Cox were taken to their homes in Laguna Beach, following medical attention.

According to information from Laguna Beach, the three men were on their way to San Bernardino when a spring on the car gave way, causing it to overturn. Cox was pinned under the machine.

It was necessary for the attending physician to take six stitches in Wagner's leg.

NITRATE TAKEN FROM AIR HURTS CHILEAN TRADE

LONDON, June 25.—Shareholders in Chilean nitrate companies are losing millions of dollars as a result of the keen competition offered in Chilean soda nitrate by the recently discovered synthetic product, according to London stock exchange circles.

Since the announcement was made that chemists have perfected a means of producing nitrate synthetically from air, the entire fabric of the Chilean nitrate situation has undergone a complete change.

Nitrate shares quoted on the London stock exchange have experienced one of the most sudden and severe slumps known on the exchange for many years, and it is estimated by financial experts that in one week alone the value of the shares in a dozen of the leading companies fell by nearly nine million dollars.

Depression in Industry
The depression has struck the nitrate industry with such lightning rapidity that then the directors and those most closely in touch with the market here have been taken by surprise. This is indicated by the fact that only a few weeks back the Aguas Blancas company, one of the leading Chilean nitrate corporations, announced its intention of issuing the balance of its capital, which would then have been in eager demand. At the beginning of the present London stock exchange account Aguas Blancas shares stood at over $8. Recently they fell to below $5, and are now below $5, with a prospect of falling even lower. The cause of this sensational fall was the announcement that no final dividend would be paid, although for the past five years the final dividend has been 50 per cent.

Profits Drop for Chileans
The heavy falling off in Chilean nitrate consumption is reflected in the depreciation in profits announced by other Chilean companies. The mammoth Alianza company has returned a net profit of $375,000, compared with nearly $1,250,000 a year ago. The $25 shares of this company which a short time ago were quoted at $52, are now worth only $50.

The Salmar del Carmen company has cut its dividend from 25 per cent to 10 per cent, following a big slump in its shares. Another large fall has been experienced in Pan de Azucar shares. The shares of the Santiago company, issued at $20, have fallen to below $5, but show signs of recovering.

Stock exchange circles here believe that the climax has now been reached in the battle for supremacy between the Chilean and the synthetic product, and that a reduction in the price of the Chilean variety is inevitable.

WHISTLER PICTURE IS HUNG IN LOUVRE

PARIS, June 25.—Whistler's portrait of his mother, of which tens of thousands of reproductions have been sold in the United States, has after years of controversy been hung in the Louvre. This is the highest honor the French government can pay a work of art.

When, nearly a quarter of a century ago, France bought the canvas from Whistler for $800, it was understood that this American painting would be given a permanent place in the Louvre as soon as the customary 10 years had elapsed after the artist's death.

In the meantime, the painting was displayed in the Luxembourg gallery. Years passed, and the French administration made no move to carry out the promise to Whistler and transfer the canvas to the Louvre.

Finally the painting was removed from the Luxembourg and stored where the American visitors could not see it. Tourists continued to insist on viewing the famous work, and finally the Beaux-Arts authorities decided to bring it from its hiding place. It now hangs in the Salle des Etats, surrounded by the paintings of seventeenth century French artists.

French art circles credit Miss Florence Heywood, American lecturer on art at the Louvre Museum, with being responsible for arranging the withdrawal of the Whistler painting from the storehouse, and with its present display in the foremost French gallery.

Bullfighting Is Desire of Women

MADRID, Spain, June 25.—The feminist movement in Spain, in most ways far from militant, has reached the point where women are demanding the right to become bullfighters.

Rumor is current in governmental circles that Gen. Primo De Rivera, Spain's dictator, who is an ardent lover of bullfighting, is disposed to permit women in the arena.

So far, women have not been allowed actively to participate in corridas but it is no secret that a number of fashionable young señoritas have performed selected assemblages. On these occasions, the amateur feminine bullfighters are said to have conducted themselves with admirable grace and courage.

The greatest opposition to admitting women to the professional ranks is understood to come from the professional male tereros, who foresee a threat to their own popularity.

Full Record of Southern Army Will Be Listed

WASHINGTON, June 25.—After more than a half century, a complete record of the Confederate army will be completed by the war department.

Money will soon become available to continue gathering of records, which was nearly completed when the World war interrupted the task. Using military records of the southern army in the Civil war, obtained by capture, gift, loan or purchase, a large number of clerks will be put to work compiling them.

The records, it is stated, are valuable inasmuch as pensions granted by many southern states will be based on the records, and they may also be utilized as credentials of admission to Confederate soldiers' homes.

BAN BOBBED HAIR IN GERMAN SCHOOL

BERLIN, June 25.—An organized movement against bobbed hair is springing up throughout Germany. As yet, this opposition is spasmodic and in its infancy, but numerous symptoms indicate that the bobbed hair wave is receding.

A large placard announcing "Bobbed Hair Prohibited" was posted at the recent convention of grammar school and high school students, held in Jena (Thuringia). Among the young people who appeared at the convention hall on the opening morning were numerous flappers, their hair closely cropped in the approved boyish fashion.

A burly attendant at the gate greeted them with a stern "Verboten." "No bobbed-haired girls admitted," he announced, curtly.

Most of the girl students were obliged to leave. It is stated that the movement against bobbed hair was inaugurated by women teachers at the girls' schools in Jena. At any rate, Jena is the first town in the world to have an official League for the Prevention of Bobbed Hair.

Fashion experts believe that the days of bobbed hair in Germany are numbered—at least, they contend that the popularity of this coiffure is waning.

"German women," said one fashion authority, "are verting to the Gretchen type. Long tresses will return and bobbed hair will soon be merely the memory of a ghastly nightmare."

Rockefeller to Provide 'Utopia'

NEW YORK, June 25.—An Utopian community to provide workingmen's families with home conveniences comparable to those enjoyed by wealthy families is promised in the $1,250,000 garden apartments being built by John D. Rockefeller Jr. in Upper Manhattan. The apartments are expected to be ready for occupancy next fall and will accommodate 175 families.

Every apartment will have cross ventilation and will open upon a great garden, which will occupy more than half the total area of the block covered by the model community. The project was designed especially for workingmen's families with children.

The rent will be within the means of workingmen.

Dog Saves Child From Deadly Viper

McCOOK, Neb., June 25.—"Duke," pet dog of Billie, two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Garrison, shielded the child from a poisonous viper for several minutes until a paving gang here, attracted by the dog's frantic barking, came to the rescue. "Duke," the men said, ran repeatedly between the reptile and the infant, alternately pushing him out of danger and lunging at the snake.

GERMANS ARE CUTTING DOWN NATION'S DEBT

BERLIN, June 25.—Germany paid the creditor powers in the first nine months of the second year of the Dawes reparations plan an aggregate of $21,425,066 gold marks on account of the second annuity of 1220 million marks, and has made the payments promptly when due.

The most recent quotation on German gold marks lists them at 23.8 cents.

This announcement is in the report of Seymour Parker Gilbert Jr., agent general for reparations, to the reparations commission.

That German economy continues to make steady progress in the direction of healthy consolidation is reflected in the observations of Mr. Gilbert, who declares the experts' plan is functioning actively and normally. The allied governments, the German government and all agencies concerned in its execution have continued to work together loyally and in a spirit of friendly co-operation, he reports.

Save Currency Is Stable

With the stability of German currency fully assured and the government's budgetary program providing for significant tax reforms, further strengthening of finances may be safely expected. This is the conclusion of Mr. Gilbert.

Discussing the prospect of placing the reparations bonds on the German Railway company on investment markets, the report says: "It is the unanimous opinion of all concerned that the time has not yet come to attempt any sale of these bonds; that it is still too early to make definite plans or begin negotiations looking to that end."

That the record already made by the German Railway company, as indicated by its first annual balance sheet, was encouraging and would ultimately lead to increasing appreciation of the merits of the bonds as an international investment is emphasized in the report.

Improvement Noted

Discussing the readjustment of German economy, Mr. Gilbert says: "The business crisis as reflected in unemployment, commercial failures, curtailed production of iron and steel and in the reduced volume of railway traffic reached its apex in January and February. Since then there has been a gradual improvement in all these factors, though some movements have been slower than others."

"It is impossible to forecast how far this gain can be held, but in the general process of readjustment it appears to have followed sound principles."

Payments to the various creditor powers in the nine months ended May 31, included the following: France, 461,700,000 marks; Great Britain, 166,800,000; Italy, 65,100,000; and Belgium, 95,500,000.

CHILD HURT WHEN STRUCK BY AUTO

Minnie Fisher, three-year-old daughter of Mrs. Minnie Fisher, of Westminster, was slightly injured when struck by a machine, driven by J. N. Welker, 614 South Grand avenue, Orange, about 5:30 yesterday afternoon.

According to witnesses, the girl wandered onto the highway directly in the path of the Welker car. A car, parked beside the highway, and behind which the girl had been playing, prevented Welker from seeing the child until his car was upon her.

Welker was traveling slowly and did not run over the girl. The girl was brought to the Santa Ana Valley hospital, where her condition, this morning, was reported as improved.

Court Notes

To Settle Estate

An estate valued at $10,000 consisting of property near Tustin, was left by the late Elise Blanton, who died June 16, according to a petition filed in superior court by her son, Albert Blanton, who seeks letters of administration. Heirs of the deceased are her husband, H. Blanton, of Tustin, and two sons, Albert, of Tustin, and H. L. Blanton, of Cisco, Tex. Attorney F. C. Drumm represents the petitioner.

Petition on Estate

Public administrator Charles D. Brown has filed a petition in superior court, through Attorneys Eschborough, Perry and Reinhaus, asking letters of administration in connection with the $4000 estate left by the late Sarah J. Miniken. A brother, L. R. Lawton, and a niece, Ella Baird, both of Larned, Kas., are named as heirs.

Asks Damages for Crash

Edward Mills seeks judgment for $547.50, covering damages received by his automobile in a crash last February 7, his suit for that amount being filed today in superior court against L. P. Carbean. The collision between cars driven by Mills and Carbean occurred on the state highway between Anaheim and Fullerton.

Wife Alleges Cruelty

Extreme cruelty is charged in a divorce petition filed in superior court by Marjorie Stephens against Richard Stephens. The couple married at Riverside, in 1924, and separated at Olinda, last February 15. They lived for a time in Huntington Beach.

Mrs. Stephens' complaint states that her husband gave her severe beatings. Once, while they were walking along a street in Los Angeles, he became angry and twisted her arm until she was forced to ask a policeman for protection, she states.

Attorney Roland Thompson, Santa Ana, represents the plaintiff in the divorce case.

WIVES WITHOUT COUNTRY GET HELP OF LEAGUE

GENEVA, June 25.—The League of Nations has come to the rescue of women of all countries, who as a result of marriage to American men have become international derelicts, from the standpoint of nationality, by reason of the Cable law.

It has devolved on the league to assume the task of trying to provide that no woman, of whatsoever race or country, shall be left without a nationality, merely because she happened to marry an American.

To this end the league has submitted to all of the governments of the world the draft project of an international convention on nationality in which provision is made for women marrying foreigners.

Conference to Be Convoked

In the event the majority of the nations reply favorably, an international conference will be convoked by the league for the purpose of launching and signing the proposed convention. It will then become part of the system of codified international law which the league is starting to build up.

The necessity to articles in the law covering the nationality of women who marry largely by the so-called Cable law in the United States.

Previous to the adoption of this law the majority of the countries of the world's accepting the rule that a woman marrying a foreigner acquired at once the nationality of her husband, losing at the same time that of her native country.

International Anarchy

With the enactment of the Cable law, however, which permits foreign wives of American citizens to acquire American citizenship only after a year's residence and regular application for naturalization, a veritable state of international anarchy was created for foreign women, marrying American men abroad.

In the majority of countries the woman who married an American lost immediately her native nationality, but failed to acquire that of her husband. This rendered it impossible for her to get a passport or to be entitled to the protection of any country whatsoever.

Many Cases Under New Law

She became literally a woman without a country. Hundreds of these cases have occurred since the enactment of the Cable law.

In the second place, there was created the difficult question of the nationality of children resulting from such a marriage. As the mother had no nationality, the child cannot claim that of its mother; and if it is born abroad it has no claim on that of its father.

To meet this situation the league has asked the entire world to accept the ruling that a woman marrying a foreigner shall only lose her native nationality on condition that at the moment of her marriage she is regarded by the law of the state to which her husband belongs as having acquired the latter's nationality.

Children Also Provided For

In the case of women who fail to acquire their husband's nationality through marriage and who are regarded by the laws of their country of origin to have lost their nationality by the reason of such marriage, they are to be entitled at least to a passport from the state of which their husband is a citizen.

As regard children born of such marriages provision is made that they can claim the right of nationality of the state in which they are born provided they are not entitled to the nationality of their parent's original countries.

The proposed law, which was drawn up after profound study by Prof. S. Runfstein, of Warsaw, was finally cast into final form and approved by the league's commission of international law experts.

Police News

R. H. Chamberlin, 32, of 115 Fifteenth street, Huntington Beach, and Dick Mayher, 19, of the same address, were arrested yesterday by Chief of Police Jack Tinsley of the beach city, on a charge of illegal possession of liquor. The Huntington Beach chief of police captured the two men and eight quarts of alleged liquor single handed, according to reports.

Edwin Rushway, 30, was lodged in the Orange county jail last night on a charge of vagrancy. Rushway was sentenced to 30 days in jail by City Recorder C. W. Warner, of Huntington Beach.

An automobile tire was taken from a car parked in a garage at the rear of the Wagner grocery store, Delhi, last night, according to a report at the sheriff's office today. Entrance was gained to the garage by pulling off a staple on the door, according to Deputy Sheriff's Smith, Wallace and Adams, who investigated.

When Santa Ana officers investigated a report that boys were breaking windows in the McKinley school, they found that the boys had caused considerable damage to the windows, but to bricks, which are being used in repairing the building. Several bricks had been broken.

John W. Morose, 35, of Seal Beach, was placed in the Orange county jail last night on a charge of selling liquor, according to jail records.

J. H. Kaufman, 814 East Sixth street, reported the theft of a cement block, upon which was painted his house number. The block was taken from in front of his home last night.

At the opening of the Royal Academy in London this spring, only one woman with hair unshingled was seen.

SWISS BLUEBEARD IS UNDER ARREST

PARIS, June 25.—A Swiss Bluebeard, who knew the French one, Landru, has been arrested near Zurich. Max Kaufman has been accused of the assassination of several Swiss domestics, after taking away their savings by promise of marriage. He kept many souvenirs of his victims—bits of jewelry, lace from their clothes, or a slipper buckle. Of greatest interest, perhaps, is a blue notebook, in which he noted down the initials of his sweethearts, the dates of their meetings, and other signs which have not yet been interpreted. He has admitted that he spent several years in the French capital and lived only two doors away from the mystery man who made twelve women and their savings completely disappear.

Church furniture made in this country is being used in Central America.

School Teachers Find Romance In Atmosphere Here

June romance blossomed suddenly in the hearts of two sedate school teachers, who were motoring through Orange county Wednesday and, passing through the famous Gretna Green of the Southland, a vagrant impulse sent them along the well worn path to Orange county's courthouse.

There, Miss Verena Black, 37, Pasadena schoolma'am, changed her name to Mrs. William L. Rutherford. Rutherford, 50, also is a school teacher, who will be situated in Escondido next term. He gave his address at the license bureau as Richmond. The couple was married by the Rev. H. A. Kern.

Blushingly they explained that, when they started for a drive, matrimony never had been discussed and was not in their minds. Nearing Santa Ana, Rutherford was seized with the happy idea. He lost no time in communicating it to Miss Black. She coyly demurred for a time. It was so sudden. But his ardent pleading finally swept away her faint reluctance, and before she knew it, she was standing by his side in front of a minister.

"Be sure not to let anyone know about this," the bride cautioned a reporter, who happened to find them.

"I won't speak to a soul about it," the reporter assured her gravely. He kept his promise.

SHOULDERS BLAME; DRAWS HEAVY FINE

Frank Mercado, of Los Angeles, paid a fine of $300 in Justice K. E. Morrison's court on a charge of possession of liquor yesterday, after he had shouldered the blame for five defendants charged with the same offense. His four companions thereupon were released.

State Motorcycle Officer Frank Vaughn arrested the quintet in Mercado's car, near the Delhi dance hall, several nights ago. The officer had started to pursue the car because it had no tail light. When he sounded his siren, a shower of bottles flew in all directions from the automobile, he said. One of them went through the glass door of the car, such was Mercado's hurry to unload the evidence.

Child Favorite Of Doughboys In Vaudeville Here

Of much interest to those who will remember the appearance in several Armistice day parades of little Mary Catherine Perkins, first American child born on the Rhine, will be the appearance of the little maid on the West Coast-Walker bill for the first half of next week. Mary Catherine is said to be a clever little dancer and also is work-

Beach Chamber Entertains S. A. Booster Bodies

The junior and senior divisions of the chamber of commerce were guests of the Long Beach chamber of commerce last night, being entertained with dancing, from 8 to 12, refreshments and entertainment.

Judge Cook, of the municipal bench, spokesman of the welcoming committee by the Long Beach chamber, making it quite clear that the city with a harbor desires the aid and co-operation of the city of Santa Ana. When he had finished all knew they were welcome.

Ridley Smith, secretary of the Santa Ana junior division, responded to the welcoming address, expressing the sentiment of those present.

The manager of the Belmont Beach club, George C. Kiskaddon, assured the representatives of both cities of the pleasure it had given him in having them as his guests for the evening.

They will remain until the little girl has completed her engagement in the theater. They lived in Santa Ana for about three years and Mary Catherine always was a prominent feature of the Armistice day parades, being a favorite with the boys of the American Legion.

Constipation! How to Keep Bowels Regular

To Dr. W. B. Caldwell, of Monticello, Ill., a practicing physician of 47 years, it seemed cruel that so many men, women, children, and sets the system. Besides, it is absolutely harmless, and so pleasant that even a cross, feverish, bilious, sick child gladly takes it. Buy a large 60-cent bottle at any store that sells medicine and just see for yourself.

While he knew that constipation was the cause of nearly all headaches, biliousness, indigestion and stomach misery, he did not believe that a sickening "purge" or "physic" was necessary.

In Dr. Caldwell's Syrup of Pepsin he discovered a laxative which helps to establish natural bowel "regularity" even for those chronically constipated. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup

L. A. BOOSTERS VISIT HERE TO BIND TIES OF CO-OPERATION

DESIRE FRIENDSHIP KEPT IN GOOD ORDER

President of Metropolis Civic Body Says Cities Should Aid One Another

Southern California as a unit and co-operation of all communities in the big scheme of promoting the future of the Southland was the keynote of the visit here, yesterday, of a group of Los Angeles men, on a trade tour through Orange county, as expressed in brief addresses at a joint luncheon of the visitors and the Lions club, held at St. Ann's Inn.

The weekly meeting of the Lions club offered the opportunity of entertaining the visiting group at luncheon and it was a happy occasion.

Following the business session of the club, the meeting was turned over to Warren Hillyard, chairman of the day, who later surrendered the gavel to Clyde Downing, president of the Greater Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, who had charge of the program of interchange of felicitations between the Santa Ana chamber and the Los Angeles visitors.

Pointing to the accomplishments of the Los Angeles chamber, in making Los Angeles known the world over, Downing commented on the necessity of full co-operation with a chamber by residents of a community in which such an organization is located.

Closer Relations Sought

Replying to greetings extended, Arthur S. Bent, president of the Los Angeles chamber, said that Santa Ana and Orange county were delightful and prosperous communities and that the excursion of business men had been planned as one of friendliness and to bring the men of the two counties into closer relations.

"The world is beginning to look upon Southern California as a unit," Bent said. "All communities in the Southland are concerned in that point and for that reason there should be no line drawn between the counties. We recognize the line on the map only, but should not I hope we do not—in our hearts recognize any other line as existing."

The president stressed the point of Southern California being unable

THOMAS TALBERT, CHAIRMAN OF SUPERVISORS, WILL NOT MAKE RACE FOR RE-ELECTION

Thomas B. Talbert, of Huntington Beach, member of the county board of supervisors for the last 17 years and chairman of the board during most of that period, today formally announced that he would not be a candidate for re-election this year.

Need of a rest and a vacation after his long years in public service was assigned by the chairman as his reasons for retirement. He represents the second district on the board.

Three candidates already have entered the campaign for election to his place. They are John Mitchell, of Garden Grove; Sterling Price, of Bolsa, and L. R. Obarr, of Huntington Beach. Mitchell is a brother of R. P. Mitchell, county superintendent of schools. He and Price are ranchers, the latter also being a stock raiser. Obarr is a druggist.

Ends Long Public Career

Talbert's announced retirement marks the completion of a supervisory career closely linked to Orange county's civic and governmental progress. When he joined the board in 1909, the county, to use his own expression, "had nothing but a courthouse and jail." There was not a foot of paved highway in the county. The present good roads system, modern bridges, the county hospital and farm, juvenile home, new jail and Hall of Records, and the many and varied projects now being carried on by Orange county have all had their inception under Talbert's chairmanship of the board, and are regarded as monuments to his administration.

Talbert was first made a member of the board in 1909, by appointment to fill the unexpired term of George W. Moore, who resigned. In 1910, Talbert was elected.

MORE CARS ARE REQUIRED FOR EDITORS' TRIP

Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce 16 Automobiles Short of Quota Assigned

The Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce today was 16 cars short of its quota of 50 machines for transporting visiting editors here Tuesday over the county. It was stated today by George Raymer, secretary. Approximately 200 cars will be needed for the party of editors who will be here on that day, en route to Los Angeles to attend the convention of the National Editorial association.

Quotas have been assigned to other communities in the county and the cars needed have been promised, according to reports to Raymer.

The caravan will leave St. Ann's Inn at 9 a. m., and will drive to Newport Beach, Huntington Beach, Garden Grove and other nearby communities before noon.

The following car owners of Santa Ana have volunteered use of their machines for the day: Mason Gould, Horace Fine, H. G. Burgess, C. L. Johnson, Dr. John Wehrly, George Dunton, H. C. Rutledge, Dr. V. G. Presson, Orange county, C. Lincoln Bennett.

Head of Hygiene Society Advocate Of Short Dresses

LONDON, June 25—"Reasonably" short skirts and "exposed necks and throats have an advocate in Sir Thomas Oliver, president of the London Institute of Hygiene.

"When it first became the craze for the greater part of the neck to be exposed, mothers frequently consulted me before giving their daughters permission to abandon high-necked gowns," said Sir Thomas.

"At first I doubted whether it was wise for delicate girls, who had repeatedly been treated for winter cough, to try such an experiment. But I soon found that the new fashion banished the winter cough and improved the general health of delicate girls."

Sir Thomas also believes that the growth of women's hair has been improved by cutting, and shorter skirts have greatly improved health.

Needs Time to Control Judge's Mind

The power of mind reading may save William Baker, 36, of Long Beach, from serving a term in jail.

When Baker appeared before City Recorder J. F. Talbott yesterday, charged with vagrancy, he pleaded not guilty. Questioning revealed that the man was a mind reader by profession.

"Can you tell what I think about you?" Judge Talbott asked.

"No, but I have not had time to get your mind under control," Baker replied.

Judge Talbott set Baker's trial for July 15, with the comment that perhaps the man could get his mind reading powers in working order by that time.

It is probable that if Baker can give a convincing demonstration of mind reading to the judge and the jury, which he demanded, he will be freed.

17 APPLICANTS FAIL IN EXAMS FOR TEACHERS

Unable to obtain more than 60 per cent in the rating of their examination papers in arithmetic, not less than 17 of 29 applicants for grammar school teaching certificates were excused from further examination in prescribed subjects and advised to return home, according to R. P. Mitchell, county superintendent of schools.

The examination was held by the county board of education for those who desire to enter the teaching profession. In addition to securing a satisfactory examination rating in a number of specified subjects, each applicant must pass a satisfactory examination on the U. S. constitution and its principles.

Here are some of the questions that proved the undoing of the would-be teachers:

A merchant marked damaged goods, which cost him $18.75, so that he might reduce the first price of 25 per cent and still sell them at cost. Find the marked price.

At what rate per annum will $7500 produce $450 interest in 1 year, 6 months?

Which is the better investment and how much per year, three per cent stock, at 25 per cent discount, or five per cent stock, at 4 per cent premium?

A, B and C entered into partnership. A put in $8000 for one year, B, $6000 for nine months and C, $5000 for six months. Their profits were $3225. What was each partner's share?

At $2 a rod, how much will it cost to inclose a square field, containing six acres?

What is the convex surface of a cylinder formed by the revolution of a rectangle about one of its sides, the rectangle being 12 feet long and eight feet wide?

A can do a piece of work in seven and one-third days, B in five days and C in three and one-third days. In how many days can all do it?

Sold tea at 92 cents per pound, having gained three-twentieths of the cost. Find the selling price per pound if he had lost three-twentieths.

A owns two-fifths of a ship and B the remainder, and three-fourths of the difference between their shares is $1500. What is the vessel worth?

Find the volume of a cylinder the area of whose base is 18 square inches and altitude eight inches.

CHAMBERS WILL BACK NEW VOTE ON PORT BONDS

Issue for Repair of Entrance Will Be Given Support Of Associated Bodies

Members of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Orange County last night went on record as favoring another harbor bond election at an early date. A recommendation to the board of supervisors that an election be called to vote money necessary to repair the entrance only.

Tom Talbert, chairman of the board of supervisors, who attended the meeting, asked that the secretaries of the various chambers of the county ascertain the sentiment in their several communities and communicate that sentiment to the board.

Talbert, in a talk before the chamber, declared that he believed some date between the primary election and the general election would be ideal for the next bond election. He declared that the registration at that time would be heaviest and that the people would be in the frame of mind to vote. Talbert did not hesitate to state that it was his belief that an election for entrance bonds would carry.

H. H. Hale, of Placentia, declared that he didn't believe one end of the county should furnish all the money and labor when the harbor bond question is an entire county affair. He opposed a harbor district. He predicted that voters in all parts of the county would give of their time and money to put over entrance bonds, if the proposition was handled properly.

"The county is too small to be split up in districts," he declared, "and a project like this, if put over, will stimulate business. Sectional talk and sectional feeling will never get us anywhere. We must bear each other's burden."

S. W. Stanley, of Tustin, said it was his belief that the farmers would vote for entrance bonds and urged that the pleasure harbor feature be stressed.

Calls Election "Educational" R. T. Davies, of Fullerton, said it was his opinion that the last election might be termed an "educational election" and predicted Fullerton would vote a big majority for entrance bonds.

Ralph McPadden, of Placentia, took to task the various sections of the county that opposed the bonds and said it was the duty of everyone to vote for improvement, no matter what part of the county was interested primarily. He cited numerous instances of low in the past the county had stood together as a unit and urged that this policy be continued and that sectional strife and talk be done away with.

Following the various addresses on the harbor, a resolution was adopted commending Harry Welch, secretary of the Harbor Chamber of Commerce, for his splendid work during the campaign, and terming the loss of the bond election a "glorious defeat." The chamber pledged its support and backing to Welch in his next campaign for entrance bonds.

The reapportionment initiative petitions of the farm bureau were given the backing of the chamber and support pledged. The July meeting of the chamber will be held at Seal Beach.

COUNTY PARK SCENE OF HOOSIER OUTING

Two hundred former residents of Indiana enjoyed themselves in an all-day picnic in Orange County park yesterday, with a luncheon at noon being one of the features. The event was under the auspices of the Orange County Indiana Picnic association and the day was passed in visiting. The program included readings and musical numbers.

One of the concrete actions of the brief business session was decision to hold social meetings of the association every three months at various points in the county. Selection of the place and date was left to the officers. Officers chosen were Mrs. W. Van Cleave, Yorba Linda, president; O. P. Brougher, Anaheim, vice president; Mrs. C. R. McClure, Brea, secretary; the Rev. F. T. Porter, Santa Ana, treasurer; executive committee, the Rev. V. K. Ledbetter, Anaheim; M. C. Fiscus, Brea; Judge Grench, Fullerton; Mrs. W. M. Kelsey, Garden Grove; C. A. Waymire, Orange, and L. Crasher, Santa Ana.

JUST PLAIN RICE Rice may be cooked in the juice of fruits or crushed berries instead of in plain water, and will be improved in color and in flavor. Incidentally, it may be used as a dessert with sugar and cream.

BURIED TREASURE?

Shruder Young, whose ranch near San Juan Capistrano, has been dug up by persons seeking "treasure" supposed to have been buried many years ago by the Franciscan padres.

COLD WEATHER IS BLAMED FOR CITRUS SLUMP

When easterners stopped drinking so much lemonade and other soft drinks in which lemon syrup is used, it had a detrimental effect on citrus shipping in Southern California, according to traffic officials.

The cold weather which has prevailed in the east and as far westward as Chicago, where gales reaching the proportions of blizzards are reported, is blamed for the marked slump in the movement of California's golden crop, the lemon and orange.

Traffic officials and other railroad authorities point to the decrease in the carload shipping of lemons during the last two weeks as the best indication supporting the theory of cold weather as objectionable to lemonade drinkers.

Two weeks ago Santa Fe freight traffic reports showed a total of 175 cars of lemons moving to east ern markets during the seven-day period. The following week it dropped to 110 cars and now, with a continuance of cool weather in the east, the lemon movement is sinking to lower levels in harmony with the falling temperature.

Distribution of goods continues to be retarded by cool weather, state eastern advisers, although the future outlook is somewhat brighter.

With the slowing of the traffic a better market is anticipated, and that the record week of more than 1200 cars of citrus fruit last month will be surpassed in the coming weeks, is now being forecast.

California's leading product, the grape, will show a greater output for the state this year than during 1925, when more than 65,000 cars moved east. The grape and the black fig, reputed as the state's contribution to the nation's liquid diet, will not suffer a slump, according to traffic officials, who declare that an ample car supply will be the important factor in handling the peak shipping.

Girl Reserves to Attend Sessions

Fifteen girls from the Girl Reserve clubs of Santa Ana, Orange and Anaheim will leave this week for the annual summer conference of high school Girl Reserves of the Pacific coast region, which opens at Astoria, in Monterey county, tomorrow for a 10-day period. There will be more than 300 girls in attendance from all parts of California, Nevada and the Hawaiian Islands. The conference program will be based on the discussion of problems pertaining to the girl life of today and on technical club interests. In addition to the conference, the girls look forward to the many interesting historical places to be visited about Monterey. The girls going from Santa Ana are Marcia Huber, Clara Kate Owens and Jean Nicholson, with the Y. W. C. A. secretary, Nancy Elder.

11 Girl Reserves Awarded Chevrons

As a final wind-up of the year's work among the junior high school Girl Reserves, a Chevron day program and "social hour" was held in the Y.M.C.A. rooms Monday night. All the girls in the various triangles of the churches of Santa Ana participated. Eleven girls received chevrons, which bestowed upon them the rank of Fourth Girl Reserve. The girls are working this summer on their honors so that they may become First Girl Reserves and work for the Girl Reserve ring, which is the highest award granted.

BURIED WEALTH OF FRANCISCAN PADRES SOUGHT NEAR MISSION

Shruder Young Ranch Center of Latest Hunt for Boxes of Gold Treasure

PROSPECTOR WORKS WITH DIVINING ROD

Search Given Impetus by Report of Fortune Uncovered in Old Mexico

Buried treasure!

That's a phrase to conjure with, especially so when the treasure referred to is claimed to be hidden under the soil of Orange county, not far from historic Mission San Juan Capistrano, the "Jewel" of the Franciscan chain.

To some persons, in particular those living near the old mission, this story will be but a repetition of a tale which has almost achieved the distinction of becoming a legend or part of the San Juan Capistrano folk lore.

But to those unacquainted with the reports, it may come as surprising news of an intriguing character. Who is not interested in hidden wealth?

Hunt Goes On

In any event, this treasure, which started more than half a hundred years ago, in the memory of old residents, still is going on and seems to have taken on renewed vigor as the favorite spots for digging are, one by one, eliminated by means of the pick and shovel.

The activities of the "gold diggers" to use the phrase in a strictly literal sense and not as a means of describing a young woman of doubtful theatrical talent, dates back to about 1832, when the secularization of the Catholic church, by the Mexican civil authorities, occurred.

The belief persists that the mission padres took action to save their wealth from the clutches of the representatives of the Mexican government. In connection with their flight, tradition, not established in history, has come down to the effect that the priests buried the gold and silver plate from the church in the vicinity of the mission grounds.

The detail of locating the exact spot has been the incentive for the activity of numerous treasure seekers.

And the supposed treasure, if there was any, still is a mystery, both as regards location and extent.

The latest hunt has centered on the Shruder Young ranch, formerly the Crookshank place, about two miles north of the old mission, about a mile from the San Diego highway.

An old prospector and miner by the name of Johnson is the newest recruit to the ranks of the gold hunters. His instrument "located" the treasure in five spots, but when holes were sunk to reach the precious metal no treasure was located.

He explained that the instrument would locate copper or silver but would not locate gold; but it was the theory of the owner of the instrument that the box, containing the alleged treasure, was made either of copper or silver and that therefore the treasure could be located after all.

Hasn't Much Faith

Young doesn't put much faith in the ability of the searchers to locate the gold. He lets them dig up his ranch on an agreement to give him a percentage of the dis-

When I asked my new employer about finance he said, 'with all due respect to women, the female mind is not capable of understanding finance.' Afterward, when I ran his business for him, I reminded him of those words."

STAGE AND SCREEN

YOST BROADWAY THEATER
Reginald Denny has definitely taken a position among the very few great comedians of the screen. He stepped into it first with "Oh Doctor." He convinced a great many picture fans of his eligibility in "I'll Show You the Town."

Jane Decker, a member of the "Broadway Bits" company, now appearing in vaudeville at the Yost Broadway theater.

Lewis Stone and Alma Rubens in a scene from "Fine Clothes," current attraction at the Yost theater.

"Where Was I?" "What Happened to Jones?" and other pictures. But in "Rolling Home" his latest production, which opened at the Yost Broadway theater last night, he leaves no ground for argument on the question.

"Rolling Home" is, without doubt, Denny's funniest picture since he stepped into feature films comedies two years ago, and he has eclipsed all of his previous performances.

Starting with a bang and a hearty laugh in the opening scene, "Rolling Home" rolls homeward, gathering laughs as it goes, like a snowball gathers snow.

Situation is piled upon situation, with the comedy growing at each new scene, until the audience begins to wonder vaguely if the hero ever can be extricated from the hopeless tangle in which he has become involved.

WEST COAST-WALKER
The smash and drive and power of "The Isle of Retribution," which is at the West Coast-Walker theater is like the implacable northern elements themselves. Superbly enacted by a cast which is headed by Lillian Rich, and directed with fine understanding of its dramatic possibilities by James Hogan, this splendid production surges along to the most thrilling fight as a climax ever caught by the camera. The battle between the huge "Doomsday," caught in a big bear trap, and the flashing speed of Ned Conner, the young society hero who has become hardened under the big man's brutality, is spectacular and magnificent in the extreme.

Victor McLaglen, Robert Frazer, Mildred Harris, Kathleen Kirkham and David Torrence are all perfectly cast, as are the minor roles. The story is an adaptation of the Edison Marshall novel, done brilliantly by Fred Myton.

YOST THEATER
If you have been looking for something different in the way of screen entertainment, by no means can you afford to miss "Fine Clothes," a film version of Molnar's famous play, "Fashions for Men," which opened last night at the Yost theater.

finest performances as Peter Hunterford, the good-hearted, trusting keeper of a London shop, in which he employs Paula, played by Alma Rubens. Paula's infatuation for the Earl of Denham (portrayed in a finished manner by Lewis S. Stone), and Peter's love for the girl, brings out some of the finest acting that has been seen on the screen in many months. The plot has been treated in an entirely original manner and puts across the idea in a most entertaining manner. Molnar sees life through a satirical eye, and the story is told in the spirit of the original, which has become so popular in the last year.

Black Eyes for 45 Years, Wife Informs Judge

CHICAGO, June 25.—Forty-five years of married life with Frank Thornton, 67, of 2827 West Madison street, have been a steady succession of black eyes and hard times, Nellie Thornton, 64, told Judge John J. to solve any problem without Los Angeles and Los Angeles being unable to solve any problem without the co-operation of the other sections identified with the group forming the Southland.

He said that Orange county was recognized as an important market for manufacturers and distributors in Los Angeles and he made the point that Orange county also must recognize the fact that Los Angeles is an important distributing center for Orange county products.

"We want to keep our friendship with Orange county in good order," Bent said, in closing his brief address.

Mason Yould, president of the junior division of the chamber of commerce, was introduced by Downing, and he spoke briefly on the activities of the junior body.

Frank Purinton, mayor, expressed confidence in the good intentions of the southern metropolis in its dealing with the outside community and declared his belief that much of the criticism directed at the Angel City is the result of jealousy.

Los Angeles Has Pep

"Los Angeles has the pep," the Santa Ana mayor commented, in giving that city credit for much that has been accomplished in building up the Southland.

W. G. Farrell was introduced by George Raymer, secretary of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, as the orator of the day. Farrell made a splendid address, in which he featured the necessity for harmony in action of all sections in the development of the Southland, and visioned the time when the unity of purpose would be even stronger than it is at the present time.

Brief remarks by R. L. McCort, director of the Los Angeles chamber, closed the pleasing and satisfying program.

A vocal number, by Maurice Phillips, and a group of selections by the Santa Ana Lions club quartet composed the musical program offered for entertainment of the Lions and visitors.

ed to his post, and shortly became chairman upon the death of the late Supervisor D. A. MacMullen, of Olive. He has served in that capacity to the present, being re-elected from his district in 1914, 1918 and 1922. He is now completing his fourth full term, in addition to the unexpired Moore term.

Issues Statement

Talbert was the first supervisor from the second district to be elected for two successive terms. In announcing his decision not to be a candidate this year, Talbert issued the following statement:

"In fairness to the many inquiries it seems just that I should make this announcement: "Feeling the need of a rest and vacation, I will not be a candidate for the office of county supervisor for the ensuing term. However, I want to take this opportunity of expressing my sincere thanks and appreciation to my many friends throughout the district and the county who have offered their support and expressed a strong sentiment in favor of my becoming a candidate."

"I further want to assure my friends and associates throughout the county that I deeply appreciate the confidence and loyalty which has been extended me in the county for the past 17 years. I shall always feel deeply interested in the general welfare, progress and growth of Orange county."

covery, if any. The search has not been confined to the Young property. The adjoining acreage of the O'Neill holdings have been punctured frequently by the treasure miners. William Magee, foreman of that portion of the O'Neill rancho, interrupts their diggings when he finds them at it on the property under his control. Magee doesn't have any faith in the legend either.

But still the hunt goes on, with no results.

It has been given impetus, it was said by Young, through a report to the effect that treasure, worth $750,000, was found in Mexico, near an old mission, several years, the treasure being presumed to have been buried under similar conditions as existing at Mission San Juan Capistrano.

There is nothing in the mission records or any other known records, historians say, to show that there is any foundation for the buried treasure story.

GIRLS IN VIENNA EARN OWN LIVING

VIENNA, June 25.—Viennese girls are fast learning how to become useful members of society. Not satisfied with their century-old reputation for unrivaled beauty and charm, they are now reaching for laurels in the business and industrial world.

More than half of the women of this city between the ages of 15 and 45 are earning their own livelihood, and some are supporting or helping to support their families.

The census taker discovered that there are now 753,000 women in Vienna over 14 years of age. Of this number 380,000 are engaged in gainful occupations.

Although the total male and female population of Vienna is 10 per cent less than before the war, the actual number of women employed in banks had quadrupled. The number in the railway service has tripled, while in the post, telegraph, telephone and insurance offices the number has doubled.

FARM EXPERTS OF U. S. HELP CHINA

Ithaca, N. Y., June 25.—American agricultural experts are helping their Chinese colleagues solve the problem of famous prevention in the hunger-ridden republic of the orient.

Plant breeding authorities of the New York State College of Agriculture at Cornell university are co-operating with the Nanking University College of Agriculture and Forestry in a concerted effort to produce better varieties of crops in China in the hope that the menace of famine may be greatly lessened if not ultimately removed.

The instruction and investigation American work was begun at Nanking less than a year ago by Prof. H. H. Loce and is now being continued by Prof. C. H. Myers.

Professor Loce declares that if American methods of plant breeding and improvement are able to increase the yield of some of the staple Chinese crops by 10 per cent in five years a real step toward famine prevention will have been taken, since the improved strains will have then been distributed to Chinese farmers.

"The Chinese are eager to learn and they take kindly to our instruction," said Professor Loce. "The task of teaching China to raise more food is largely one of showing her how to develop better seed. For centuries she has been using most of her available agricultural land, but she has given very little attention either to improving her seed or to weeding out the poor material."

"We are devoting our attention to crops that will yield maximum results with the methods already in use, and are sowing barley, corn, rice and soy beans."

FRENCH NEWSPAPER IN ATTACK ON U. S.

PARIS, June 25.—"America Attempts to Colonize Belgium!"

This is the headline of a bitter denunciation in the Paris newspaper Petit Bleu, of what the French consider Wall street bankers' attempts to seize the economic wealth of Belgium.

After being stabilized for nearly a year, the Belgium franc in one day fell 10 per cent. London and New York bankers were immediately blamed. The Petit Bleu uses such harsh words as "blackmail" in connection with the American financiers.

"For a three-year loan, to provide funds to stabilize the Belgian franc, the American bankers demanded control of Belgian railroads, immediate refunding of 1800 million francs in Belgian bonds, mortgage of the income from the Belgian colonies, etc."

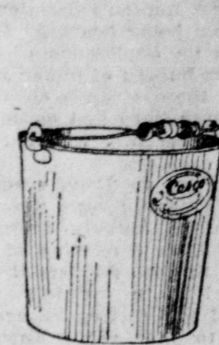

"Faced with such demands, of course Brussels refused. She is too proud, too energetic, too patriotic to submit to the indignity of becoming economically an Anglo-Saxon colony. The bankers asked Brussels to increase her taxes, to decrease the army, to raise the discount rate, to increase customs duties and dismiss 20 per cent of the railroad employees. Belgium will survive the present crisis, but the blackmailing tactics of the Anglo-Saxon bankers certainly are revolting."

Capt. W. S. C. Stephens, a former airman, recently arrived in Nova Scotia from England to be ordained a priest.

WOULD CREATE NEW OFFICE IN SCHOOL WORK

Listed among measures to be urged by the California Teachers' association through the California Council of Education, at the coming session of the state legislature, is the creation of a special position in the office of the superintendent of public instruction, to act as the authorized interpreter of school law, according to advice received by R. P. Mitchell, county superintendent of schools.

Superintendent Mitchell declared that the need for simplifying and clarifying the school law of the state has been recognized and discussed by school men, as well as by fiscal officers for several years. As a result of conflicting opinions relating to the proper interpretation of various provisions of the school code, there has been much confusion in administration, the county superintendent declared. Recent instances were the interpretation placed by the attorney general on the eligibility of voters for the general school elections held last spring, and the more recent opinion regarding junior high schools, subsequently modified.

Mitchell pointed out that, at each legislative session, there is added in amendments and new provisions a body of material sufficient in bulk for a school law in itself. Sections referring to a given phase of education, as is the case of junior high schools, are to be found scattered through the laws.

With the additions each year, he continued, the law is becoming increasingly difficult to interpret and administer. The problem becomes more acute when it is realized that each county is a law unto itself, the county or district attorney acting as official interpreter. As a result, there may be as many decisions relating to a specific matter as there are counties in the state, all of which, in turn, may be at variance with the construction placed on the law by the attorney general or the state superintendent of public instruction.

ZIONISTS WILL GET LARGE FUND

OTTAWA, Ont., June 25 — Announcement has been made here by Dr. Elias Margolis of Mount Vernon, N. Y., that Lord Rothschild of London, England, will soon give $5,000,000 conditionally to Dr. Chaim Weismann, president of the World's Zionist organization, toward the cost of reconstruction work in Palestine. The announcement was made at a meeting of the Canadian Zionist organization, Karen Heyesed.

Orange Man Dies In Long Beach

ORANGE, June 25.—John Richards, extensive property owner here, died suddenly in Long Beach last night. Funeral arrangements will be made later.

Mr. Richards is survived by three sisters, Mrs. M. E. White and Mrs. R. C. Burkett, of Orange, and Mrs. DeWitt Mix, of Olive; his father, A. Richards; a brother, G. G. Richards, and a son, Lyle Richards, all of Orange.

Richards recently traded Orange property for the Bixby Park apartments.

URGES MEN TO KEEP HATS ON IN ELEVATORS

DEL MONTE, June 25.—Keep your hats on, gentlemen. Social amenities no longer require men to remove their hats in the presence of ladies while riding in commercial elevators. This dictum was handed down by a committee of women managers of American skyscrapers at the annual convention of the National Association of Building Owners and Managers.

The reason that women no longer demand that men show them deference in commercial elevators, according to Miss Clara C. Cramer, of Chicago, chairman of the committee, is that women regard themselves as on a parity with men while in the commercial world.

"When a woman enters an office or an office building she generally does so on business," said Miss Cramer. "In business women are on the same level as men. They ask no special privileges and are willing to play the game of business in full conformity with the rules. Accordingly, our committee, which is composed of women who manage and operate skyscrapers in various American cities, believe that the removal of hats as a mark of courtesy should pass when riding in elevators of commercial buildings."

"Furthermore, it is more efficient for hats to be left untouched, because the hat then does not need extra space, and space is exceedingly valuable in office buildings. Waiving the removal of hats in business building elevators does not, however, give consent to any breakdown of social standards, for outside of business woman has the prerogative of using her charms and accordingly, she has the right to expect every courtesy from gentlemen. Accordingly, hats should not be worn in hotel or apartment building elevators when in company with a woman."

FINDING OF MAYA CITY IS REPORTED

NEW ORLEANS, June 25.—Dr. Thomas Gann, explorer for the British museum, has left for New York and London after reporting the discovery of an ancient Maya city, containing valuable inscriptions and a stone causeway more than six miles in length. He said that as a result of his discovery he expected to establish a new correlation of Maya antiquity.

After arriving in Yucatan several months ago, Dr. Gann declared he began exploring with the assistance of special equipment a mammoth cavern at Lolton. Indian guides led him through the cavern, which contained corridors where many natives are said to have lost their lives while hiding from enemies.

Dr. Gann said he lost his electric torch while crossing a crevice by a narrow ledge in the cavern and saved himself by clutching to the edge of a precipice. At Lubantun, which he discovered in company with several companions from the museum two years ago, Dr. Gann found indications that three civilizations had existed there.

SEAL BEACH, June 25.—The Union Oil company is drilling ahead at 4128 feet in its Bryant No. 1 wildcat well in the northern part of the Seal Beach district, and coring frequently, according to official reports. No showings have yet been found, it is said, but none is expected until the well reaches a depth of around 4500 feet.

The Union well is the deepest active project in the Seal Beach area at present. The Marland Oil company's second Bixby well was spudded in only about two weeks ago, and the Associated Oil company is still working on its shallow prospect wells on the eastern side of the field.

Sun Solves H. B. Water Problem

HUNTINGTON BEACH, June 25.—Possible solution of the water problem, which has been the great retarding influence in the east end of the old Huntington Beach field, is seen in the success of the Sun Oil company, whose No. 7 well in that area is flowing at the rate of about 400 barrels of oil per day from a depth of about 3400 feet. In addition to the oil, the well is making a considerable proportion of emulsion and some water, but oil men who have viewed it assert that there is a fair chance that the cut may clear up, as there is no evidence of salt water in the yield.

The Sun effected its production in its Huntington Beach No. 7 well by drilling the hole to 3750 feet, where bottom water was found. The Sun then began pumping the hole a few feet at a time and testing by stages until at 3200 feet a water shut-off was successful. The oil is about 20 degrees gravity.

UNRULY COWS GIVE OFFICIALS EXCITING TIME

ORANGE, June 25.—Municipal business was shelved and executive dignity went by the board yesterday afternoon, when officials of the city of Orange rallied to the support of the police force in an attempt to subjugate two recalcitrant cows which had become lost, strayed or stolen and were investigating the possibilities of a good meal in the yards of local residents.

When first notified by irate citizens of the manner in which the cows were disrupting themselves, City Marshal B. F. Richards enlisted the aid of City Clerk Cal D. Lester.

Lester admitted defeat, however, so far as the cows were concerned, and so far as the cows were concerned, Lester chose Motor Officer Charles Wallace and a newspaper man to help him.

After riding herd on the cows with motorcycle through a freshly plowed orchard, Wallace succeeded in corralling them for the chief to subdue after a short struggle.

A rope served to guide the unruly bovines behind the marshal's car for a short distance. When the animals threatened to lie down in the road and refuse to go, Richards was "stumped" until the advice of Mayor L. A. Stevenson was secured.

Then, with both Wallace and Richards on the ropes and the cows were herded and dragged several blocks down East Chapman avenue through town and into the city yards at South Pixley street and West Almond avenue.

Following the adventure, Richards wiped his brow and remarked: "This is the most fun I've had for a long time."

How's your oil after 1,000 miles?

IT'S not how well the oil you use lubricates during the first few miles it is in the crankcase that counts. Any good oil will lubricate well at first. It's the end of the run that counts.

Parabase was made to lubricate just as many miles as you would expect good oil to go—and a little farther. Parabase takes care of those last few miles before you put in fresh oil when all the damage is done.

Parabase does not quickly break down under the stress and heat in your motor. It stands up—it is your insurance that your motor will be as sound at the end of the run as it was at the beginning.

Tell your garage or service station man to fill up with Parabase.

SUGGESTS OTHER MEANS OF SHOWING GRATITUDE TO DONOR OF COUNTY PARK

Orange, June 22, 1926.

Editor Register: I read with interest your recent editorial on changing the name of Orange County Park, and wish to give my hearty endorsement to the sentiments expressed.

It seems to me that there is so little to be gained and on the other hand, so much to lose from an advertising point of view, when the name so well known over the state is taken away from this beautiful playground, and it is given a name by which people would not be able to designate it for years to come. I am sure Mr. Irvine will feel that he has his greatest reward in the pleasure he has given to multiplied thousands of people who have enjoyed this wonderful park. The rest which his gift has brought to tired bodies, the laughter of little children, the happy gatherings of neighborhood parties, and the constant throng which fills the park throughout the days of the year, all bear tribute to the magnificent generosity of the donor. On the other hand, to change the name at this late date would, I think, only be confusing to the public, and possibly place Mr. Irvine in the light of a seeker after publicity, when in fact his nature is just opposite of that.

I have looked at the very modest tablet telling of the gift of the park and have thought more than once that it was all too inadequate a recognition of the county's gratitude. Why should not there be built near the pavilion where everyone can see it, a monument of some sort that would be a work of art and sufficiently imposing to really recognize the debt that people of Southern California owe to James Irvine.

Either this or a magnificent Greek (outdoor) theater, as suggested at various times by Dr. Slaugh, county purchasing agent, and over the stage of this theater place a suitable insignia wherein not only the theater, but the entire park might be dedicated to the donor.

Very truly,
V. D. JOHNSON.

Secretary Orange Community Chamber of Commerce.

Capital Letter

WASHINGTON, June 25.—Observe Vice President Charles G. Dawes, coming out of his office in the capital building in the midst of a group of farm relief agitators. These times Dawes is everlastingly to be seen going into or coming out of his office in the midst of a group of farm relief agitators or else he isn't to be seen at all, because he's inside his office in conference with a group of them.

Farm relief is in the atmosphere and Charles G. Dawes breathes atmosphere. He doesn't quarrel with it. He inhales it deeply.

This would be all very well but—Farm relief, atmosphere is poison gas to Calvin Coolidge. He's on record as opposed to farm relief legislation. He says the farmers must work out their own salvation. Since the Iowa senatorial primaries he may wish he hadn't said it quite so emphatically. If so, that's all the more reason for him to wish his own vice president wouldn't associate so constantly and ostentatiously with farm relievers, sympathizing with them in their plans and advising them to go ahead with same.

What the president may wish, however, doesn't seem to concern the vice president.

Dawes is well aware that farm relief atmosphere is surcharged with presidential lightning. It will be noticed that he has a lightning rod up.

Dawes' conduct is all the more noticeable in that vice presidents aren't supposed to have anything to do with legislation, farm relief or otherwise, and Dawes obviously is doing his best to promote farm relief legislation.

The theory is that an ideal vice president effaces himself all he can, in order not to embarrass the administration.

Dawes is doing just the opposite and the administration is embarrassed all right.

But what does Charles G. Dawes care for precedent!

That the White House is sore at Dawes is no secret to anybody in Washington.

Of course the "presidential spokesman" doesn't say anything about it for publication, but, in the first place, the White House can't help being sore, and, in the second place, the evident coolness between the chief magistrate and his understudy proves that it is.

President Coolidge and Dawes never did hit it off very well together, from the time of the Cleveland convention, when Coolidge didn't want Dawes for a running mate, but for awhile they gave a pretty fair imitation of being reasonably friendly.

Now they meet only on the most formal occasions, when they can't help it.

Even on such occasions they have precious little to say to one another. Dawes wears a Cheviot cat grin. Undoubtedly he's getting a lot of fun out of the situation. Coolidge maintains an air of cold hauteur.

DOUBTS ADVISABILITY OF HIRING PLANNING EXPERT

Editor Register: Ever since reading the account of the council proceedings in the Register the other evening, we have wondered how the city of Santa Ana could afford to pay a man $700 a month for a "city planning" position. And then, would there be funds sufficient to carry out the plans of the said gentleman? How can this position be created and at such a salary, when it has been drilled into the heads of the populace for the past couple of years that the city treasury was like a man's pocket with one big hole in the bottom?

We dislike to mention it, but all Santa Ana knows what a time we had to keep the band going last summer. We wouldn't be surprised, if most of the members of that band, including the director himself, had to scramble pretty steadily in order to make $700 in several months. There had to be a special election to provide a way for Santa Ana to continue having such a wonderful asset as our municipal band!

And the city of Santa Ana could not even afford to provide the "juice" to run an electric sign out on North Main street, when the said sign was to be donated, so that travelers might know they were nearing a place by the name of Santa Ana as well as a place named Orange. And other means of letting the rest of the world know about our fine city had to be created by the special election for taxing the people.

Why isn't there an accounting published in the local paper, say once a month, of the funds in the city treasury, so that the public would have some idea of the matter? Surely they have a right to such information! And will the people of Santa Ana allow the council to hire a man at such a salary, when other matters are so much more imperative?

Sincerely,
L. W. DUNLAP,
2075 North Main Street.

HANGS SELF WITH HER SILK HOSIERY

CHICAGO, June 25.—Profound depression, due to loneliness and aching heart, was held responsible for the tragic suicide of Mrs. Mary R. A. Villas, society matron and former wife of Royal C. Villas, wealthy manufacturer and clubman.

A pair of silk stockings, knotted about her throat, Mrs. Villas' body was found hanging from a metal crossbar in a closet at her home.

Mrs. Villas obtained a divorce in 1921, naming as co-respondent a Mrs. R. C. Vance. A year after the decree was obtained, Mr. Villas announced his marriage to Mrs. Edna Vance, of Texas.

Robbed of the companionship of her 20-year-old daughter, Virginia, through the demands of society, and of her son, Royal C. II, in school at Pottstown, Pa., Mrs. Villas brooded a great deal, her physician said. She never lost her affection for her former husband.

Before her marriage Mrs. Villas, who was 40 years old, was Miss Mary Armstrong, of Baltimore, Md.

FOUR AGENCIES CO-OPERATE TO MAKE PROGRESS

SACRAMENTO, June 25.—The department of labor and industrial relations, concerning which the average citizen has little information, has filed an interesting report with Gov. Friend W. Richardson.

Representatives of four governmental agencies of the state comprise the personnel of the department, the industrial accident commission, immigration and housing commission, industrial welfare commission and bureau of labor statistics. The report informs the Governor that the department has functioned in complete harmony, thereby enabling each of the agencies to do the most effective work. One of the chief benefits derived from the activities of the department is the co-ordination of the work of agencies represented and the consequent elimination of overlapping of functions. Some of the outstanding accomplishments by the four agencies embraced in the departments are set forth in the report:

Business is Increased
Industrial accident commission—while transacting a largely increased volume of business in all departments, and without loss of efficiency, effected a saving of over $300,000 during 1925-26 budgeting period; secured enactments of amendment to compensation act, requiring all employers to carry compensation insurance and increasing funeral benefits to $150 and making such benefits payable in addition to, rather than out of, awards to dependents; for fiscal year the number of cases filed with commission increased 2.7 per cent, while cases decided increased 12 per cent; staff of department of safety increased 31 per cent and number of inspections increased from 10,000 to 16,000; new safety orders strengthened to meet changed conditions; state compensation insurance fund maintained on a sound financial basis and in a prosperous condition; the fund has paid to injured workmen and their dependents, $13,000,000, has refunded to its policy holders over $9,000,000 and has accumulated a "rainy day" fund of over $2,000,000.

Makes Great Progress
Bureau of labor statistics—At no time since its establishment, in 1883 has the bureau been able to show greater progress; 33,801 labor law violations reported to and handled; wage complaints increased 29.8 per cent; complaints against private employment agencies 1873, an increase of 35.5 per cent; complaints of violation of eight-hour law 277, an increase of 31.8 per cent; during 1925-26 $388,163.85 unpaid wages collected, an increase of 90.6 per cent, resulting in a saving to workers of from $143,000 to $215,000 annually; number of criminal prosecutions started, 294, an increase of 26.7 per cent; additional offices established in Oakland, Stockton, San Jose, Long Beach, Santa Barbara and San Bernardino; state free employment bureaus filled 474,891 jobs, an increase of 37.4 per cent and a saving in fees to workers of $489,000 in two years.

160,000 Enjoy Benefits
Industrial welfare commission—Over 160,000 women and minor workers now enjoy benefits of the eight-hour and minimum wage laws; number of establishments employing women increased from 3244 to 5120 in four years; in 1919 only 19.1 per cent of women workers received a minimum wage of $16 per week, whereas the average now is 94.3 per cent; wages collected from July 1, 1924, to May 1, 1926, $13,000; for the same period, 3600 payroll and sanitary inspections were made; increased pay secured for overtime work, where such work is permitted; women working as extras in the moving picture industry protected.

Get 2277 Complaints
Immigration and housing—The complaint departments of the four offices maintained received 2277 immigrant complaints and 1854 applications in 1925; housing department rigidly enforced the state housing law, thereby securing a constructive program of housing relief; during 1925, the camp department made 1703 inspections of camps, housing 87,538 persons; due to splendid spirit of co-operation by employers, only three arrests were necessary during the year.

The report concludes with financial statements and detailed information concerning the activities of the four agencies represented and is signed by John A. McGilvray, industrial accident commission; Walter G. Mathewson, labor commissioner; Katherine Phillips, Edison industrial welfare commission; and George S. Hollis, commissioner of immigration and housing.

SIX INITIATED BY PARLOR OF NATIVE SONS

Santa Ana parlor, No. 265, Native Sons of the Golden West, initiated a class of six candidates and transacted considerable business at its meeting Wednesday evening.

Officers of Los Angeles parlor, No. 45, exemplified the ritualistic work and obligated the new members. The candidates were Tevis T. Westgate, William Cheney, Ernest Marks, Walter Ridgway, Sterling Price and Raymond Padias.

Visitors were present from Los Angeles, San Pedro and Long Beach. Ralph L. Harbison, of Los Angeles, chairman of the committee in charge of the barbecue, to be held in San Pedro, Sunday, pointed out that Native Sons from all parts of the Southland are expected to be present and urged that Santa Ana parlor send a large delegation.

It was arranged that Santa Ana men going to the affair should stop at the lodge room at 9 a. m. Sunday and pick up members who may want to go, but who do not have transportation.

The joint installation ceremonies at San Pedro on Saturday night, July 17, promise also to be a big event. It will be an open meeting and wives and sweethearts of parlor members will be present. A dance is to follow the ceremonies.

The local parlor decided to retain its present officers for six months at least. The parlor has been organized only three months.

Following adjournment, the Native Sons were entertained by vocal numbers by Miss Babe Daniels, Spanish dances by Miss Faustina Lucero, and interpretative dancing by Miss Helen Hull. Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the evening.

STAR MEMBERS IN PICNIC AT BEACH

According to members of Santa Ana chapter O. E. S., Tuesday's picnic at the Balboa Beach cottage of Mrs. Ada Walters was a very delightful affair. In honor of the occasion Mrs. Walters had transformed her home into a veritable flower garden throughout which were many Japanese lanterns and Eastern Star posters.

The afternoon was passed in playing cards and swimming, and in the evening a pot luck supper was served, to which the husbands of members were invited. Following the supper bridge was played and prizes were won by Mrs. Amelia Prather, Mrs. Rosa Meyers and Mrs. Rosa Smith for the women. Owing to a dearth of men in the party, some of the women played in the men's places, with the result that two of the men's prizes were won by women. Those receiving awards were Mrs. Florence Wright, Asa Hoffman and Mrs. Ellen Smith.

Although for most of the members of the chapter the day was just the annual picnic it proved to be a birthday party for Mrs. Jessie Overton.

CANDIDATES TO BE GUESTS AT DINNER

New candidates to be initiated into the Santa Ana chapter, Order of DeMolay, will be the guests of honor at a banquet to be held at 8:30 tomorrow night, in the dining room of the Y. M. C. A.

The banquet is the first held this year by the chapter and an attendance of over 50 is expected.

Degrees will be conferred on the candidates in the Masonic temple following the banquet. Sixteen members are to be initiated into the chapter.

Special arrangements have been made for the meeting, according to Virgil Reed, master counsellor. He said that this class is the largest that has been accepted into the chapter for two years.

The new officers, inaugurated at the last chapter meeting, will give the initiatory degree and the regular second degree team will present the DeMolay degree. A "third degree," to properly induce the new members, will be given, using some of the Sciots' apparatus.

At the business session Miss Vera Palmor, who has held two offices in the lodge, resigned both. The officers were correspondent and flag bearer. Chester Gross resigned as outer sentinel, as he expects to join the navy.

It was reported at this meeting that Mrs. Agnes Fussell, general organizer for this district, had been in an automobile wreck, with the result that her back was broken. Mrs. Fussell is in a San Diego hospital.

Besides the 21 guests from the Anaheim lodge, one was present from Orange circle, Riverside.

Around a pedestal on which was a large basket of flowers, tables were arranged in a square, with guests sitting on the outer side. Yellow and green, the association colors were used in decorations.

After luncheon all were invited to the assembly room where a surprise entertainment had been planned by the entertainment committee. Mr. Mann, a magician, offered numbers which were pleasing.

WHITSON GETS INSPECTORSHIP OF ROYAL ARCH

W. V. Whitson, a member of the Royal Arch Masons, has been appointed deputy inspector of district No. 73 by Grand Inspector B. B. Richards, of San Francisco. Mr. Whitson's term as high priest of the Royal Arch chapter in 1918 made him eligible to the appointment.

The duties of a deputy inspector consist of visiting each lodge in the district, which is composed of San Diego, Imperial and Orange counties, twice yearly. It is he who is responsible for the putting on of the work correctly as at the meetings the deputy inspector attends he is supposed to point out any inaccuracy of the officers in the lodge work.

At the same time, L. F. Harvey received an appointment as inspector for the eighth arch of the Royal and select chapter of Masons. His appointment came from W. L. ## SAVANTS STUDY INDIAN MOUNDS OF LOUISIANA

WASHINGTON, June 25.—Some time in the pre-historic past of central Louisiana, a tribe of Indians lived on the Red river near what is now Marchville, numerically strong enough to pile up breast-works two-thirds of a mile long and to build 20 mounds, the largest of which is flat on top, 12 feet high, and covers three acres of ground.

In an effort to discover who the builders were and what evidences of culture they left behind them, Gerald Powke, special archeologist of the bureau of American ethnology under the Smithsonian institution, has spent the past winter in excavating the mounds.

Mounds Prove Mystery
The mounds offer several elements of mystery and interest. In the first place, their structure varies in many respects from those built by the Natchez, Choctaw and other tribes to the east of the Mississippi and also is radically different from those of the Caddo Indians to the west. There seems to be an area about 35 miles broad into which neither of these groups penetrated. In the second place, they appear to be older than some other mounds of the Mississippi valley. They contain no evidences of contact with the white man—such as beads, iron utensils, etc., so that they probably antedated De Soto. Furthermore, the ground in which they lay is now cut up by ravines 20 to 40 feet deep and 500 wide, which represent long erosion that must have taken place since they were built.

Thirdly, they are very poor. This poverty, in conjunction with the poor quality of the surrounding soil, indicates that the builders had to devote all their working hours to the scratching of a bare living out of the soil. It is astonishing, that the populous community which seems essential to the completion of the tremendous task of building even one of the large mounds with the primitive tools they had, should have settled in that inhospitable area.

Excavate Six Mounds
Powke excavated six of the mounds from the largest to the smallest, but uncovered nothing but a few pipes and fragments of pottery. Some of these fragments are plain while others are elaborately decorated. They are to be studied as a possible indication of relationship with other tribes.

The largest two mounds contained the remains of many skeletons, but they were too far decayed for

NATIVE SONS AND DAUGHTERS HOLD BARBECUE

Spanish beans and barbecued meat composed part of the dinner served to approximately 450 persons present last night at the joint social meeting of the Santa Ana parlor of Native Sons and Daughters of the Golden West.

Native Sons were hosts to the Daughters and the large attendance indicated the interest in the two lodges, recently organized in this city.

Fred Avas had complete charge of barbecuing the meat and diners declared the cooked meat was par excellence. Assisting Avas in the general work of preparing and serving the dinner were John Wiley, Leonard Alcock, Alvin Selvidge, Sterling Price, A. W. Stanley, William Hagthorn, Louis Tillison, D. B. Allen, Raymond Marsile and Horace Fine. Cakes were provided by the Daughters.

The dinner was the full program of the evening, so far as this group was concerned. Z. B. West, president of the Native Sons, in an informal way expressed the pleasure afforded in entertaining the Daughters and A. V. Mayrhofer, organizer of the parlor, gave a few words of greetings.

Some of the members of the party accepted the courtesy of the First National bank employees and joined with them in dancing in the pavilion.

study, even the teeth having crumbled.

Several of the mounds had had houses on them, and two of the smaller mounds gave evidences of supporting houses at two and possibly three different periods. In addition there are eight lodge sites—circular excavations in the ground, each surrounded by a low embankment—which are particularly unusual for this area.

When the first white settlers came to the country, the site of the mounds was occupied by a small tribe of Avoyelle Indians, but it is not probable that they were in any way related to the builders. Who these builders were is a new mystery for American archeologists to solve.

BUILDS UP BIG BUSINESS WITH ASSOCIATED GASOLINE

Great Deal of Tourist Trade Is Handled in Little's Modern Station

J. B. Little, who operates the service station bearing his name at Fourth and Grand, decided to go into business for himself and selected his present location as showing splendid promise of future. Not satisfied with a new building, he added the most modern equipment, which includes two clear vision pumps.

Recently, the demands of his business made his presence necessary at the station at all times, so Little moved next door to his station.

Little's fondest dreams never pictured the future of his business as large as the volume he now enjoys. The heavy transient traffic on this street, combined with Santa Ana patrons, who find his location convenient, have kept him busy supplying their demands in gas and oil.

Little early saw the advantage to be gained in handling a gas that was popular with the public and so has featured Associated because he has found it to give satisfaction. Little said:

"I believe the Associated gas signs have brought many patrons to my place because Associated is universally known. I do not have to tell them what Associated gas is, because they know the product. It has contributed materially to the growth of my business because the first sale means repeat business."

WOMAN CON- QUERS FEARS

Husband Delighted and Home Happier

St. Paul, Minn.—"Here is a little advice I would like to have you put in the papers," Mrs. Jack Lorberter of 704 Dellwood Place wrote to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Company. "If young women want to keep their health and strength for the next thirty years of their lives, it is best to start taking the Compound myself and received fine results." In describing her condition before taking the Compound, she writes: "I was afraid in my own house in broad daylight, I used to lock the doors and pull down the shades so that nobody could see me." One day a booklet advertising the Vegetable Compound was left on her porch and she read it through. In so doing, she found a letter from a woman whose condition was similar to her own. "I bought the Vegetable Compound," Mrs. Lorberter continued, "and have had fine results. The condition was in me made me a burden to my husband. Now I ask, 'How is housekeeping?' and he says, 'It is just like being in Heaven!'"

MAN WOMEN ARE ACTIVE IN ELECTION WORK

WASHINGTON, June 25.—Recent primary campaigns and other political activities of the last few weeks have developed the place of women in politics.

Even to an extent greater than in the last residential campaign, women have organized their votes in states throughout the country that elect their representatives by district.

The development was strikingly illustrated in the recent Pennsylvania contest where all three candidates had separate women organizations with women workers in charge. Senator George Wharton Pepper, unsuccessful incumbent, claimed to have 8000 women at the polls as workers on election day in the city of Philadelphia alone. The feminine contingent of the other candidates was smaller in number but the effect of their presence was felt.

Engage in Hair Pulling
Interest among women at the polls ran so high that one quite prominent case was reported to Philadelphia police that a woman working in the interests of one of the senatorial candidates had been set upon by two women working for another candidate with disastrous results to the hair, face and eyes of the three partisans concerned.

Mrs. Clyde B. Atchison, president of the Political Study club, in a speech here recently, said: "Women are seeking facts on national issues, political questions and government policies. To this end they have organized study clubs, and converted the 'culture clubs' of yesterday into organizations dealing with problems which they must face at the polls."

Few Women in Congress
The United States is still behind some other nations in giving women places in congress. The German reichstag recently elected, gave 33 women posts out of a total membership of 493. The house of representatives here has 435 members and only three women.

The question of how a congresswoman should be addressed by her colleagues on the floor of the house is puzzling parliamentarians a little.

Some time ago Mrs. Julius Kahn, of California, made her maiden speech. She was recognized by Speaker Nick Longworth as "the gentlewoman from California."

Later when Mrs. John Jacob Rogers of Massachusetts, followed with her first effort, Representative Snell, acting as speaker pro tem, referred to Mrs. Rogers as "the lady from Massachusetts."

In the debate which followed she was referred to as "the gentlewoman" by Representative Dowell, of Iowa, but as "the lady" by Representatives Beggs, Ohio, and Blanton, Texas.

CRIMINAL SEIZURES TO BE GIVEN AWAY

SEATTLE, June 25.—Seattle is going to have its first "horror" for the homeless bazaar" this summer when it will give away gruesome and comical, costly and trashy exhibits remaining from 10 or 15 years of criminal and civil trials in King county courts.

Such things as the notorious Mahoney murder trunk will then finally serve some good purpose after all. This trunk is the last reminder of Seattle's greatest crime mystery, the water-worn and battered receptacle lifted from the oozy bed of Lake Union in 1920, with a woman's body therein.

There are airplane propellers in this property room, and fan-tan tables and bloodstained weapons of assault.

There is a suitcase, full of thousands of shares of defunct mining stock from Alaska. There never was a more varied collection of curiosities.

Grim and gruesome, moldy and bedraggled, these articles have served their purposes before many a forgotten jury. Now their lurid careers in court will be finally ended.

HONOLULU, June 25.—The sugar industry in Hawaii will employ less men and more and more machinery, in the opinion of Dr. Romanzo Adams, professor of economics of the University of Hawaii, who has just completed an interesting study on the future population of the islands.

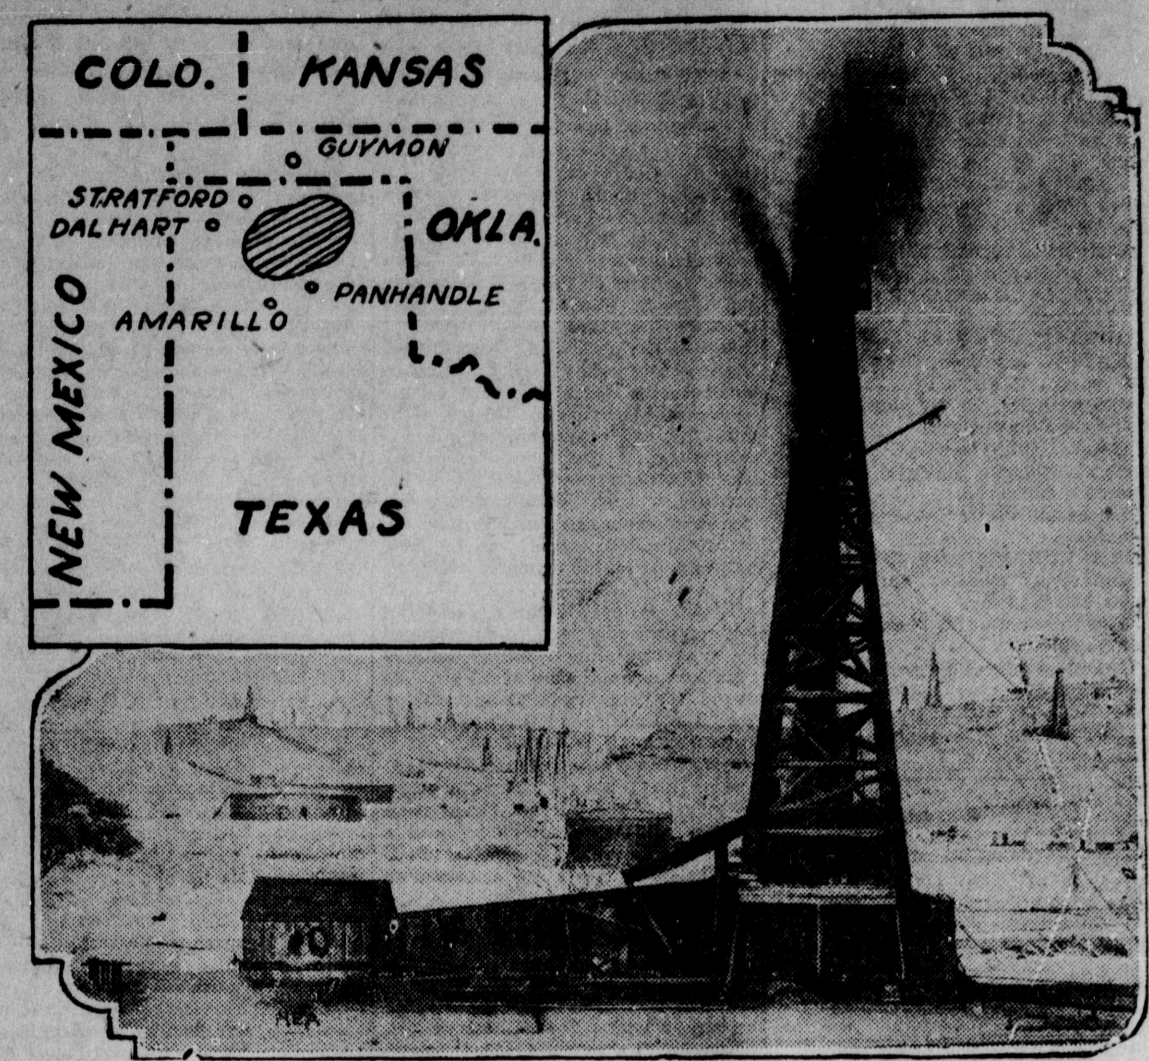

In past years, the sugar industry has played a large part in increasing the population. Dr. Adams says, but this point is now passed, and henceforth labor-saving machinery will play a large part in the manufacture of this commodity.

The pineapple industry still is subject to development and will have quite an important part in influencing population figures for some years to come.

Dr. Adams estimates that the population of Honolulu will be 160,000 in 1950. The present population is approximately 118,000. He does not think that tourists will increase the population to any great extent in the next 24 years, not, for instance, at nearly so high a rate as they have in Southern California.

FAST NEW PETROLEUM FIELD IN TEXAS PANHANDLE CALLED GREATEST IN WORLD

Shooting a new well in the great panhandle field. Note how the barren land is being dotted with derricks. Inset is a map, the shaded portion marking the location of the producing area.

AMARILLO, Texas, June 25.—The greatest oil field in the world!

That is the title that experienced oil men are conferring on the vast panhandle region of Texas, where black derricks are sprouting overnight like new corn in Iowa, and where one of the greatest booms in the history of the country is on in full blast.

The new oil field is undoubtedly the world's greatest as far as actual area is concerned. And astute operators like E. W. Marland, president of the Marland Oil company, are declaring that it is potentially the world's greatest field in oil production, as well.

The proven field is 30 miles long and 18 miles wide. This, in itself, is an area large enough to enclose the great fields of Texas like the Spindletop, Mexia and Ranger. But this proven field is surrounded by a much larger territory—100 miles long by 75 miles wide—in which new wells are being sunk by the score.

140 Producing Wells
There are upwards of 140 producing wells now in operation, with 250 more drilling and more than 50 locations announced. Wells are flowing in Hutchinson, Carson, Potter, Moore, Gray and Wheeler counties, and numerous wells are being drilled in Hartley, Oldham, Sherman and Hansford counties.

The Prairie Oil and Gas company apparently holds the largest acreage with holdings amounting to 425,000 acres.

The panhandle's boom came on with a rush, as booms do. Oil was first discovered in this section in 1921 by the Gulf Production company, but no one seemed to get very excited about it. Matters floated along, with a little sporadic drilling here and there, until about five months ago.

Then Lid Comes Off
Then, without warning, the lid came off. Operators began to discover that the sand underneath the almost barren cattle ranches was fairly saturated with oil. Towns sprang up, railways laid spurs and extension lines, and a great influx of men descended on the thinly-populated panhandle.

It was not so long ago that the geographers referred to this region as part of "the great American desert"—but now—

Boom towns are dotting the plain, towns of mushroom growth, frontier towns with a wild west, moving picture atmosphere. Operators, drillers, speculators, prospectors, gunmen, confidence men, gamblers, drifters—all are flocking in for their share of the liquid gold.

In total production this new field is already beginning to take first rank. It is now averaging 50,000 barrels a day and this output is steadily increasing. The oil is of the highest grade, rarely ranging below 40 specific gravity, which brings the highest price on the market.

Operators are Amazed
Operators are getting startling revelations as to the great extent of the new field. Offset wells in ordinary fields are sunk three or four hundred yards away; here the operators are laughingly accusing each other of sinking them two or three miles off. In most fields an extension by discovery, as it is called, of half a mile is hailed with delight; here an extension goes almost unnoticed unless it is a matter of four or five miles.

The city of Amarillo, on the edge of the field, is getting in on the boom, too. Its population has already jumped from 25,000 to 40,000 and each train brings more.

In addition to the oil wells, gas wells of uncommon productivity are being brought in. The Phillips Petroleum company, to cite one instance, is receiving 125,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily from its two plants.

Brazil President Urges Moving of Capital to Goyaz

RIO DE JANEIRO, June 25.—President Arthur Bernardes, after three and a half years at the head of the Brazilian government, is convinced of the necessity of removing the capital of Brazil from Rio de Janeiro to a district in the center of the State of Goyaz, which is geographically more centrally located.

In his last message to congress he again called the attention of the legislature to the provision of the federal constitution for removal of the federal capital to Goyaz, where a strip was marked off by the makers of the constitution for the future capital of the republic.

What the nation pays for the upkeep and development of natural beauties of Rio de Janeiro alone would be more than sufficient to meet all expenses connected with removing the capital to Goyaz, President Bernardes declared.

36 Tons of Text Books, Obsolete, Offered as Junk

SAN FRANCISCO, June 25.—Disposal of 36 tons of obsolete text and reference books in city schools was asked by David P. Hardy, deputy superintendent of schools, in a letter to Leonard Leavy, city purchasing agent.

Recent history has made this huge assortment of books obsolete. Hundreds of histories and geographies are no longer of value because the map of Europe has been twisted out of shape since the armistice.

Then the Volstead act, stepping in after the war, wrecked many works on civics, leaving stacks of volumes in storage that Hardy now wants sold as junk. Prohibition is such a live issue that the board of education considers any work on civics not carrying an account of it is obsolete.

POTOMAC SHAD IS CALIFORNIA FISH

SAN FRANCISCO, June 25.—They can make our laws in Washington, D. C., but they have to come to California for their "Potomac shad."

The far-famed fish that has helped make the nation's capital famous, and to which its chamber of commerce has dedicated an annual "shad-bake," is a myth—that is, so far as its origin is concerned.

This startling revelation is made by Henry O'Malley, U. S. commissioner in the bureau of fisheries, who declares that hundreds of tons of Sacramento river shad—born, raised and caught in the Sacramento river—are shipped east, and there christened as "Potomac shad" and sold as such.

Statistics were shown that last year 2,500,000 pounds of Sacramento river shad were shipped east and sold in the popular seafood restaurants of New York, Washington and other cities of the Atlantic seaboard.

"But we should worry about what they name our shad," declared the shad fishermen of the Sacramento, "just so long as we get their good money for it."

ACIDS IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION

Create Gas, Sourness and Pain
How to Treat

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestants are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any drugist a few ounces of Bismarck's Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bismarck's Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.—Adv.

Political Periscope

PERISCOPE IS FAILURE IN SIGHTING NEW CANDIDATES; FINDS ONE ABOUT TO RUN

A political periscope has been rather a useless implement of curiosity the past two weeks.

It hasn't located a single new candidate.

But its errands haven't been entirely useless. It has discovered a near-candidate and has watched the departure of another old war-horse from the race in which he has been regularly entered for these past 16 years.

And the periscope isn't likely to find anything new. At least, the wise ones who watch the wheels of politics roll around in this neck of the woods seem to think that there won't be much going in the way of new candidates, but there'll be plenty of hot trails followed by these candidates who do have opposition.

Sleeper Not Asleep

These days County Assessor James Sleeper is sitting at his desk busy making out all assessments. But he's all poised on the edge of his chair ready to jump.

No, not to "jump" all assessments though he has done quite a few millions in cash for the county along that line.

But to jump and run. He's all ready to jump and light on his feet a-running. Having this picture of the husky Jim all ready to set the pace, turn the periscope over toward the north end of the county.

The reason why the assessor sits on the edge of his chair is that various and sundry rumors have been wafted across the raging Santa Ana.

There came reports that efforts were being made to get out a candidate "from the north end." Yessir, it was whispered, there's a man up there who is going to tackle Jim Sleeper. Those who happen to know just how fast and wide Jim Sleeper can travel in a campaign for the office of county assessor were wondering who had been selected, if any.

Then the word drifted into the courthouse that the man who had been approached by somebody, names not disclosed, was—

But, first, it seems that Sleeper asked some of his friends around Anaheim and Fullerton who this mystery man might be.

They didn't know. They hadn't heard a word about any north-end-er coming out. "Don't believe a word of it," they advised Jim. But Jim kept on the edge of his chair.

Finally, a bit of news percolated. The name of the mystery man was—that is, his name is Mayor Harry Crooke, of Fullerton.

The periscope endeavored to locate the mayor of Fullerton yesterday, but Crooke was out of town. A man was located, however, who said he had talked to Crooke, and Crooke had told him that there had been some conversation with him about running for county assessor, but Crooke didn't say he had decided to run.

That's why Jim Sleeper, while working on all assessments, sits poised on the edge of his chair ready to jump and light a-running.

Long Service to End

It's a long road that has no ending, and that's true practically as well as geographically and topographically.

Once in awhile a man in office decides to bring his terms of office to an end. That's what our old friend Tom Talbert, for years chairman of the board of supervisors, decided to do.

His announcement that he would not be a candidate was not unexpected. In fact, failure on Talbert's part not to enter the race months ago was taken as evidence of his intentions to withdraw from the supervisors' of the second district.

One is prone to reverse the old periscope for a whole decade and a half. It finds Tom Talbert a big-hearted country boy, full of go and a capacity to make friends. He was just feeling his oats politically. George Moore was supervisor, and from that office he resigned in order to take the management of the celery growers' association. Celery, then at its peak, has since faded as a crop, but George Moore remains unfaded in his interest in politics.

There came one of the hottest fights old-timers in county politics know anything about. It was a fight for the endorsement of the Republican County Central committee to Governor Gillett for the appointment. Tom got it, and the appointment. A few years later came an episode in political history that was quite remarkable. S. J. Jackman had demanded that Talbert resign. A caravan of citizens trekked to Huntington Beach to declare their confidence in Talbert. Talbert didn't resign; he was re-elected and re-elected again after that.

A lot of things have been done for Orange county during Talbert's chairmanship—a lot of things. Good roads, all of them, the county hospital and poor farm, every bit of them, the Hall of Records, the jail, the county garage, the detention home, the commencement of work on the harbor—one could enumerate a lot of achievements of the county during Talbert's 16 years on the board.

That's about enough of history. Turn now to the present. There's a three-cornered race already in progress for supervisor of the second district. John C. Mitchell, Garden Grove walnut and orange grower, is out skimming the paved roads letting the people know he is a candidate. Sterling Price, Bolsa rancher, is giving a similar performance, and R. Leonard Obarr, Huntington Beach druggist, is giving a parallel exhibition. There's some talk that Charles P. Patton or W. L. McKenney, both of Huntington Beach, may run, but as time goes on the likelihood of entry by either appears to be dimming.

District Attorneyship

City Attorney Z. B. West Jr., of Santa Ana, tore headings into his campaign this past week. He rented some display space, got his picture in the paper, and let everybody know he was running. He says that from now until election

Women Urged to Prevent Raise In Food Prices

LONDON, June 25.—Mrs. C. S. Peel, chairman of the British housewives' association, says British women have it within their power to control food prices. She is urging a general get-together movement to check the alleged greediness of local dealers and improve market conditions generally.

"The homemakers of Great Britain can do much to keep food prices at a fair level," says Mrs. Peel. "If prices are too high the women can combine and keep away from dealers who are believed to be unfair. Women in America and Australia, and to a certain extent in Germany, have accomplished a lot in this way. Housewives have great power, especially since they got the ballot."

Clinton Innes has some explaining to do.

He has announced himself as a candidate for justice of the peace of Santa Ana township, which office Kenneth E. Morrison now holds and for which office he is a candidate, and for which office J. C. Metzgar is a candidate.

In his announcement Innes said he would carry out the "policies of the late Judge Cox with some modifications."

What are these modifications? Would he send them all to jail or turn them all out?

Jernigan Ready to Shoot

While J. C. Joplin, Horace Fine and James E. Livezey are doing a lot of campaigning, and while Dr. C. D. Ball is hot on S. C. Hartman's trail, and while the district attorney's fight is warming up, it seems to be conceded that there's more actual campaign work being done over the office of sheriff than over any other office. And, according to ancient traditions in this county, that's as it should be. The sheriff's race is always a humdinger. It wouldn't be right to let it drop into the inane class occupied by these county officers who get re-elected without opposition.

It was reported a day or two ago that Sheriff Sam Jernigan is arming himself with a shotgun full of statistics, and will fire them loose on the public one of these fine days for the purpose of killing off a report that his office has been extravagant.

ICELAND'S PREMIER DIES

COPENHAGEN, June 25.—Premier Magnusson, of Iceland, died yesterday at Nongfjord, according to dispatches received here.

Our Neighbors

COVINA—The Lions club of Covina will spend $2000 in publicity at the Lions convention at San Francisco the week of July 19 to 25, advertising that part of the San Gabriel valley adjacent to Covina, Puente, Baldwin Park, Azusa and Glendora by one of the cleverest stunts ever attempted by that section of Southern California. A handsome booth will be erected just inside the entrance where free orange juice will be served to approximately 25,000 delegates from every section of the United States and Canada, and at the same time this locality will be distributed. Eight young ladies from these cities in costumes combining the Lions' colors will serve the visitors with pure juice of oranges grown in local groves. A full carload of valencias has been purchased for this purpose. The California Fruit Growers' exchange will furnish the extractors and one of their employees will install them.

LONG BEACH—The grand total budget appropriation to be allowed by the city council for the maintenance and operation of all branches of the city government during the new fiscal year beginning July 1 amounts to $6,744,955.38. This represents a reduction of $689,604.51 over the budget appropriation adopted for the current fiscal year, which totaled $7,434,559.89, and a slash of $1,654,438.06 over the budget requests filed by department heads.

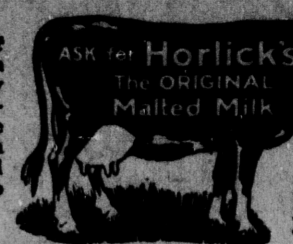

POMONA—Structural operations will commence at once at the site of the paper mills for the California Fruit Wrapping company, Inc., on the western outskirts of Pomona, it is announced by T. W. Stafford, building superintendent for the Union Iron Works, Los Angeles, which has the contract for the erection of the plant. The building permit for the structure, which was taken out two weeks ago, was for $48,000. Foundations for the main building, which is to be 200 feet in length and 40 feet in width, are practically completed and concrete now is being poured for the beater base, where the heaviest of the machinery will be set. This section is being heavily reinforced.

GLENDALE—The budget for the grammar, intermediate and kindergarten schools of Glendale for the fiscal year, as adopted by the board of education, calls for the expenditure of $40,555, of which the salaries of the teachers call for the biggest item, $411,655. Miscellaneous maintenance will cost $140,700 capital outlays and permanent improvements, $31,000; kindergarten salaries and other expenditures, $57,200. Starting with a balance of $75,185, the board will receive from the state and county, $326,481, and another $25,000 from other sources such as rentals, making a total of $426,666. The difference of $155,689 will be raised by special taxation for other than capital outlay and permanent improvement of the elementary schools.

ONTARIO—Farmers of the Ontario valley are now in the midst of harvesting one of the largest hay and grain crops that this section has produced in years, as a result of the timely and abundant rains of spring. Not only is the quantity much greater than usual, but the quality, in general, is said to be good. Predictions are that the yield this season will be double that of last year and some of the low lying sections in the Chino district are expected to run three tons of hay to the acre. Here, also is reported the heaviest grain crop since 1916. Calvin Delphy, horticultural commissioner, estimating it at about 20,000 tons. Ninety per cent of the grain in this vicinity is oats.

Williamsburg then had only about a thousand inhabitants, but was literally the capital of the New World. The governor's palace offered a touch of Old World court life—and there were the taverns, cock fights and horse races patronized by the Virginia gentlemen of the times. Often there were all-night parties.

DON'T HAVE TO LOOK HOT THIS SUMMER--CYNTHIA

BY CYNTHIA GREY

As summer advances, soap and water and laundry bills will assume higher importance in feminine minds. For summer is undoubtedly the dainty woman's greatest ordeal.

It threatens the cool precision of her toilet—with attacks upon the crispness of her collars, the waves of her hair, the velvet of her skin. If she is to combat it, she will need every device of science and ingenuity, in addition to unceasing vigilance.

The best of these is the simple cake of pure white soap and the tub of warm, scented water, followed by a cold shower. A daily bath in summer is absolutely essential. Many fastidious women demand two or three.

Choice of clothing has much to do with summer daintiness. The mode that demanded dark serge suits and silk dresses for street and office wear even on the warmest days, is passe now, along with many other unsanitary and stupid modes in dress.

The best taste cannot cavil at light clothing on the street, so long as it is plainly made and of suitable material. The most successful business dresses this year are of tub silk in many delightful stripes, repeating the colors of the band on the panama hat or the small felt cloche.

Dark silks that cannot be tubed are not only unhealthful and uncomfortable for the wearer, they are a crime against those who have to look at them. A perspiring, black-clad woman entering a street car can make the entire carfull of passengers feel warm and wearier.

But the woman who steps from her cold tub into freshly laundered lingerie and a simple, light tub silk dress, and dusts her powder on carefully and not too thickly, and who dispenses with excessive make-up which will smear as the day grows hotter, is a delight to the eyes of the passer-by.

Not only does she look dainty and cool—but she has a much better chance of feeling comfortable as well.

"I AM GLAD to recommend Cardui for the splendid way it has helped me," says Miss Essie Young, of Hickory, N. C. "My friends marvel at the change in my looks since I took a course of this medicine."

"I got much run-down. My nerves were all upset and my complexion was awful. My back ached badly at times. I felt like it was 'coming in two'. Sometimes my sides gave me a lot of trouble.

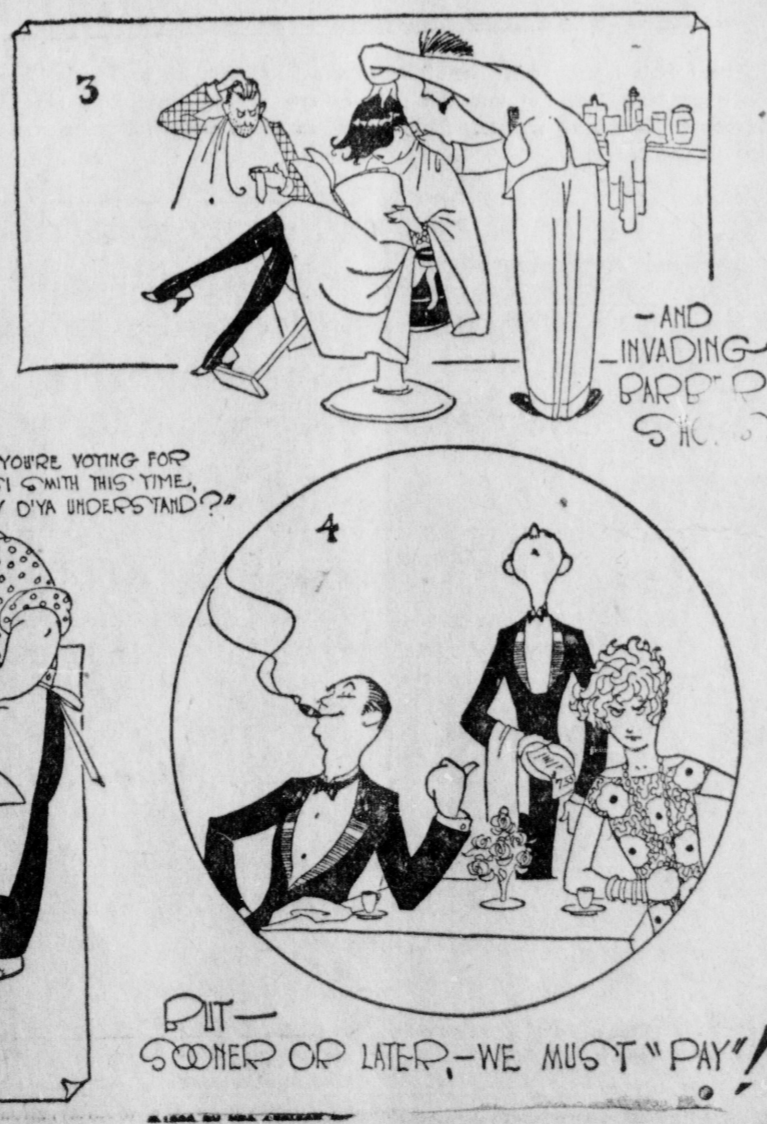

"I ordered some Cardul because I had read about what a reliable medicine it was. It helped me just as I hoped it would. After I had taken three bottles, my friends spoke about the change in my appearance. I did look better for I was better. My skin cleared up and I had a fresh natural color which was quite different from my former look. It was a pleasure to me to have people speak of the improvement in my appearance.

"The greatest thing Cardui did for me, though, was the way it strengthened my nerves. I was awfully nervous before I began taking it, but I soon got lots better. I have recommended Cardui to several of my friends and I shall continue to do so."

Cardui is a pure, wholesome tonic, made exclusively from vegetable ingredients, and contains no harmful, deleterious or habit-forming drugs. Sold by all druggists.

Maybe She Cooks This!
And the husky spouse will have a much surer chance of keeping her legs lord if, when the strocos blows its heated blasts, she makes a coolsome potion such as peanut brittle mousse. Said spouse must have 1 qt. whipped cream, 1 1-2 cups sugar, 1-2 box gelatine, 1 cup peanut brittle put through coarse knife of chopper, pinch of salt, 3 tsp. espresso hot water, 1 tablespoon vanilla, 1/2 tsp. almond, 1 teaspoonful vanilla extract. Fold sugar into whipped cream, then gelatine that has been soaked in cold water and dissolved in hot water, cool thoroughly. Fold in nuts, salt, and flavoring, pack in salt and ice four hours.

Senator William Borah is rumored as a presidential candidate for the drys. He slams the "light wine and beer" faction. Rumor has it that Mrs. Woodrow Wilson who has steadfastly refused permission to one and sundry to print the late president's letters is about to launch her own publication of the "lusty letters" of her client, the late Col. Woodrow Wilson, in the columns of the Col. House's reminiscences. Mrs. O. H. P. Mrs. Belmont said that she had been misled by her party from the International Woman Suffrage Alliance meeting in Paris.

Summer Tresses

The oily-haired maiden will like this new hair recipe rifled from the beauty recipe books of Helen of Troy—if not, it should have been. Helen—if not, she should have—had her Nubian slave girl beat two egg whites stiffly into which two drops of carbolic acid had been put. The potion is applied to the hair, not the scalp. I should remain on about five minutes, then be brushed out.

A Flapper Trick!
Flapper, Magdalena King-Hall, aged 19, daughter of Sir George King-Hall, admiral in the British Royal navy, is laughing up her crepe sleeves at the world these days. Miss Magdalena has revealed to a deluded universe that she is the Miss Cleone Knox of the Old County Down whose piquant diary of this supposed maid of 1776 was supposed to have been found and edited by a kinsman of hers. Must be nice to be a girl like Magdalena—she must have made a good many luscious pounds sterling by that hoax!

Summer Furs

Fur collars on sport travel coats are not so good as a real collar this year, says Dame Fashion, but narrow bandings running around the collar or down the full length of the coat, tuxedo collarwise, and in beige shades, are very chic. The fox fur remains the favored separate scarf.

Hint of Mystery

Very few women wear veils these days, but there is a new style being launched that may return them to favor—it is of thin lace, draped to fall just below the eyes, and pulled back over the crown of the hat.

Meet a chorus girl who doesn't dance or wear a negligible quantity of clothing! Mildred Jay is her name, but then she is cast in the role of a chorus girl in a quite serious play, "The Jazz Singer," which is the surprise success of the New York season. And so she has to act, rather than Charleston.

They crossed the ocean to attend the International Woman Suffrage Alliance convention, but were not admitted. Left to right, they are: Miss Mabel Vernon, Delaware; Mrs. Abbey Scott Baker, Washington, D. C.; Miss Doris Stevens, New York, and Mrs. John C. Martin, Pennsylvania.

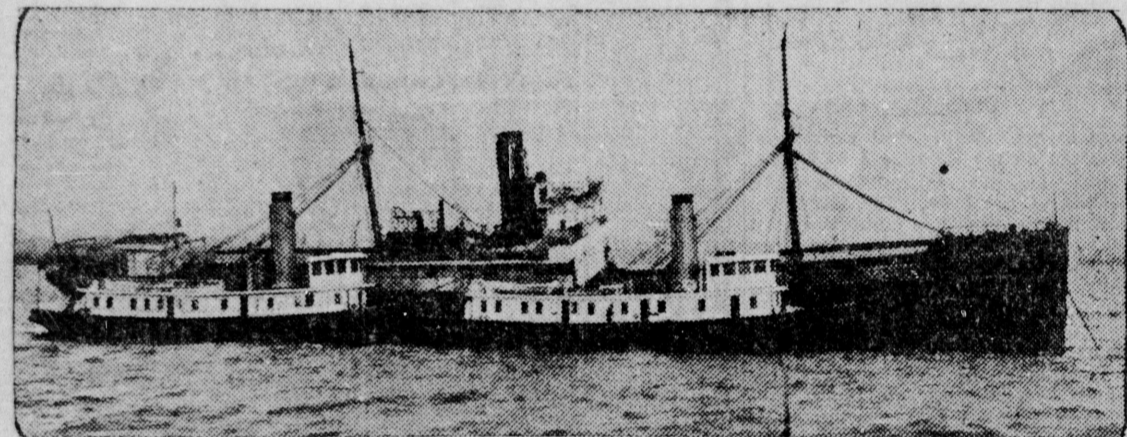

Miss Elinor Medill Patterson, who gained stage fame as the nun in a play, "The Miracle," has married Russell Sturgis Codman Jr., of Boston. She is the daughter of Joseph Medill Patterson, wealthy New York and Chicago publisher. Photo shows her in costume.

Here are 100 baby ducks and not a quack among 'em! They're quackless ducks, a variety said to be easier on the neighbors' ears and just as good to eat as the honkers. The picture was taken in Los Angeles when the ducklings were a week old.

John Knoblock (above), held in Burlington, Kas., as the murderer of his wife, bases his hope for acquittal largely on the two bloodhounds shown below. The bloodhounds, put on the trail of Mrs. Knoblock's slayer, went straight to the home of a negro and paid no attention to Knoblock. In addition, Knoblock's 4-year-old son, Roger, shown above, says he and his father were in town at the time of the murder. In a former trial, however, where the jury disagreed, the judge would not admit testimony about the bloodhounds or let the son take the stand.

With no officers or clearance papers, her crew royally drunk and $1,400,000 worth of liquor stored in her hold, the steamer Donnetta was found reeling along 60 miles out from Atlantic City, N. J., by the coast guard cutter Seneca. Photo shows the mystery ship listing as if drunk herself being towed to New York by the cutters Wissahickon and Calumet, while the crew on board riotously drink the health of the guardsmen in priceless champagne.

No wonder this Boy Scout smiles. He is Walker Zabriskie, Eagle Scout of the Santa Monica council, which is expected to become the richest scout organization in the world through oil drilling on property deeded to the organization.

Although the home of Ralph Lappin at Canton, O., was wrecked by a gas explosion and Lappin was blown from the bathroom into the street, neither he nor his wife and child, who fell from the second floor to the first, was seriously hurt. Note how the sides of the house were completely blown out.

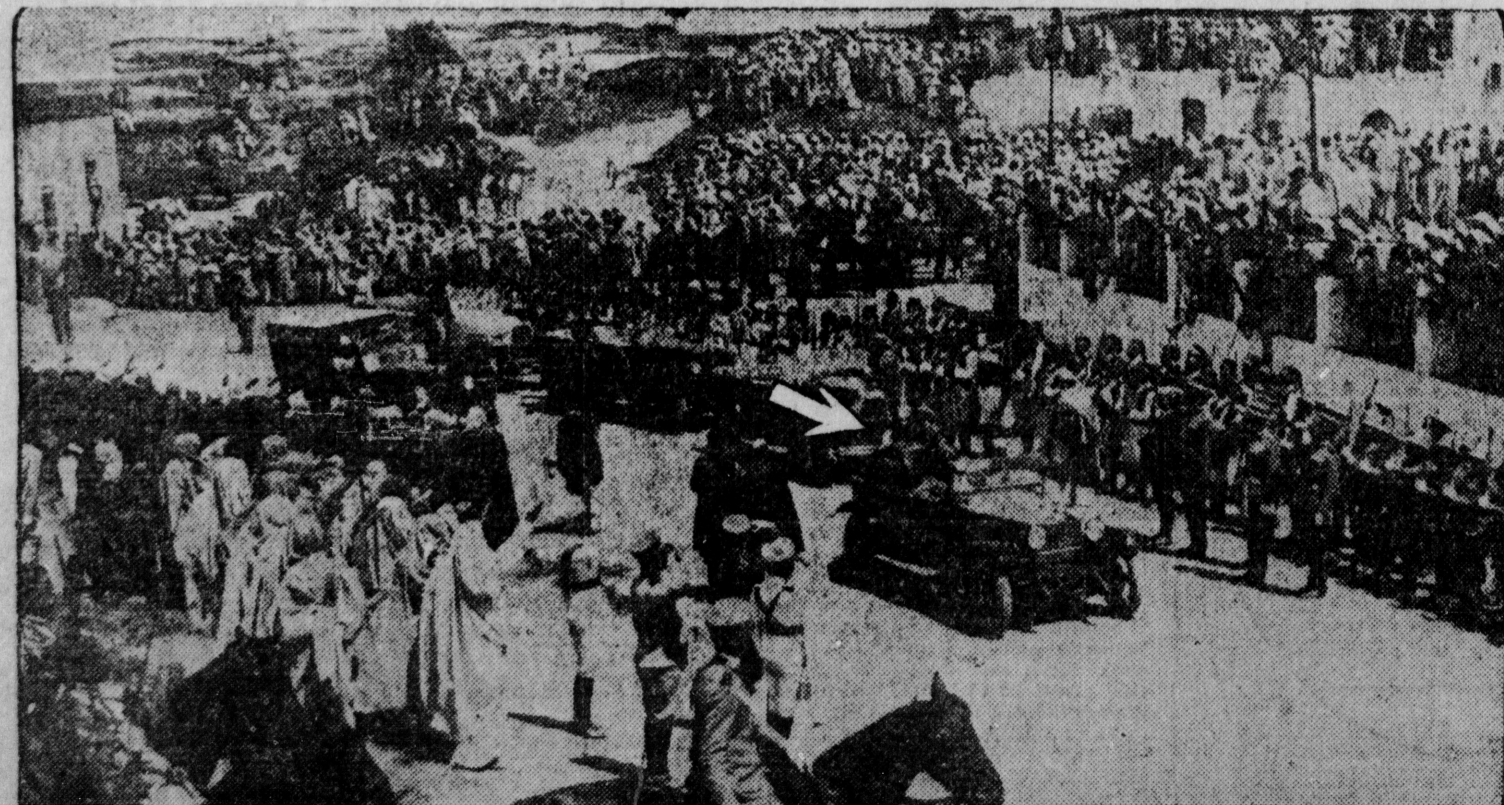

When the railroad, subway, tramcar and bus systems in England's capital were paralyzed by the general strike, the family auto came into its own. Photo shows jam along the Embankment as workers motored and walked to their offices. Note the eight lines of left hand traffic going and only one line coming, and not a bus in sight.

The traffic crush in Whitehall when the British strike broke shattered an age-old tradition. The Horse Guards on duty found it impossible to relieve one another with customary ceremony, owing to the unprecedented tangle of traffic. They stuck to their posts, for there was business to do, but they were mere chips in the current.

When Miss Alma Rosengran, of Lindsborg, Kas., went to Europe a few months ago on a pleasure trip, she unexpectedly met Anton Witek, Bohemian violinist and former concertmaster in the Boston Symphony orchestra, under whom she had formerly studied music. And now the two are married, spending their honeymoon in Czecho-Slovakia.

BOBBY JONES WINS BRITISH OPEN TOURNEY

BILLY EVANS
Says

"Our chances to win the American league pennant this year depend upon the condition of Fred Marberry's arm."

Clark Griffith, owner of the Washington club, was the speaker. The place was Tampa, Fla. I was sitting next to him in the grandstand, watching his team play the Boston Braves.

A rather unusual statement when you remember that Fred Marberry didn't work a full game for the Washington club last season. Incidentally he started only a few.

However, starting ball games isn't Fred Marberry's forte, nor is the working of nine innings his specialty. He features saving ball games.

Baseball records never do justice to a relief pitcher. The statistics show that Marberry won only eight games for Washington and lost six last season.

Delving farther into the dope, we find that Marberry took part in 55 games and was responsible for saving many of them after the veteran stars, Johnson, Rother and Coveleskie, faltered in the late innings.

"Had Manager Harris been able to call upon Marberry in the final game of the world series, we would never have lost it," continued Griffith. "Imagine how hard it would have been to hit his blinding speed that dark afternoon, but he had a bad arm; hurt it in the third game."

While we were discussing Marberry, he began to warm up as Fitcher Alex Ferguson started to waver. He looked great, showed me his old-time fast ball. There was also an ease to his delivery that made it seem as though his pitching arm had recovered its strength.

A pitcher with a sore arm invariably affects some mannerisms that are not a part of his regular delivery.

The moment Marberry started to work in the exhibition games against the Braves his delivery lost its smoothness. He began favoring the arm and was batted hard. It wasn't a very auspicious debut; neither was it encouraging to Owner Griffith, who placed so much dependence in him.

"The arm is O. K.," said Trainer Mike Martin. "Fred still lacks confidence in it, still believes it is sore. Notice how differently he pitched in practice and in the game."

With the first two months of the American league race out of the way, it is apparent that Fred Marberry's arm is right again.

During that period he has several times been rushed to the re-

An exhibition of trick and fancy shots as well as two 300-point 18.2 ballline contests will be included in the program to be presented at the Valencia billiard parlors here Monday by Erich Hagenlacher, world's billiard champion, and Welker Cochran, Hollywood contender, it was announced today. ## MICKEY WALKER IS KAYOED BY DUNDEE

NEW YORK, June 25.—Mickey Walker's days of boxing glory are gone. The sturdy Irishman with a fighting heart has been pushed several more rungs down the welterweight ladder by Joe Dundee, the Baltimore Italian who started life with less imposing name of Samuel Lazarro. Dundee scored a technical knock-out over the ex-champion last night in Madison Square Garden when Referee Eddie Forbes stopped the bout after two minutes and 53 seconds of fighting in the eighth round.

Doc Crandall Day In L. A. Saturday

LOS ANGELES, June 25.—Crandall Day will be observed at Wrigley field tomorrow. The veteran Los Angeles pitcher, Otis ("Doc") Crandall will be honored for his effective work during 11 years service in the Pacific Coast league.

In some points of the game, Hagenlacher excels all. His spread draw is considered wonderful by billiard experts, as well as his judgment of distance and landing on the second ball. His masse play is good, though not as spectacular as other champions, and he can "nurse" nearly as well with his left hand as his right. His open play is very strong.

With his basic ability and knowledge of the game, together with his recently acquired confidence in his ability, there are many who state that Hagenlacher bids fair to retain his present laurels for some time to come. Confidence is one of the main elements of any kind of a game and is especially necessary in the fine science of billiards. Lack of it has kept many in the background and for all times has kept others down until they acquired it. Such players as Hagenlacher and Horemans, of Belgium, are samples of this later type; each possessed the ability of others more successful in the game but in recent years they have acquired this confidence and both will be dreading in future tournament matches.

ATLANTA YOUTH WINS AGAIN

Atlanta triumphed again today when Bobby Jones, young Atlanta amateur, won the British Open Golf tournament. Americans also finished in the next three places, Al Watrous landing second and Walter Hagen and George Von Elm tying for third. Jones shot the 72 holes in 291, two strokes better than Watrous.

BLAUERS GIVEN SCARE BUT WIN FROM MILKMEN

"Tex" Bergman and his Excelsior Creamery company team waged a gallant fight against odds at Lincoln park last night and almost succeeded in battling the F. C. Blauer Grocers out of a tie for first place in the Santa Ana Indoor Baseball league. Playing short-handed, the Milk-Dispensers overcame the Grocers' early lead, tied the score after two were away in the ninth only to lose the issue, 4 to 3, in the last half of the final spasm.

Everett Lutz, the Blauer second sacker, was the real hero of the contest for it was his circus catch of Babcock's almost certain pop single in short center that prevented the Excelsiors from winning the affray during their rally in the ninth. Scott, whose rousing double to left had scored Jiles with the tying counter in this canto, would have scored on this had Lutz not made his sensational catch.

The Grocers got two of their four tallies in the first inning. Snow and Jerome led off with singles and they both advanced a notch on a wild pitch. Cole flied to center. Snow scoring after the catch and E. Lutz flied to left. Jerome going home after Jiles bagged the drive.

Jiles brought in the Excelsiors' initial marker in the third. He drew a pass, advanced to second and third on wild pitches and streaked home when Babcock singled. The Excelsiors tied the score in the fifth. Scott's double scoring Bergman who had walked. The Blauers took the lead again in their half of the same frame. J. Lutz, Smith and West singled to fill the bags with nobody out. Middlebrook whiffed. Wilcox singled to score J. Lutz and leave the bags choked. Bergman then settled down and fanned Snow and retired Jerome at first to end the rally.

Thus, at 3 to 2, the score stood until the ninth. With two down, the fans already were beginning to leave when Jiles drew a life on Smith's error and scored from first on "Pee-wee" Scott's two-bagger to the telephone pole in left field. Lutz then made his great catch off Babcock's smash to halt further proceedings.

The Grocers ended it in their half of the final chapter. Johnny Lutz singled to right and by smart base-running went clear to third while the ball's trademark was being examined by the Excelsior outfielders. Smith beat out an infield tap to Scott, Lutz holding third. A single past third brought Lutz home with the winning marker.

WATROUS 2ND; VON ELM AND HAGEN THIRD

Atlanta Amateur Captures Overseas Golf Classic With 291 for 72 Holes

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
ST. ANNE'S ON THE SEA, England, June 25.—Bobby Jones, greatest of all American amateur golfers, today captured the British Open tournament.

In three days' play over the tricky Litman and St. Anne's course, Jones had a record score of 291 strokes for the 72 holes.

Al Watrous, American professional, was second with 93 and Walter Hagen and George Von Elm were tied for third with 285.

21 Jones wore Watrous down in the last nine holes. His winning, then depended upon the performance of Hagen. The latter required 78 strokes for his final round, however, and Bobby took the championship.

Refuses to Break. Although the victor was in difficulty on many holes in today's rounds, he failed to break. His putting was ragged at times and he found himself in several bunkers, but he refused to be discouraged.

It was Watrous who finally gave way to his nerves. Jones' victory in the open tournament completed the most successful invasion American golfers have ever made.

The British Amateur championship was won for the first time by a native born American when Jess Swetsen of New York captured the trophy at Muirfield.

In the Walker cup matches for amateur team play at St. Andrew's, Americans were again victorious, winning six matches, tying one and losing five.

Trouble on Greens. In the final 18 today Jones continued to experience trouble on the greens. He drove and pitched well but at times missed comparatively easy putts. Occasionally he turned to his caddy with an exasperated "I can't get 'em in." ....

The final scores of the leading golfers in the British open tournament, together with their 54 hole totals and last 18 holes, follow:

J. H. Taylor (British)—304.
Jose Jurado (Argentina)—303.
W. W. Methuen (U. S.)—303.
Freddie McLeod (U. S.)—301.

Yesterday's hero—"Bib" Falk, Chicago left fielder, whose batting, including a home run with two on helped his mates to a 9 to 6 victory over Cleveland.

The Giants set down the Philmas in a double header 12 to 7 and 7 to 2. New York made 29 hits in the two games.

The Red Sox nosed out the Yankees in the slavers, 9 to 5 on a freak single by Todd.

Washington captured two games from the Athletics 6 to 6 and 8 to 1. The second was called by rain at the end of the fifth. The Senators made a triple play in the nightcap.

The Pirates and St. Louis battled to a 3-3 tie in a game which was called at the end of the ninth to allow the Pittsburgh players to catch a train.

SUZANNE MAY QUIT TOURNEY AT WIMBLEDON

By CLIFFORD L. DAY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
WIMBLEDON, England, June 25.—Suzanne Lenglen will appear on the courts today but may withdraw from this tournament tomorrow, she told the United Press after an interview with her physician at noon.

After yesterday's doubles defeat of Lenglen and "Diddy" Vlasto by Mary K. Browne and Elizabeth Ryan, Suzanne's friends said the champion's health was bad and that she probably would not play today. The physician today told Mlle. Lenglen he thought she was able to play but that after today she should have several days of rest and in no event participate in strenuous matches. The diagnosis was rheumatism complicated by a cold.

Tennis enthusiasts are eager to see a match between Elizabeth Ryan and Suzanne.

Mrs. Marion Zinderstein Jessup, an American, was defeated today in the second round of the women's singles by Mlle. H. Contoslavos of Greece, 2-6, 6-4, 6-4.

Mme. E. D'Alvarez, the Spanish champion, defeated Miss E. D. Holman 6-4, 3-6, 6-2.

Mlle. Didi Vlasto beat Miss Colyer of England 6-4, 7-5.

The Duke of York was eliminated from doubles competition when he and wing commander Louis Grieg were defeated in the first round by A. W. Gore and H. Roper Barrett 6-1, 6-3, 6-2.

The Harvard freshman crew defeated the Yale freshmen in the two mile race, the first event of the day, winning by two lengths in 11 minutes flat. For Yale, her showing was a moral victory, however, for her crew contained six men who 10 days ago were summoned from their vacations to fill places in the shell left vacant when six regulars were suspended.

Then, an hour later, the Harvard junior varsity, over the same course, rowed to another victory over the Yale juniors in 10:43 3/5.

The main event of the day—the varsity race—will be rowed this evening.

"I regard 'Chief' Bender as the smartest pitcher I have ever seen in action during my major league career."

That is the compliment Manager Eddie Collins of the Chicago White Sox pays the big Indian.

"I played with Bender on the Philadelphia Athletics when he was in his prime. I never saw him make a dumb move."

Having such an opinion of Bender, it was only natural that Collins should sign him as coach when he assumed the management of the Chicago club.

In his first season as assistant to the White Sox leader, Bender has already proved his worth. Collins gives him all the credit for the remarkable progress made by the two Teds, Lyons and Blakenship.

He of some pitcher in the late innings with Washington holding a slight lead.

In every instance there have been one or more runners on the bases and in those cases a base hit would have changed the complexion of the ball game. And Marberry has more than held his own.

So, if you are willing to take the word of so wise a head as Clark Griffith, the return to form of Marberry means another pennant for Washington despite the present standing of the Nats in the chase.

TOD MORGAN LOSES BUT RETAINS TITLE

BOSTON, June 25.—Tod Morgan, world's junior lightweight champion, lost a decision to Babe Herman here last night in a 10 round bout in which the title was not at stake. Both fighters are from California.

Neither fighter was winded by the milling, in which Herman plugged rights and lefts to the jaw while Morgan depended largely on left jabs.

Kills Huge Fish With Stout Club

RHINELANDER, Wis., June 25.—Charles Wagner, of Eagle River, killed a huge muskellunge in Little St. Germaine lake. The fish, which measured over four feet, was discovered by Wagner floundering near shore in an apparently exhausted condition. Seizing a stout club, Wagner leaped into the water and swimming out to the fish ended its struggles with a blow on the head.

DRAW POKER U. S. SENATE'S DEBATE THEME

By C. B. DODDS
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 25.—The old-fashioned game of draw poker occupied the senate's attention during the debate on the proposal to amend the rules as outlined by Vice President Dawes, and "the greatest deliberative body in the world," decided that "deuces wild" was not poker and that the old rules as laid down by Hoyle are the best.

The senate had the most fun it has had for a long while, delving into poetry, supreme court decisions and the morality of poker playing. Senator Shortridge pointed out that the supreme court of Kentucky has decided that poker is not a game of chance, but purely a scientific undertaking.

Senator Underwood regretted he did not know much about poker, saying his ignorance on the subject had been forcibly illustrated to him. Whereupon Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, quoted the couplet:

"Where ignorance is bliss
'Tis folly to be wise."

The Alabama senator gave evidence of his lack of knowledge in the game by stating that a straight flush was the highest hand available. Several senators corrected him instantly, showing their own personal familiarity by shouting, "No, a royal flush."

Through a protest filed by Representative Albert Johnson, of Tacoma, the treasury department has discontinued its ruling proving that each imported fish hook should be "die sunk" with the name of the country of origin.

The order applies only to small fish hooks. Large hooks must still be "die sunk" or tagged under the provisions of the tariff act.

Information on the change in the department's attitude was contained in a letter received by Johnson from General Andrews, assistant secretary of the treasury, in charge of the customs division in which he said:

"After the promulgation of the said ruling, evidence was submitted to the department that to mark fish hooks by die sinking would, in many cases, weaken the hooks as to cause them to break resulting in the loss of both hooks and fish. Furthermore, it was represented that tagging individual hooks would greatly increase their cost and would thus be a handicap on the ultimate purchaser.

"After a careful consideration of the question, therefore, the department modified the former ruling and held that only very large fish hooks such as shark, tarpon, tuna and gaff hooks, which can be die sunk without injury, should be required to be individually marked, and that other plain fish hooks should be marked only on the boxes or other containers in which they are packed.

"Snelled hooks, fishing flies, artificial lures and leaders (not including the ordinary looped gut for use in the manufacture of snelled hooks) are required to be individually tagged to indicate the country of origin.

San Francisco led the ports of the Pacific coast in exports and imports of dry cargo to and from the east coast of the United States and the gulf district by a handsome margin, according to official shipping board figures.

These figures are for the entire year 1925, and also for the last three months of 1925.

San Francisco's record for the year exclusive of oil, was in round numbers, 1,390,000 cargo tons. Los Angeles was second with approximately 1,000,000 cargo tons, and Seattle was third with approximately 600,000 tons.

A substantial growth in the imports and exports of the Pacific coast ports to both American and foreign ports is recorded by the shipping board during last year. The peak was reached in December, when 1,043,000 cargo tons passed through the Pacific coast harbors. Nearly every month in 1925 showed an increase over the previous month, with a few exceptions. The same figures show that San Francisco is maintaining supremacy as the Pacific port for passenger embarkation to foreign ports. The total number of passengers to and from foreign ports passing through San Francisco last year amounted to 31,250. Seattle is second in the list with 11,533 and Los Angeles third, with 3,293.

The first business-like machinery for settling claims against the government and making it unnecessary for the small claimant to appeal to his senator or congressman in order to get justice by having a private bill passed through congress is provided for in a bill just passed by the house and sent to the senate. It is expected to become a law at this session because it is similar in scope to a bill already passed by the senate and it is believed the differences can be ironed out in conference.

The house bill, which is the one most favored, provides that property damage claims not exceeding $5000 would be settled by the head of the federal department in which they originate.

Personal injury or death claims not exceeding $5000 will be referred to the employees' compensation commission, which has machinery for investigation and the determination of the amount of physical damage done.

The U. S. district courts and the U. S. court of claims would have concurrent jurisdiction on property claims between $5,000 and $10,000 and the latter court would have exclusive jurisdiction in claims in excess of $10,000.

With the machinery provided in this bill set into motion, the small claimant should have a settlement within a reasonably short time, whereas now it almost invariably takes years.

Lack of a quorum prevented action on the Pittman silver purchase bill when it came up during the night session on the unobstructed calendar. The bill has been on the calendar since February 24. The bill directs the secretary of the treasury to complete purchases of silver under the Pittman act of 1918, and as amended in the committee, provides that the silver thus purchased shall be coined into standard silver dollars.

Efforts of friends of the bill to obtain a quorum were fruitless so that, when the point was raised, it was necessary to let the bill go over for further consideration at some future time.

The silver miners of California, Nevada and Colorado are particularly interested in this bill, as it specifies that nearly 15,000,000 ounces of fine silver shall be purchased at $1 an ounce.

The California birth rate for 1925 was lower than in 1924 and the death rate was higher, according to a statement put out by the bureau of the census. The birth rate in 1925 was 22.2 per thousand population and for 1924 it was 20.4. Death rate in 1924 was 67.1 per thousand population while in 1925 it was 68.7.

The California birth rates were .8 per thousand less than the general average throughout the country, last year and the death rate was 2.8 less than the general average.

San Bernardino had the highest birth rate last year of any California city, being credited with the record of 38.5 births per thousand of population. The lowest death rate in the state was credited to Glendale, with 40.07 per thousand. San Bernardino's birth rate is about 17 per thousand over the country's general average and Glendale's death rate is about 31 per thousand less than the general average throughout the country.

The state's lowest birth rate was found in Venice, where only 8.6 births per thousand were reported. Vallejo was a close second, with only 8.8 births per thousand. Riverside had the highest death rate last year, of 92.2 per thousand.

San Francisco was a healthier place to live last year than Los Angeles, inasmuch as the death rate in San Francisco was 55.5 per thousand, compared to 66.7 at Los Angeles.

WAR VETERANS IN EFFORT TO BEAT GOVERNOR

SAN FRANCISCO, June 25.—

Forecasting a determined drive to be made by California war veterans to prevent the re-election of Gov. Friend W. Richardson, the text of an anti-Richardson resolution adopted at the recent convention of the United Veterans of the Republic was made public here.

The United Veterans, 7000 strong in the state, who have endorsed the candidacy of C. C. Young for governor, charge that Richardson is not in sympathy with veterans' legislation. They point out that he vetoed every bill of interest to the ex-servicemen passed by the 1925 legislature.

The action of the United Veterans recalls the incident which occurred at the American Legion convention at Catalina Island when the veterans sang "Out the Window He Must Go" after a telegram from Richardson had been read.

The resolution adopted by the veterans follows:

"Whereas, the United Veterans of the Republic are vitally interested in all legislation affecting the welfare of veterans of all wars resident in California, and

"Whereas, the legislature of California at its 1925 session passed twelve different measures for the benefit and welfare of the veterans of California, and

"Whereas, the present governor of California vetoed each and every one of those legislative acts thereby depriving the veterans of this state of the many benefits intended by our state legislature, and

"Whereas, he is again a candidate for this high office, now, therefore, be it

"Resolved by the United Veterans of the Republic, Department of California, in convention assembled, that the United Veterans of the Republic recommend to all veterans and all veteran and patriotic organizations of California that they exert every influence to defeat Governor Richardson at the forthcoming primary election, on account of his attitude towards veterans and legislation in behalf of veterans."

Whiten Skin with Lemon

The only harmless way to bleach the skin white is to mix the juice of two lemons with three ounces of three per cent. Hydrogen Peroxide, which any druggist will supply for a few cents. Shake well in a bottle, and you have a whole quart of the most wonderful skin whitener, softener and beautifier.

Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon bleach into the face, neck, arms and hands. It can not irritate. Famous stage beauties use it to bring that clear, youthful skin and rosy-white complexion; also as a freckle, sunburn and tan bleach. You must mix this remarkable lotion yourself. It can not be bought ready to use because it acts best immediately after it is prepared.—Adv.

State Distributes Mosquito Enemies

SACRAMENTO, June 25. — The California state board of health has begun distribution of many thousand and sportive young fish of the species gambusia affinis, with a view, secondary to the prime motive, which is health protection, of making the world a better place for the angler.

The gambusia affinis wars on mosquitoes, those strategists of malarial and other diseases whose organized effort an ordinary fisherman has little chance of any. They are being sent out to anyone who will take them and who can provide them with the water necessary for subsistence. The species is hardy, a fact undisturbable in the face of the fact that they eat mosquito eggs. They multiply almost as rapidly as the mosquitoes they harass. The average brood is 40 to 60, and there are six to eight broods a season. They enter the world in a high state of development.

BUG RAISING NEW RANCH ENTERPRISE

UPLAND, Calif., June 25.—John D. Howe, prominent citrus rancher here, has unwittingly gone into the business of raising bugs. The accidental success of the venture at the outset has led him to put it on a purely commercial basis. At one cent per cryptulamus, or bug, the orchardist believes he will reap enormous profit.

Millions of insects, which Howe discovered overloading two of his South Sea Island pine trees, planted in the early '80s, proved on investigation to be members of the cryptulamus family, the only known successful combatant of the mealy bugs, which perform havoc in many orchards.

The same bugs are purchased by growers from the government at a cost of about one cent each. It was learned. Howe's crop is estimated at 10,000,000, and he has not yet turned a hand at cultivating them.

NEW TYPE TRADE SCHOOL OPENED

CLEVELAND, O., June 25.—A trade school, the first of its kind operated by a board of education, will be opened here next fall to fusion in conjunction with labor unions and employers, and with the co-operation of the Cleveland board of education.

The new trade school, the result of a conference between school authorities, the chamber of commerce, employers and union leaders, was announced by Howard L. Briggs, director of vocational training of the board of education.

Courses in the building trades, auto mechanics and machinists' trades already have been outlined in the curriculum. Pupils will spend four hours a week in school, for which time they will be paid by their employers at the regular rate of pay, the remainder of the time to be put in "on the job."

Labor unions have agreed to accept diplomas of the school and will receive graduates into full standing in the respective unions.

CORONA DEL MAR

CORONA DEL MAR, June 25.—Grading of the streets of Corona del Mar has started in the northwestern section of the tract.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Rhinehart left last week for Ohio, their native state. The Rhineharts had been living in this locality for about six months.

Dr. Ross Allen Harris and daughter, of Los Angeles, were recent visitors to the Harris summer home here.

Recent visitors to the Palisades club were Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Bryce and Miss Marion W. Bryce, of Pittsburgh, Pa.; Fred Darling, of Los Angeles; Charles B. Baker, of Riverside; Joe C. Mills Jr. and Eulalia Miller, of San Pedro; W. J. Buxton, of Hollywood; Miss Mona Keith, of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey Biggs, Robert Jacob and Bessie Jacob, of Pasadena; Mrs. Dalzell Wilson and Bryce Wilson, of Altadena, and Mrs. G. N. Dalrymple, of Alhambra.

Lloyd Hamilton and Lew Cody motion picture stars, are stopping for a short time at the club.

Mr. and Mrs. I. V. Mansur and children, of Orange, were recent visitors here.

Mrs. J. R. Schofield and son, of Buena Park, spent the past Saturday and Sunday in the Schofield cottage.

Mrs. Anna Duguey, of Pasadena, spent a week in her cottage here. She expects to spend considerable time in this locality this summer.

T. Conboy and family, formerly of Arizona, will occupy J. R. Tai's cottage for an indefinite length of time. Mr. Conboy is employed on the street work being done in this locality.

Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Douglass, of Los Angeles, visited Mrs. Douglass' sister, Mrs. Harry Alger, over the past week end.

Miss May Vertrees, of Huntington Park, made a brief visit to her cottage here this week.

BRITISH STRIKE LEAVES LABOR UNIONS WEAKER

LONDON, June 25.—The weeks which have elapsed since the ending of the general strike have served to reveal with unmistakable clarity the damage done to the trade union movement by the collapse of its demonstration on behalf of the miners.

There are no signs of diminishing activities on the part of labor leaders, but it is plain that the unions have and will suffer severely through the disaffection of members who either disapproved of the strike in the first place, or who have lost confidence in the Trade Union council because of its surrender to the government.

Bitter Lesson
Between these two extremes are the great mass of trade unionists, who have learned a bitter lesson from the strike and who now understand why its failure was predestined and inevitable. The average British worker has no revolutionary notions, and had no stomach for the general strike in the beginning, though he sympathized with the miners and would have liked to do something to help them.

Returned to his job after the strike ended, he was forced to admit formally that by striking he had committed an illegal act, and he went back with the understanding that the company and not his union would have the say-so as to his future employment and the kind of work he would do. He finds now that the strike so disrupted industry and transportation that he is lucky to have a job at all and that he cannot make as much money as he did before the last of May.

He has no illusions left about the power of labor as now organized, because he has seen, and he and his family have felt, the effects of the failure of its greatest demonstration. He is in a much worse position now than he was before the general strike started, and, being fully conscious of that fact, has a grievance against the leaders who flung him into battle in a hopeless cause.

To keep these men in line and to keep their forces intact will give trade union leaders and officials plenty of time for months to come. In the meantime, they are treading softly and thanking their lucky stars that they have gotten out with whole skins. Among members of the Trade Union council there has been much wrangling and heated argument as to who was responsible for the collapse of the strike, and it is possible that the feeling that has been thus aroused will culminate in the resignation of one or more of the labor chiefs.

Thomas' Threat
J. H. Thomas, leader of the railwaymen, threatened to resign while the general strike was still in progress, and if he finds it impossible to carry through some of his reorganization plans he may divorce himself from the council, taking with him the support of the wealthiest union of the country.

There is also bad blood between the T. U. C. and the Miners' federation because the T. U. C. called off the general strike without the approval of the Miners' officials.

Herbert Smith and Arthur Cook. It has been stated authoritatively that the capitulation of the T. U. C. followed close upon the arrival at their headquarters of an authentic report that the strike leaders were to be arrested under the government's emergency powers. That such a move against the T. U. C. officials had been contemplated by the government was known to newspaper correspondents, and there is no reason why the labor leaders should not have found it out, too.

Offer Explanation
The explanation they gave, however, for concluding the strike was that they had received unofficial but authoritative assurances that the wage reduction notices were to be taken down by the coal operators so that the miners could return to work forthwith. It is possible that the council honestly believed that they had brought the strike to a point where they could end the coal stoppage and open the way for the resumption of wage negotiations between the miners, the mine owners and the government.

But nothing happened. The miners would have nothing to do with the proposals of Sir Herbert Samuel for the reopening of negotiations, because the reduction of the wages of some of the higher paid men was contemplated. In the same breath they cried out against the Trade Union council for letting them down, and made it plain that, as far as the coal stoppage was concerned, the situation remained just the same as it was on May 1 before the general strike started.

It thus became clear to trade unionists in general and to the idle miners, many of them approaching starvation, that the general strike had not only failed to achieve anything at all, but that it had made the position of the miners worse instead of better.

IN AGAIN AND OUT AGAIN FOR CHINA'S RULERS

PEKING, June 25.—The so-called Chinese republic has experienced 15 distinct phases of government in its hectic career of 14 years, ending with the present period, where no semblance of government exists.

Ten individuals have functioned as heads of state or chiefs of governing cabinets during that time.

Sun Yat-sen, revolutionist agitator, returning from activities abroad after the revolution of 1911, was chosen provisional president by the council of Nanking. He stepped aside in favor of Yuan Shih-kai upon abdication of the Manchu emperor.

Yuan Shih-kai, who had acted as mediator between the republicans and monarchists in revolutionary days, yielded to personal ambition after two years of arbitrary rule as president and launched his monarchial project. Discontent and open rebellion impelled him to abandon the effort and he reassumed the title of president.

Holds Office Year

At death in 1916 he was succeeded by the then vice-president, Li Yuan-hung, who held office from June 6, 1916, to July 7, 1917.

President Li Yuan-hung's term was interrupted by the short-lived restoration of the young emperor, P'ei Yüan-feng, who was proclaimed by General Chang Hsun after the latter had led an army from Shantung. Chang Hsun's fellow militarists gave him no support, however, and he was attacked and defeated by Tuan Chi-jui, dismissed premier under President Li Yuan-hung. Chi-jui was recalled to the premiership after Li Yuan-hung had refused to resume office, and carried on the government until the assumption of the presidency by Feng Kuo-chang on September 18, 1917.

Tientsin Safety Zone

Feng Kuo-chang was succeeded by Hsu Shih-chang who was elected by parliament September 4, 1918. Hsu had been vice-premier in Prince Ching's cabinet under the monarchy, vice-president of the privy council and chief of the general staff.

Hsu lasted less than a year and was forced out by General Wu Peifu, who freshly victorious over Chang Tso-lin, dictator of Manchuria, demanded Hsu's retirement. Li Yuan-hung came out of hiding in Tientsin to resume the presidency.

Li's second administration lasted a year, ending with a second dash for Tientsin and safety.

Tsao Kun, "inspector-general" of Chihli Honan and Shantung provinces and the bigwig of the Chihli party succeeded Li Yuan-hung. He was elected by parliament October 10, 1923, a sufficient number of whose members had been bought.

Now Chang Tso-lin

Tsao was supported by Wu Peifu, dictator of military affairs in North China within the walls, but the latter's ambitious campaign against Chang Tso-lin, warlord of Manchuria, led to Tsao's downfall. Feng Yu-shiang defected in the midst of Wu's drive and himself took possession of the capitol, Tsao was imprisoned.

Tuan Chi-jui came out of retirement as a compromise incumbent on November 24, 1924, and lasted until the collapse of the Kuamin-chun, known as the People's army party organized by Feng. April 9, 1926, he likewise sought safety in Tientsin. The cabinet also having fled, the country was left without a government.

BREA

BREA, June 25.—Among the 68 boys and their leaders to leave Tuesday morning for the Orange county Y. M. C. A. summer home in the San Bernardino mountains, Camp Osceola, were seven boys from Brea. There are to be eight tents and the Brea boys may be found as follows: Tent No. 2, William Landon and Earl Pendleton; tent No. 3, Herbert Pettigrew, Lyle Twining and Teddy Woodward; tent No. 5, Meryl Sutcliffe and Phillip Pfeiffer. This constitutes the largest crowd of "Y" boys ever to go into camp from the north end of the county. Brea, Fullerton, La Habra, Placentia and Buena Park being represented. Visitors to the camp are most welcome, especially the parents of the boys, but those wishing meals and lodging there should notify Archie Riatt, "Y" secretary, in advance. He may be reached by addressing Camp Osceola, Seven Oaks, Calif.

Only three applicants appeared for the examination of city mail carrier for Brea. Two applicants were Brea residents, Mrs. L. C. Horrocks and Jack Gordon, and the third was a man from Los Angeles, whose name was not learned.

Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Sutcliffe, of South Redwood, are the proud parents of a daughter, born on June 18. Dr. W. E. Jackson reports that both mother and child are doing nicely.

Mrs. Kelly Anderson, of Patterson, Mrs. Ralph Loomis, of Las Vegas, N. M., and Mrs. George Sequira, of Newman, all sisters of Ross Lee, visited over the week-end and until Tuesday in the Lee home on South Walnut before returning to their respective homes.

Ami Tai chapter will give a Spanish costume dance in the ballroom of the Masonic temple on Tuesday night and all local members are urged to be present.

Mr. and Mrs. William Smith, formerly residents of Brea, but now living in Ventura, visited over the week-end with the latter's sister, Mrs. E. M. Phillips.

Returning to their home about midnight Tuesday after a short trip to Chino, Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Moore found that their home had been entered and several articles of wearing apparel and other things stolen. No clue was left by which to identify the intruder. Mr. and Mrs. Moore had spent the evening with the Rev. and Mrs. Earl Schrist.

Meeting in the church parlors for an all day session, the members of the Christian Missionary society enjoyed a pot-luck luncheon Wednesday while discussing business and outlining the work for summer. During the day, they took occasion to honor Mrs. W. E. Spicer, wife of the retiring pastor of the church, with a handkerchief shower.

H. F. Moore, bookkeeper with the Brown-Dauser Lumber Company in the local yard, has been transferred to the La Habra yard of this company during the absence of the manager there, C. L. McGill. Mr. and Mrs. McGill, accompanied by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Brown, president of the company, leave today on a three weeks' boat trip to Alaska and other points along the coast.

Dr. W. E. Jackson, head of the Brea Emergency hospital on North Pomona, announces extensive improvements in his establishment in the way of enlarged treatment rooms and new and more modern equipment. Dr. Jackson will also have an assistant, having engaged Dr. W. G. DeLamater, of Los Angeles, who comes to him highly recommended. Miss Hortense Harkney, of this city, is the new bookkeeper and office attendant in Dr. Jackson's hospital.

Miss Nettie Davey, of El Modena, who for the past year has been attendant at the local library, leaves tomorrow for Long Beach, where she will take a position as clerk. It is stated that a Brea young woman is to take her place at the library but the appointment will not be confirmed until after the next meeting of the board of directors of the Orange County Library association.

Mr. C. H. Woodruff and son, Clinton, arrived at home the first of the week, after having motored down from Corvallis, Ore., where Clinton graduated with a degree in business administration. Before leaving the north, they enjoyed several outings in the Oregon mountains and visiting with friends in Portland, stopping in Yosemite on the homeward trip.

George Mabes, formerly night watchman for the city of Brea, has moved with his mother from the Fritsinger house on South Orange to the Rutledge cottage on South Flower. Mr. Mabes is now employed with the Fullerton Oil company north of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Kolb are now occupying the house vacated by Mr. Mabes.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Rogers are happy over the coming of an eight pound daughter, born to them on June 19. The tiny girl has been named Louis Lucille. Both mother and baby are doing nicely.

Miss Edna Neugebauer and mother, Mrs. Mary Neugebauer, left the first of the week for a motor trip across the continent, expecting to spend the summer in Boston with relatives and friends. Miss Neugebauer is a teacher in the local schools and will return to her duties this fall.

Miss Helen Heartfield, accompanied by her sister, Mrs. William Proud, of La Habra, left this week for Reno, Nev., where she will spend the summer with another married sister. Mrs. Proud will visit about a month with the sister before returning to her home in La Habra.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Morton, of the Associated Oil company, motored over to Bakersfield for the week-end, where they visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. K. Perrine.

After a four days' motor trip to San Diego and other points south, where they visited with relatives, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Nicklett returned to their home here Wednesday.

The community reception given Tuesday evening in the Christian church in honor of the Rev. and Mrs. W. E. Spicer was well attended by members of the several local churches and by many other residents.

Short talks were made by prominent citizens and several musical numbers were enjoyed. The Rev. and Mrs. Spicer leave here about July 1 for a two months rest and vacation in the mountains, after which they will go to Paso Robles, in which city he has accepted the pastorate of the Christian church. He preaches his last sermon here on June 27.

Four candidates were instructed in first degree work at the meeting of Brea lodge of Odd Fellows Wednesday evening. The work was beautifully exemplified by the degree staff of the Orange lodge. At this meeting, members from the several lodges of the county were present and after the initiation of candidates, 80 men, members of the local lodge and visitors, were served with light refreshments provided by the committee in charge.

Exhibited at the San Bernardino Orange show early this year and again shown at the Orange show held in Anaheim recently, the Orange county booth is to be reproduced in the civic auditorium at San Francisco during the week of the Lions' convention in that city. This will necessitate the shipping to that city of 150 boxes of Orange county's choicest citrus fruits.

At the meeting of the Orange county council of Lions clubs held in Brea in the Boy Scout Cabin Monday night, discussion of plans for the coming convention in San Francisco in July and the election of council officers for the coming year occupied the attention of those present. Officers elected for the new year were, C. H. Woodruff, Brea, president; Ross Phegley, Anaheim, secretary and treasurer; Harold Wahlberg, Santa Ana, vice president. The next meeting of the council will be held in Garden Grove. Fourteen cars are scheduled to leave Brea on the morning of July 17 and join the caravan of possibly 500 cars on their trek north to the convention, which opens on the evening of July 18.

Miss Lila Goodin, of Piedmont, niece of Mrs. J. L. Allen, arrived the first of the week for a visit in the Allen home. She will return north with Mr. and Mrs. Allen in July when they motor up to attend the Lions convention.

DICTATOR'S SON DEFIES FATHER
FOR LADY LOVE

LONDON, June 25.—"My father may be the ruler of Greece, but he is not the king of hearts, and I will not allow him to dictate to me whom I shall marry!"

Lieutenant Pangalos, son of the dictator of Greece, thus gave his opinion of his father's attempts to force him to cancel his projected marriage. Pangalos, who was banished to the Aegean sea by his father, but subsequently escaped, plans to be married in the near future in London.

Miss Rita Axkottar, young Pangalos' fiancée, is radiantly happy at her lover's escape, which she revealed, she took a major part in engineering.

Goes to Island Prison
"I set to work immediately I heard of my lover's arrest," Miss Axkottar said. "I hired a launch to take me to the island on which he was imprisoned, and for days hovered about until I was enabled through a sympathetic naval man to send a message to him."

"After many hours of suspense, I saw my lover on the beach, and signaled that I would bring the launch to the same point that night. It was in the early morning that I again put inshore and, to my great relief, my lover appeared almost at once and throwing himself into the water fully dressed, he soon swam out and reached the launch. We then made off as fast as we could."

"The patrol boats chased us and opened fire, but we managed to get clear away and landed at the point where I had arranged for an auto to take us to Belgrade. We shall stay abroad until we are assured that my husband-to-be can return to his native country without fear of punishment for the crime of loving."

Girl's Story Confirmed
Lieutenant Pangalos confirmed his fiancée's story with obvious pride in her courage and devotion. "Rita is a true Spartan maid," he said, "and we are going to be married as soon as it can be arranged. I shall find some means of earning my own living, so that I can maintain my wife as she ought to be maintained."

"It is said that my father has removed my name from the Greek navy list. I do not care what my father chooses to decree. If the Greeks are willing to submit to my father as dictator, it is their own affair. I will not be dictated to, and will marry whom I please."

"Rita and I have known each other for 15 years, and it is not likely that, because my father is now the head of his country and influential, I would want to renounce her."

He'd Be Satisfied
If Every Cat In City Died 9 Times

OAKLAND, June 25.—If Oakland's cats, hap-hazardly estimated at maybe 20,000, were to lose their heads of nine pieces, some 120,000 deaths, George Johnson would grin a little and mutter:

"Now I wonder if we couldn't drown 'em, too?"

George doesn't like cats. Indeed, if affection for cats could be converted into dollars and cents, George would be something like $99,999.99 in the red.

He will never forget the day he resigned his job as steward of the municipal wood yard because of cats.

It began when he received from J. K. Polk, superintendent of the wood yard, a letter, which was reported to read like this:

"Sir—I want every cat removed from this place no later than next Monday. No milk nor foodstuffs are to be taken from the dining room, and if I have any more trouble with cats on this account, the midnight meal will be discontinued."

The steward didn't like the tone of the thing, nor for that matter, the allegations, as he termed them. Knowing something of formalities of correspondence, being an old sailor, he answered:

"First—As regards the cats: I did not bring them here; they are not my property; if they belong to anybody at present, it is to the city of Oakland and the institution which the city operates, and upon whose premises they are found. You, sir, as the representative of the city, are the only one on these premises who has the right to remove them. Copy of circular of Animal Shelter league, Inc., is hereto attached."

"Second—As to the matter in the second allegation, it ill behooves me to make any opinion thereon."

"To the curt and summary matters contained in your note, I beg leave to submit this reply. I shall probably be unable to see you as I depart hence this very night."

As the Irish ditty says, "the little pigs had done it," only in this case, it was cats.

CAMPAIGN TO AROUSE VOTERS

NEW YORK, June 25.—To create "ballot consciousness" in Americans, the American Legion and the National Civic Federation will join forces in a nation-wide campaign to arouse voters to do their duty at elections.

Announcing the campaign today, John Hays Hammond, chairman of the department on political education of the National Civic Federation, said:

"The scandalous corruption revealed in the recent primary election in Pennsylvania, the notorious violation of the national prohibition law, with its ugly climax of gang warfare in Chicago, and the shocking milk graft cases in New York City, involving the health of more than six million men, women and children, represent, in distinct phases, the present apathy toward law and order."

"That such conditions can exist is due solely to the negligence of the individual voter. If crime and hypocrisy are to be done away with and a sense of public order restored, the movement must arise from local communities throughout the country which, in the end, will determine public opinion."

"We are a democracy. The vote of the private citizen alone can save us from becoming a corrupt democracy. Public indifference spells disaster."

The purpose of the campaign, Hammond said, was "to awaken a keener sense of civic patriotism in the millions of voters who neglected their duty in the last two national elections."

An expert non-partisan committee would make a study of the direct primary as opposed to the convention system of nominations, he said.

More than 100 national organizations will be asked to co-operate in the campaign and there will be local meetings in 1000 cities and towns throughout the country September 21. These conferences will be called by the Legion's Americanism commission.

BERLIN, June 25.—The mechanical loom, which unleashed the industrial revolution when it replaced the spinning jenny 80 years ago, is now itself to be scrapped if a new invention lives up to expectations.

An automatic loom, according to reports from Munich, is soon to be thrown on the markets and promises to spell the end of the mechanical weaving apparatus.

The latest invention dispenses with the weaver's shuttle. The thread, needed for a single day's weaving, is held by four spools which automatically unravel into the warp and woof of the new-born cloth. The entire mechanism, made of iron, weighs about 250 pounds, and is equally suitable for weaving cotton, wool, jute, linen, flax and silk.

Among the advantages of this machine are its capacity for working day and night, the safeguarding of the threads, the minimum requirements for energy, protection against accidents and the lack of necessity for laborers.

Even unskilled workers can manipulate the appliance, which has just been installed in several large German industries.

GERMAN REPUBLIC TO AWARD MEDALS

BERLIN, June 25.—Bestowal of medals, titles, ribbons and other insignia of distinction in Germany, abolished by the revolution of 1918, is soon to be restored. The revival of this custom, will now require an amendment of the German republican constitution.

In reconstituting the distribution of medals for heroic deeds and public services, the German government is motivated less by a wish to return to customs of the defunct monarchy than by a desire to save money, since decorations are regarded as the cheapest and most valuable gifts that the government can bestow.

In the near future, therefore, the government intends to submit such a bill to the Reichstag and the former custom of handing impressive titles and insignia to prominent public persons is due for a swift revival.

OUR MOUNTAINS AN ASSET

Within ten years, we will see remarkable developments in the Santa Ana mountain range.

Predictions such as this are easy to make. We have faith, however, that in expressing our expectation of seeing developments in the Santa Ana mountains we will not miss our guess.

Yesterday's movement in the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce seeking the establishment of a park in the upper part of Trabuco canyon and including Potrero Los Pinos is an indication of the fact that quite a number of men have visions of changes to come.

The area mentioned is rough, to be sure, but there's much to recommend it to those who are seeking outlets for the spirit that has made Southern California a wonderful playground. It's only a matter of a year, or two or three until the San Juan Capistrano-Elsinore road is finished. That will open up a number of beautiful oak groves to use for cabins. From this road it will be only three or four miles into the Los Pinos country. The potreros are rolling, grassy hills, spotted with groves of old oaks, surrounded by steep, brushy canyons. Northward, a road might easily be built to the upper, wooded portions of the Trabuco. The lower reaches of the spruce and pine forests come as far down into the Trabuco as Yaeger's mine, which is at the end of the Trabuco canyon road running up from the Holy Jim fork.

This is but one area in the mountains that furnish food for thoughtful speculation. Corona and Riverside residents have already arranged for building a road from Corona to the top of the ridge. Orange county, if it desires to do so, can meet this road by building up Black Star canyon. A road southward along the crest would not be hard to build. Needless to say, the views from the crest are inspiring.

We are not at all optimistic concerning the likelihood of mining development in our mountains. As a mineral asset, the mountains cannot be counted upon as anything of much value, at least for some years to come. True, the Corona road may result in opening up some fine clay deposits in the high mountains. Our mountains, too, are somewhat shy in forest covering. There are oaks and sycamores in the lower canyon bottoms, while the upper parts of the canyons have pine, spruce, white oaks and maples in areas large enough to make them worthy of consideration for recreational purposes. Some of these areas, however, are hard to reach. In time, they will all be made available for use by those who love the mountains. There will be problems to solve, of course, such as the problem of road building and the problem of adequate water supplies, but those problems can and will be worked out as the opportunities develop.

The big asset is the wonderful views afforded from the tops and sides of the peaks. The first step, and one that appears feasible, is to reach the Potrero Los Pinos, into which years ago a cart road was built, and the crests above the Trabuco.

CIVILIZED NERVES

The East is more nervous than the West, says Dr. T. H. Weisenberg of Philadelphia. "That is because the East is more densely populated than any other portion of the country, and because the East is the center of the nation's highest civilization."

Here other sections may rise to object, not only because of the reference to "civilization," but because Dr. Weisenberg regards nervousness as a merit.

He doesn't mean by that word what we usually mean. He is thinking not especially of jumpy nerves, but of quickness of thought and ready response to mental suggestion. This comes, he says, from a high degree of education and development.

"Lawyers, doctors, newspaper men and other highly trained people belong to the nervous class. They are the people who carry the world forward."

Physical nerves, he admits, go with this mental progress. The farmer is less nervous than the city man, in this popular sense, because he does less work requiring mental activity.

Isn't it possible, though, while acquiring mental quickness, to rise above this physical nervousness through training? Dr. Weisenberg speaks only of East and West in our own country. In the Orient are millions of Hindus, Chinese and Japanese who are certainly as nimble-minded as we, but who have carried their culture far beyond mere brain-development to calm their spirits and master their nerves.

CITY PLANNING A NECESSITY

Santa Ana is to have a comprehensive report by a recognized city planning expert. Our problems are to be looked over and studied by a man who has had a wide and successful experience in that kind of work.

California cities, though in less degree than many eastern cities, have "just been thrown together." The scramble ought to be unscrambled to make room for civic buildings and to align streets with traffic development.

The need for city planning is being discussed in many places just now. The very day that Santa Ana's Board of City Trustees authorized the employment of a city planning expert, the following editorial appeared in the Fresno Republican:

City planning has had many sorts of interpretations. It has been urged as both useful and idealistically valuable. It has been thought to mean nothing more than the esthetic "city beautiful." It has been opposed as an improper interference with the supposed right of citizens to do what they please with their own property and as they please in the public highways, no matter how these imagined liberties interfere with the property values of their neighbors, or the peace and progress of the community.

City planning has had to go ahead, however, no matter whether useful or merely ornamental. It has gone ahead because it is absolutely necessary. Cities have found that they must plan, and no arguments about it, except the details of the "how."

New York City is taking a new drive at city planning. Mayor Walker has appointed a general citizens committee of 500, composed of men in every walk in life to be found in the city. It includes multimillionaire financiers and impecunious school teachers, physicians and merchants and clergymen.

They are to constitute themselves into a number of subcommittees, to pass upon transportation, harbors, sanitation and every sort of question which has to do with the physical structure of the city. They will plan not for years, but for generations. They are instructed, in their appointment, to look as far ahead as it is possible, to study the needs of the city.

The suggestions that this great committee will make to the government of the city and of the state may not be all adopted, but it is a fair guess that many of them will, and these suggestions will be adopted, no matter how many property rights are destroyed.

For today, in New York city, the riches that come from association, are a thousand times greater than any riches that are held in fee simple. It is the communal life of New York that gives it its wealth. The community can then, for its own good, easily regulate itself. It can do the things to prevent fire, to avert pestilence, to prevent the choking up of the harbor, to plan for parks and boulevarding. If the city chooses to do these things, it will be "planning."

And planning is something that every city that is conscious of its communal life should be doing.

More Efficiency for Courts

—Pasadena Star-News

Lack of co-ordination in the functioning of the courts of California would be remedied by the ratification of the proposed constitutional amendment, submitted by the Legislature, which is to be voted upon by the people of California next November. Much is expected from the proposed changes by experts who have studied the strong points and the defects of judicial systems in the United States and also in Great Britain and other foreign lands.

More than fifty years ago Britain adopted a system much like that which is proposed for California and it has worked and is working quite successfully.

Lack of co-ordination under a responsible head—lack of system, and haphazard work generally, are among the weaknesses of judicial functioning here in California. Under the proposed amendment there would be created a judicial council, composed of the Chief Justice and an Associate Justice of the State Supreme Court; three District Court judges and one Police and Municipal Court judge. This council would have control of all the courts in the state and would be responsible to the Governor and to the Legislature. It would be the purpose and function of the judicial council to simplify and to improve the administration of justice, to expedite the business and to equalize the work of the courts and would require the judges of all courts to co-operate with the council and to keep that body advised of the general condition of the judicial machinery of the state.

This proposal seems to offer a good measure of relief from the congested calendars, the retarded processes and the haphazard functioning of the courts of the state. Respect for law would be enhanced by facilitating the administering of justice and speeding up the court proceedings. California needs betterments along this line.

A Grand Old Man

—San Francisco Chronicle

It is hard for anyone who saw Edward Payson Weston straight as an arrow, hard as nails, stepping out sturdily on his walk across the continent, to realize that he is old, helpless and broken. For in the days of his fame he was white-haired and it seemed that he must never grow old.

But Weston was found the other day wandering about New York, friendless, penniless and bemused, and was sheltered in a public institution. There is something unusually pathetic in his fate, like that of a noble old oak down before the wind.

By his example, Weston started many a younger man to walking, and so to better health. Probably a small percentage of the national wealth he helped create in this way would make Weston comfortable for the remainder of his days. But Weston is like many others who follow pursuits in which they cannot show profits on the ledger. There is no way to estimate the value of his achievement in dollars and cents.

EVEN THE TOY PISTOL TAKES ITS TOLL OF LIFE ON FOURTH

The symptoms of tetanus are varied. The disease usually develops in from six to 16 days. When tetanus or lockjaw develops within six days in man, the disease is usually fatal. The milder cases of tetanus generally show a larger period for development and such patients may recover.

Tetanus anti-toxin is a reliable and trustworthy preventive. If any doubt existed on this score prior to 1920, the experience of the armies during the war demonstrated the effectiveness of this treatment. But anti-toxin must be administered early before the symptoms of lock-jaw occur.

Remember that every wound, particularly every punctured or lacerated wound, should receive prompt and thorough treatment.

Cleaning
Wounds should be cleaned thoroughly and all foreign matter should be removed. Remember that your doctor should be consulted immediately and anti-toxin should be administered if in his judgment it is advisable.

Gunshot wounds and those produced by blank cartridges should be looked upon with suspicion. Prophylactic treatment with anti-toxin following such wounds ought to be the rule.

While lockjaw is now a comparatively rare infection and while it has become less and less a menace to life since prophylaxis for the disease was discovered, you are not justified in taking chances.

Precautions
Remember that blank cartridge wounds are still common accompaniments of a Fourth of July celebration. If you or one of your children should receive an injury from fireworks or from blank cartridges, every precaution should be taken to prevent the development of lockjaw.

Such wounds should be cared for at once, however trivial and insignificant they may appear to be. The safe method is the modern method.

Finally, remember that the principal cause of mutilating Fourth of July wounds is the giant fire cracker.

Even the toy pistol takes its toll. Take your Fourth of July holiday joyously, but take it safely, and do not let the little fellows, the unthinking children, take chances.

The Fortunes of War

Truth in Advertising

—Sacramento Bee

Highly appreciative of the value of advertising was Sir Henry Thornton, president of the publicly owned Canadian National Railways, the greatest railroad system in the world, in his address to the Associated Advertising Clubs the other day on the occasion of their annual convention in Philadelphia.

And especially pleasing to the membership was his declaration that "they had done more than any other factor to establish in the business world the faith of the buyer in the honest purposes of the seller."

That was a high compliment, and well deserved. And it is equally true to say the business world of the present day is to be credited with realization of the fact that the best and most profitable advertising is that which adheres to the truth.

Those business men and enterprises most careful and scrupulous in their appeals to the public are those which get the best returns from investments in advertising.

It is the pleased and satisfied buyer or investor who becomes the permanent customer or patron, who can be relied upon by his recommendations to bring in others, and so help to increase and expand business.

Worth While Verse

TRUST IN FAITH

O world, thou choosiest not the better part
It is not wisdom to be only wise,
And on the inward vision close the eyes,
But it is wisdom to believe the heart.
Columbus found a world but had no chart
Save one that faith deciphered in the skies;
To trust the soul's invincible surmise
Was all his science and his only art.
Our knowledge is a torch of smoky fire
That lights the pathway but one step ahead
Across a void of mystery and dread.
Bid, then, the tender light of faith to shine,
By which alone the mortal heart is led Unto the thinking of the thought divine.

Of course ya gotta worry, and ya gotta fret a bit. They'll say yer just not human lest ya sometimes throw a fit. Yer due to battle trouble and, at times, yer bound to frown. Ya just can't help but feel that way, when things er up-side-down.

Ya can't expect the bright side ta be always shinin' through. There's plenty of the wrong side and a part of it's for you. Fer instance, when yer plannin' gets a setback fer a spell, it's easy, mighty easy, to be feelin'—not so well.

But shucks, don't let that down you, 'cause it clears up after while. Ya soon get sick of grouchiness—and then bring forth a smile. The pleasant side is better than the blue side, by a mile, but remember that the blue side makes the other seem worth while.

Safety Devices' Cost Huge

—Pasadena Star-News

Conservation of manhood is one of the outstanding lessons great corporations have learned, in their general economy. They find that, put on the lowest possible plane of consideration—that is, from the standpoint of selfish material benefits—it pays to protect workers against accident and disease. But many of the big industrial and business enterprises are not actuated by such selfish motives alone. They are humane, and provide for the safety, health and welfare of their workers for benevolent reasons.

A very striking record has been achieved by the United States Steel Corporation in safety for its employees—a record that does credit to that gigantic industrial enterprise. It is estimated that safety devices in the plants of that mighty industry, during the last twenty years have saved 46,000 men from death or serious injury and 322,000 other workers from disability. This also represents a vast saving of money.

A grand total of $150,000,000 has been expended by this corporation during the last fourteen years for safety, sanitation and welfare. The biggest item was $45,000,000 for the relief of injured employees and for aid to families of employees killed. Other big outlays were $31,700,000 for sanitation; $23,000,000 for playgrounds, schools, clubs, gardens, nurses, and similar activities; $16,700,000 for prevention of accidents; $13,000,000 for pensions and $22,000,000 for the employees' stock subscription plan.

This is the showing made by one great enterprise alone. Other big corporations also do much for

Did You Ever Stop to Think

F. W. HARTFORD, EDITOR OF THE PORTSMOUTH (NEW HAMPSHIRE) HERALD, SAYS:

THAT advertising is building a better and broader America, and is rapidly producing a better understanding between the people of the United States. Our citizens through advertising are learning that the Southern States have their advantages and attractions and the Pacific Coast have theirs, while the same is true of the West, Middle West, Eastern, and the New England States, and each have their share of scenery, history and climate.

We are becoming better acquainted with the people of the 48 states and their interests are ours. We buy what they produce, and know about their products.

Through the attractive "ads" of our great railroads, we are induced to visit these new fields. The children of America learn more about America through the media of advertising than from any other one source.

Through propaganda, which is nothing more or less than advertising, we will be free from many of our ills and the prosperity of our own people will be increased.

We are a progressive and a great nation, because of our leadership and salesmanship, which are products of advertising.

LIVE COMMUNITIES AND CONCERNS ARE THE ONES THAT HAVE BEEN WELL ADVERTISED.

Mound Builders

The modern scientific dietitian would have had a great opportunity to practice his vocation among the mound builders of prehistoric times. Beans and corn were the only thing about which they knew much.

Habits of the prehistoric peoples are described at length in a new history compiled by Harold L. Madison, curator of education of the Cleveland Museum of Natural History. Mr. Madison said there is little doubt but that the mound builders were a race of American Indians.

Corn and beans were the staple foods of the mound builders, which they planted and cultivated in their gardens. They knew nothing of wheat, milk and butter. The men cleared a piece of woodland by cutting down the trees with stone axes and burning the brush and debris, leaving the ashes to fertilize the soil. The women then planted corn and beans in rows among the tree stumps. The larder was augmented by fruits, nuts and acorns and by game and fish.
